Krishi-Parashara Parāśara, 1999 Biotechnology and Biodiversity M. R. Ahuja, K.G. Ramawat, 2014-10-13 The purpose of this book is to assess the potential effects of biotechnological approaches particularly genetic modification on biodiversity and the environment All aspects of biodiversity such as ecological diversity species diversity and genetic diversity are considered Higher organisms contain a specific set of linear DNA molecules called chromosomes and a complete set of chromosomes in an organism comprises its genome The collection of traits displayed by any organism phenotype depends on the genes present in its genome genotype The appearance of any specific trait also will depend on many other factors including whether the gene s responsible for the trait is are turned on expressed or off the specific cells within which the genes are expressed and how the genes their expression and the gene products interact with environmental factors The primary biotechnology which concerns us is that of genetic manipulation which has a direct impact on biodiversity at the genetic level By these manipulations novel genes or gene fragments can be introduced into organisms creating transgenics or existing genes within an organism can be altered Transgenics are a major area of concern combining genes from different species to effectively create novel organisms Current rates of disappearance of biological and cultural diversity in the world are unprecedented Intensive resource exploitation due to social and economic factors has led to the destruction conversion or degradation of ecosystems Reversing these trends requires time to time assessment to integrate conservation and development Political Protest in Contemporary Kenya Jacob Mwathi Mati, 2020-02-04 This book analyses the emergence strategies and outcomes of the struggle to embed democratic governance and constitutional order in Kenya showcasing both the power and the limits of citizen agency in the struggle to transform a postcolonial African state Utilising data from primary interviews media and existing literature this book analyses the emergence diffusion operational strategies and outcomes of Kenyan constitutional reform struggles with a view to highlighting both the power and limits of social movement in transforming a postcolonial African state It engages intersections of social movement and theories of democratisation to probe the production operations and outcomes of the disruptive yet creative power of the movements at the centre of the struggle to transform the Kenyan constitution The book also appraises the meanings of and developments after the promulgation of the 2010 constitution with a view to illuminating the prospects for a transformative democratic political order in Kenya This book is a useful tool in understanding the struggles specific to Kenya but also offers insights into other democratic struggles on the African continent and beyond This book will be of interest to students and scholars of social movements and political change in Africa in general and Kenya in particular

Democracy, Elections, and Constitutionalism in Africa Charles Manga Fombad, Nico Steytler, 2021 This volume examines democracy and elections in Africa taking stock of the state of constitutional democracy on the continent after the democratic gains of the 1990s and 2000s focusing on how competitive politics or multiparty democracy can be realized and how through competition such politics could lead to better policy and practice outcomes

The Structure of Applied General Equilibrium Models Victor Ginsburgh, Michiel Keyzer, 2002 Bridges the gap between applied and theoretical general equilibrium models

High Frequency Financial Econometrics Luc Bauwens, Winfried Pohlmeier, David Veredas, 2007-12-31 In this paper we propose a new econometric approach to jointly model the time series dynamics of the trading process and the revisions of ask and bid prices We use this model to test the validity of certain symmetry assumptions very common among microstructure models Namely we test whether ask and bid quotes respond symmetrically to trade related shocks and whether buyer initiated trades and seller initiated trades are equally informative In essence the procedure we propose generalizes Hasbrouck's 1991 vector autoregressive model for signed trades and changes in the quote midpoint by relaxing the implicit symmetry assumptions in his model The properties of the empirical model are derived from a structural dynamic model for ask and bid prices In this model ask and bid prices share a common long run component the efficient price The long term value of the stock varies due to buyer initiated shocks seller initiated shocks and trade unrelated shocks The transitory components of ask and bid prices are characterized by two correlated and trade dependent stochastic processes whose dynamics are allowed to differ The trading process is endogenous Buyer and seller initiated trades are generated by two idiosyncratic but mutually dependent stochastic processes The generating processes of quotes and trades both depend on several exogenous variables that feature the trades and the market conditions

The Gunny Sack M.G. Vassanji, 2011-06-22 Memory Ji Bai would say is this old sack here this poor dear that nobody has any use for any more As the novel begins Salim Juma in exile from Tanzania opens up a gunny sack bequeathed to him by a beloved great aunt Inside it he discovers the past his own family's history and the story of the Asian experience in East Africa Its relics and artefacts bring with them the lives of Salim's Indian great grandfather Dhanji Govindji his extensive family and all their loves and betrayals Dhanji Govindji arrives in Matamu from

