Reading The Trail Exploring The Literature And Natural History Of The California Crest:

Reading the Trail Corey Lee Lewis, 2003 Reading The Trail Corey Lee Lewis, 2005-02-15 A provocative new way to read and interpret the classic works of John Muir Mary Austin and Gary Snyder and to bring their ideas into the discussion of ecological values and the current environmental crisis Lewis combines a perceptive discussion of their work and ideas with an engaging account of his own trail experiences as hiker backpacker and volunteer trail builder proposing that such a field based interdisciplinary approach to literary study and outdoors experience can enrich our appreciation for the work of nature writers Here and There Bill Conlogue, 2015-06-13 The global economy threatens the uniqueness of places people and experiences In Here and There Bill Conlogue tests the assumption that literature and local places matter less and less in a world that economists describe as flat politicians believe has globalized and social scientists imagine as a global village Each chapter begins at home journeys elsewhere and returns to the author's native and chosen region northeastern Pennsylvania Through the prisms of literature and history the book explores tensions and conflicts within the region created by national and global demand for its resources fertile farmland forest products anthracite coal and college educated young people Making connections between local and global environmental issues Here and There uses the Pennsylvania watersheds of urban Lackawanna and rural Lackawaxen to highlight the importance of understanding and protecting the places we call home

California and the Melancholic American Identity in Joan Didion's Novels Katarzyna Nowak McNeice, 2018-12-07 California and the Melancholic American Identity in Joan Didion's Novels Exiled from Eden focuses on the concept of Californian identity in the fiction of Joan Didion This identity is understood as melancholic in the sense that the critics following the tradition of both Sigmund Freud and Walter Benjamin use the word The book traces the progress of the way Californian identity is portrayed in Joan Didion's novels starting with the first two in which California plays the central role Run River and Play It As It Lays through A Book of Common Prayer to Democracy and The Last Thing He Wanted where California functions only as a distant point of reference receding to the background of Didion's interests Curiously enough Didion presents Californian history as a history of white settlement disregarding whole chapters of the history of the region in which the Californios and Native Americans among other groups played a crucial role it is this reticence that the monograph sees as the main problem of Didion's fiction and presents it as the silent center of gravity in Didion's oeuvre The monograph proposes to see the melancholy expressed by Didion's fiction organized into four losses of Nature History Ethics and Language around which the main analytical chapters are constructed What remains unrepresented and silenced comes back to haunt Didion's fiction and it results in a melancholic portrayal of California and its identity which is the central theme this monograph addresses The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license Waymarking Italy's Influence on the American Environmental Imagination While on Pilgrimage to Assisi Robert Lawrence

France, 2020-09-10 Undertaking a peripatetic pilgrimage that is equal parts a daily description of a 200 kilometre walk from the wounded mountain of La Verna to the tortured river in Assisi and an examination of the debt owed to Italy in terms of ecocultural and environmental scholarship this book provides an innovative addition to the nascent field of ecocritical narrative scholarship Through a process that has been referred to as deep travel or mind walking the text fulsomely reviews how time spent in Italy influenced the writings of notable North American environmental historians geographers scientists nature writers landscape architects and restoration theorists about the conception and manipulation of the natural world This literary field study highlights how the phenomenological co traversing of texts and trails can be a valued methodology for undertaking environmental criticism

Going Away to Think Scott Slovic, 2016-10-01 Scott Slovic has spent his life as a teacher writer environmental activist and leader in the field of ecocritical literary studies In Going Away to Think he reflects on the twin motivations of his life the commitment to do some good in the world and the impulse to enjoy life and participate fully in its most intense moments and he examines the tension created by his efforts to balance these two poles of his responsibility These essays reveal the complex inner life of one of this generation s most important environmental critics and literary activists They range from profound discussions of the role and responsibilities of scholarship to deeply personal ruminations on the impact of family crises and the influence of his wide ranging travels

John Muir Sally M. Miller, Daryl Morrison, 2005 New information on the life of the famed environmentalist presented in 2001 at the John Muir Institute hosted by the John Muir Center

Teaching with Joy Sharon Shelton-Colangelo, Carolina Mancuso, Mimi Duvall, 2007 This edited collection addresses the growing need for ideas and methods conducive to holistic educational practices and aims to encourage more personal growth in students too often distracted by the background noise of war violence racism and environmental deterioration The contributors are working teachers and professors who have integrated a degree of spirituality into a wide range of classes in both urban and rural settings across the US This ground breaking collection will provide practical advice about how to implement an ethical and spiritual curriculum while avoiding religious dogmatism

Greening the Academy Samuel Fassbinder, Anthony Nocella, Richard Kahn, 2012-12-30 This is the academic Age of the Neoliberal Arts Campuses as places characterized by democratic debate and controversy wide ranges of opinion typical of vibrant public spheres and service to the larger society are everywhere being creatively destroyed in order to accord with market and military models befitting the academic industrial complex While it has become increasingly clear that facilitating the sustainability movement is the great 21st century educational challenge at hand this book asserts that it is both a dangerous and criminal development today that sustainability in higher education has come to be defined by the complex friendly green campus initiatives of science technology engineering and management programs By contrast Greening the Academy Ecopedagogy Through the Liberal Arts takes the standpoints of those working for environmental and ecological justice in order to critique the unsustainable disciplinary limitations within the humanities and social sciences as well as provide tactical reconstructive openings toward an empowered liberal arts for sustainability Greening the Academy thus hopes to speak back with a collective demand that sustainability education be defined as a critical and moral vocation comprised of the diverse types of humanistic study that will benefit the well being of our emerging planetary community and its numerous common locales

Wild Nevada Roberta Moore, Scott Slovic, 2005-03-01 For many people beyond Nevada's borders the state is no more than the nation's desert dumping ground for dangerous waste Others know it only for its hedonistic centers of gambling and entertainment This scandal belies the extraordinary beauty and wonder of the state's wilderness areas and the precious natural aesthetic and cultural resources to be found there In Wild Nevada editors Roberta Moore and Scott Slovic have assembled twenty nine writers who know and love the Nevada wilderness to testify on its behalf Contributors include literary artists and scholars environmental and community activists leading politicians ranchers scientists and park rangers Some essays offer observations on the political and philosophical discussions of wilderness that heat up the halls of academia and Congress others recount moving personal encounters with wild places within Nevada and still others comment on the ambiguities of preserving wild places through wilderness designation But despite the eclectic backgrounds of the writers and their varied perspectives on public policy they are all united in their devotion to the ecological and aesthetic values of Nevada's threatened wilderness areas Foreword by Michael Frome
