

Glossary of Philosophical Terms

This glossary reproduced from "The Basics of Philosophy" by Luke Mastin, 2008; http://www.philosophybasics.com/general_glossary.html.

Agency: the capacity for humans to make choices and to impose those choices on the world.

A posteriori: where knowledge is possible only subsequent, or posterior, to certain sense experiences, in addition to the use of reason (empirical).

A priori: where knowledge is possible independently of, or prior to, any experience, and requires only the use of reason (non-empirical).

Axiom: a proposition that is not proved or demonstrated but considered to be self-evident and taken for granted.

Causality: the law that states that each cause has a specific effect, and that this effect is dependent on the initial identities of the agents involved.

Consciousness: the faculty which perceives and identifies things that exist, and the relationship between oneself and one's environment.

Contingency: the status of facts that are not logically necessarily true or false (the possibility of something happening or not happening).

Deductive Reasoning: reasoning that proceeds from general principles or premises to derive particular information (what follows necessarily from given premises).

Dialectic: the exchange of arguments and counter-arguments, respectively advocating propositions (theses) and counter-propositions (antitheses), in arriving at a conclusion (synthesis).

Emergence: the way complex systems and patterns arise (emerge) out of a multiplicity of relatively simple interactions.

Entity: something that has a distinct and separate existence, although not necessarily a material existence.

Essence: the attributes that make an object or substance what it fundamentally is, and that it has necessarily.

Existence: the state or fact of existing or being (the continuance in being or life).

Fallacy: any sort of mistake in reasoning or inference (essentially, anything that causes an argument to go wrong).

Formal Language: an organized set of symbols which can be precisely defined in terms of just the shapes and locations of those symbols, without any reference to any meanings or interpretations.

Rubian Philosophical Terminology

Giorgio Agamben

Rubian Philosophical Terminology:

Profanations Giorgio Agamben, 2020-10-20 The Italian philosopher Giorgio Agamben has always been an original reader of texts understanding their many rich and multiple historical aesthetic and political meanings and effects In Profanations Agamben has assembled for the first time some of his most pivotal essays on photography the novel and film A meditation on memory and oblivion on what is lost and what remains Profanations proves yet again that Agamben is one of the most provocative writers of our times In ten essays Agamben rethinks approaches to a series of literary and philosophical problems the relation between genius ego and theories of subjectivity the problem of messianic time as explicated in both images and lived experience parody as a literary paradigm the potential of magic to provide an ethical canon The range of topics and themes addressed here attest to the very creativity of Agamben's singular mode of thought and his persistent pursuit to grasp the act of witnessing sometimes futile sometimes earth shattering the talking cricket in Pinocchio helps in Kafka's novels pictorial representations of the Last Judgment of anonymous female faces and of Orson Wells's infamous object of obsession Rosebud In Praise of Profanity the central essay of this small but dense book confronts the question of profanity as the crucial political task of the moment An act of resistance to every form of separation the concept of profanation as both the return to common usage and sacrifice reorients perceptions of how power consumption and use interweave to produce an urgent political modality and desire to profane the unprofanable In short Agamben provides not only a new and potent theoretical model but also a writerly style that itself forges inescapable links between literature politics and philosophy

Attention Wayne Wu, 2014-04-24 Attention is a fundamental feature of the mind yet has languished in the backwaters of philosophy Recent years however have witnessed a resurgence of philosophical interest in attention driven by recognition that it is closely connected to consciousness perception agency thought justification and introspection As is becoming clear attention has a rich philosophical significance This is the first book to provide a systematic overview and assessment of different empirical and philosophical aspects of attention Wayne Wu discusses the following central topics and problems major experiments and theories of attention in psychology since the 1950s the neuroscience of attention including basic mechanisms and models attention's intimate relation to agency the phenomenology of attention attention as a gatekeeper for consciousness attention as the basis for perception based thought about objects the role of attention in the justification of belief attention in introspection of consciousness A key feature of the book is its skilful analysis of the empirical work on attention and how this relates to philosophy Additional features include chapter summaries annotated further reading and a glossary making this an ideal starting point for anyone studying attention for the first time as well as being suitable for more advanced students and researchers in psychology cognitive science and philosophy