Zanzibar Porbander and ultimately Junapur and has a son with an African slave named Bibi Taratibu Later growing in prosperity he marries Fatima the woman who will bear his other children But when his half African son Husein disappears Dhanji Govindji pays out his fortune in trying to find him again As the tentacles of the First World War reach into Africa with the local German colonists fighting British invaders he spends more and more time searching One morning he is suddenly murdered he had spent not just his own money but embezzled that of others to finance the quest for his lost son Well listen son of Juma you listen to me and I shall give you your father Juma and his father Husein and his father Part II of the novel is named for Kulsum who marries Juma Husein s son she is the mother of the narrator Salim We learn of Juma s childhood as a second class member of his stepmother s family after his mother Moti dies After his wedding to Kulsum there is a long wait in the unloving bosom of his stepfamily for their first child Begum It is the 1950s and whispers are beginning of the Mau Mau rebellion Among the stories tumbling from the gunny sack comes the tailor Edward bin Hadith s story of the naming of Dar es Salaam the city Kulsum moves to with her children after her husband s death And gradually her son takes over the telling recalling his own childhood His life guides the narrative from here on He remembers his mother s store and neighbours intrigues the beauty of his pristine English teacher at primary school cricket matches and attempts to commune with the ghost of his father It is a vibrantly described deeply felt childhood The nation meanwhile is racked by political tensions on its road to independence which comes about as Salim Juma reaches adolescence With the surge in racial tension and nationalist rioting several members of his close knit community leave the country for England America and Canada I see this comedy now as an attempt to foil the workings of fate how else to explain what else to call the irrevocable relentless chain of events that unfolded The title of Part III Amina is the name of Salim s great unfulfilled love and will also be the name of his daughter He meets the first Amina while doing his National Service at Camp Uhuru a place he feels he has been sent to in error Amina is African and their relationship inevitably causes his family anxiety until the increasingly militant Amina leaves for New York Salim becomes a teacher at his old school and marries but keeps a place for Amina in his heart When she returns and is arrested by the more and more repressive government Salim is hurriedly exiled abroad He leaves his wife and daughter with the promise that he will send for them knowing that he will not The novel ends with Salim alone the last memories coming out of the gunny sack hoping that he will be his family s last runaway

Constitution-making from the Middle Willy

Mutunga,1999 Globalization and Socio-Cultural Processes in Contemporary Africa Eunice N. Sahle,2016-04-29 In different but complementary ways the chapters in this collection provide a deeper understanding of socio cultural processes in various parts of the African continent They do so in the context of contemporary mediated processes of globalization and emphasize the agency of Africans Human Rights in Africa Eunice N. At the Heart of Freedom Drucilla Cornell, 1998-09-14 How can women create a meaningful and joyous life for themselves Is it enough to be equal with men In this provocative and wide ranging book Drucilla Cornell argues that women should transcend the quest for equality and focus on what she shows is a far more radical project achieving freedom Cornell takes us on a highly original exploration of what it would mean for women politically legally and culturally if we took this ideal of freedom seriously if in her words we recognized that hearts starve as well as bodies She takes forceful and sometimes surprising stands on such subjects as abortion prostitution pornography same sex marriage international human rights and the rights and obligations of fathers She also engages with what it means to be free on a theoretical level drawing on the ideas of such thinkers as Kant Rawls Ronald Dworkin Hegel and Lacan Cornell begins by discussing what she believes lies at the heart of freedom the ability for all individuals to pursue happiness in their own way especially in matters of love and sex This is only possible she argues if we protect the imaginary domain a psychic and moral space in which individuals can explore their own sources of happiness She writes that equality with men does not offer such protection in part because men themselves are not fully free Instead women must focus on ensuring that individuals face minimal interference from the state and from oppressive cultural norms They must also respect some controversial individual choices Cornell argues in favor of permitting same sex couples to marry and adopt children for example She presses for access to abortion and for universal day care She also justifies lifestyles that have not always been supported by other feminists ranging from staying at home as a primary caregiver to engaging in prostitution She argues that men should have similar freedoms thus returning feminism to its promise that freedom for women would mean freedom for all Challenging passionate and powerfully argued Cornell's book will have a major impact on the course of feminist thought

