True to Form Christine Gunlogson, 2004-06-01 This book is concerned with the meaning and use of two kinds of declarative sentences 1 It s raining 2 It s raining The difference between 1 and 2 is intonational 1 has a final rise indicated by the question mark while 2 ends with a fall Christine Gunlogson s central claim is that the meaning and use of both kinds of sentences must be understood in terms of the meaning of their defining formal elements namely declarative sentence type and rising versus falling intonation Gunlogson supports that claim through an investigation of the use of declaratives as questions On one hand Gunlogson demonstrates that rising and falling declaratives share an aspect of conventional meaning attributable to their declarative form distinguishing them both from the corresponding polar interrogative Is it raining and constraining their use as questions On the other hand since 1 and 2 constitute a minimal pair differing only in intonation systematic differences in character and function between them in particular the relative naturalness of 1 as a question compared to 2 must be located in the contrast between the fall and the rise To account for these two sets of differences Gunlogson gives a compositional account of rising and falling declaratives under which declarative form expresses commitment to the propositional content of the declarative Rising versus falling intonation on declaratives is responsible for attribution of the commitment to the Addressee versus the Speaker respectively The result is an inherent contextual bias associated with declaratives which constitutes the crucial point of difference with interrogatives The compositional analysis is implemented in the framework of context update semantics Heim 1982 and others using an articulated version of the Common Ground Stalnaker 1978 that distinguishes the commitments of the individual discourse participants Restrictions on the use of declaratives as questions as well as differences between rising and falling declaratives as questions are shown to follow from this account Gunlogson argues that neither rising nor falling declaratives are inherently questioning rather the questioning function of declaratives arises through the interaction of sentence type intonation and context

Passages from Antiquity to Feudalism Perry Anderson, 1996 The rise of the modern absolutist monarchies in Europe constitutes in many ways the birth of the modern historical epoch

Passages from Antiquity to Feudalism the companion volume to Perry Anderson's highly acclaimed and influential Lineages of the Absolutist State is a sustained exercise in historical sociology to root the development of absolutism in the diverse routes taken from the slave based societies of Ancient Greece and Rome to fully fledged feudalism

In the course of this study Anderson vindicates and refines the explanatory power of a Marxist conception of history whilst casting a fascinating light on Greece Rome the Germanic invasion nomadic society and the different patterns of the evolution of feudalism in Northern Mediterranean Eastern and Western Europe