Crossfire Roberta Johnson, 2014-07-11 The marriage of philosophy and fiction in the first third of Spain's twentieth century was a fertile one It produced some truly notable offspring novels that cross genre boundaries to find innovative forms and treatises that fuse literature and philosophy in new ways In her illuminating interdisciplinary study of Spanish fiction of the Silver Age Roberta Johnson places this important body of Spanish literature in context through a synthesis of social literary and philosophical history Her examination of the work of Miguel de Unamuno Pio Baroja Azorin Ramon Perez de Ayala Juan Ramon Jimenez Gabriel Miro Pedro Salinas Rosa Chacel and Benjamin Jarnes brings to light philosophical frictions and debates and opens new interpersonal and intertextual perspectives on many of the period s most canonical novels Johnson reformulates the traditional discussion of generations and isms by viewing the period as an intergenerational complex in which writers with similar philosophical and personal interests constituted dynamic groupings that interacted and constantly defined and redefined one another Current narratological theories including those of Todorov Genette Bakhtin and Martinez Bonati assist in teasing out the intertextual maneuvers and philosophical conflicts embedded in the novels of the period while the sociological and biographical material bridges the philosophical and literary analyses The result solidly grounded in original archival research is a convincingly complete picture of Spain s intellectual world in the first thirty years of this century Crossfire should revolutionize thinking about the Generation of 98 and the Generation of 14 by identifying the heterogeneous philosophical sources of each and the writers reactions to them in fiction The Philosopher's Index,2007

Diseases of the Head Matt Rosen,2020-09-22 Diseases of the Head is an anthology of essays from contemporary philosophers artists and writers working at the crossroads of speculative philosophy and speculative horror At once a compendium of multivocal endeavors a breviary of supposedly illicit ponderings and a travelogue of philosophical exploration this collection centers itself on the place at which philosophy and horror meet Employing rigorous analysis incisive experimentation and novel invention this anthology asks about the use that speculation can make of horror and horror of speculation about whether philosophy is fictional or fiction philosophical and about the relationship between horror the exigencies of our world and time and the future developments that may await us in philosophy itself From philosophers working on horrific themes to horror writers influenced by heresies in the wake of post Kantianism to artists engaged in projects that address monstrosity and alienation Diseases of the Head aims at nothing less than a speculative coup d tat Refusing both total negation and absolute affirmation refusing to deny everything or account for everything refusing the posture of critique and the posture of all encompassing unification this collection of essays aims at exposition and construction analysis and creation it desires to fight for some thing but not everything and not nothing And it desires

most of all to speak from the position of its own insufficiency its own partiality its own under determinacy which is always indicative of the practice of thinking of speculation Considering themes of anonymity otherness and alterity the gothic extinction and the world without us the end times the apocalypse the ancient and the world before us and the uncanny or unheimlich among other motifs this anthology seeks to articulate the cutting edge which can be found at the intersection of speculative philosophy and speculative horror Matt Rosen is a philosopher He is the author of numerous books and pamphlets including Speculative Annihilationism Zero Books 2019 and the forthcoming treatise Angst and Abnegation His theoretical writings have also appeared in journals and anthologies His work centers on radical ethics and alterity and his interests range across a variety of areas including moral philosophy metaphysics literature mysticism psychoanalysis theology politics and aesthetics

Contemporary Perspectives in Philosophy and Methodology of Science Wenceslao J. González, 2006 Nowadays philosophy and methodology of science appear as a combination of novelty and continuity This blend is clear both in the general approaches to science those thought of as any science and in the specific perspectives on every science either formal or empirical There are new topics for philosophical reflection such as key issues in philosophy of medicine and central problems raised by neuroscience Thus new contents have brought attention to aspects that previously went almost unnoticed In addition there are new angles for philosophical study such as the repercussion of society on scientific activity in aims processes and results But the background of the main philosophical and methodological trends of the twentieth century is in many ways still in place

The Conservation of Cave 85 at the Mogao Grottoes, Dunhuang Neville Agnew, Lori Wong, 2014-02-01 The Mogao Grottoes a World Heritage Site in northwestern China are located along the ancient caravan routes collectively known as the Silk Road that once linked China with the West Founded by a Buddhist monk in the late fourth century Mogao flourished over the following millennium as monks local rulers and travelers commissioned hundreds of cave temples cut into a mile long rock cliff and adorned them with vibrant murals More than 490 decorated grottoes remain containing thousands of sculptures and some 45 000 square meters of wall paintings making Mogao one of the world's most significant sites of Buddhist art In 1997 the Getty Conservation Institute which had been working with the Dunhuang Academy since 1989 began a case study using the Late Tang dynasty Cave 85 to develop a methodology that would stabilize the deteriorating wall paintings This abundantly illustrated volume is the definitive report on the project which was completed in 2010