Manilal Ambalal Desai Zarina Patel, 2010 Zarina Patel a historian and activist provides here a well researched work on Manilal Desai one of the foremost political leaders of Kenya She provides kaleidoscopic images of Manilal Desai's life in South Gujarat and eventual migration to Kenya in 1915 where he went on to become a vibrant journalist politician and institution builder In 1916 Manilal was appointed as secretary of the Nairobi Indian Association where he championed with his Indian and African allies the struggle for justice and equality In 1921 he was elected as president of the Association and the following year also took on the chairmanship of the Nairobi Standing Committee of the EAINC In September 1922 he was elected to preside over the EAINC and was charged with the responsibility of leading the Kenya Indian delegation to London to deliberate on the mounting antagonism between the Indians and the white settlers The outcome was the Devonshire

Declaration which checked the rush to white supremacy Manilal Desai lived in Kenya during very momentous times especially the period between 1915 and 1923 when a series of events produced violent differences of opinion which came to be described as the Indian Question The British public were at no time given information as to the underlying causes of the turmoil The Stormy Petrel documents the life of Manilal Ambalal Desai and highlights the major events of his time Black British Culture and Society Kwesi Owusu,2003-09-02 Black British Culture and Society brings together in one indispensable volume key writings on the Black community in Britain from the Windrush immigrations of the late 1940s and 1950s to contemporary multicultural Britain Combining classic writings on Black British life with new specially commissioned articles Black British Culture and Society records the history of the post war African and Caribbean diaspora tracing the transformations of Black culture in British society Black British Culture and Society explores key facets of the Black experience charting Black Britons struggles to carve out their own identity and place in an often hostile society The articles reflect the rich diversity of the Black British experience addressing economic and social issues such as health religion education feminism old age community and race relations as well as Black culture and the arts with discussions of performance carnival sport style literature theatre art and film making The contributors examine the often tense relationship between successful Black public figures and the media and address the role of the Black intellectual in public life Featuring interviews with noted Black artists and writers such as Aubrey Williams Mustapha Matura and Caryl Phillips and including articles from key contemporary thinkers such as Stuart Hall A Sivanandan Paul Gilroy and Henry Louis Gates Black British Culture and Society provides a rich resource of analysis critique and comment on the Black community s distinctive contribution to cultural life in Britain today African Studies in Social Movements and Democracy Mahmood Mamdani,E. Wamba-dia-Wamba,1995 Trade unions burial societies students religious and gender movements riots and mafias Not to mention class The kaleidoscope of African social movements is complex and broad But their histories have strong common threads the experience of past oppression and the constant struggle for an identity that will encompass survival How have they contributed to the nature of African civil society and the formation of democracy The chapters are a living dialogue on the interpretation of these movements and a critical and analytical appraisal of the African intellectual heritage itself The book brings together a vast array of writers and topics from all over Africa from bread riots in Tunisia Communist Parties in Sudan the Kaduna Mafia in Nigeria burial societies in Zimbabwe and the working class in Algeria South Asians in Kenya Pascale Herzig,2006 For more than a century a substantial South Asian minority has been living in Kenya Within a few decades a majority of the Kenyan Asians has managed to transform their living conditions from an impoverished rural background in South Asia to a globalised and economically successful middle class in East Africa Therefore this research sets an example of migration as an opportunity for social mobility The study is based on empirical data collected with South Asians in Kenya who were differentiated by gender age migratory generation and other social boundaries The research is divided into three levels of analysis interethnic and intra ethnic relations i e the relations within the South Asian minority as well as the relations within the family To understand the complexity of migrants lives an approach of geographies of intersectionality was developed which takes different intersecting social boundaries into account and additionally considers the significance of place The study shows that migration has an impact on the relations between genders age groups and migratory generations and leads to changing identities and new lifestyles Book jacket

Debating the African Condition: Race, gender, and culture conflict Alamin M. Mazrui, Alamin Mazrui, Willy Mutunga, 2004 Is Ali Mazrui a visionary or a vacuous intellectual Is he reactionary revolutionary or essentially a radical pragmatist These questions were the focus of a special plenary session of the Conference of the African Association of Political Science that took place in Harare Zimbabwe in June 2003 The forum was intended to interrogate Ali Mazrui's contributions in the last forty years or so of his career as an academic The question themselves capture the magnitude of polarization among different sections of Mazrui's audiences generated by his often provocative propositions and prescriptions on a wide range of issues from the role of intellectuals in Africa's transformation to the imperative of pax Africana from Tanzania to Islamophobia from the condition of the Black woman to the destiny of the Black race It is some of the exchanges sometimes intense and even acrimonious arising from Mazrui's ideas on continental and global African affairs from the 1960s to the present that constitute the subject matter Together they are not only a celebration of Ali Mazrui's own intellectual life as one long debate but also an intellectual mirror of the contours of some of the hotly contested terrains in Africa's quest for self realization
