Rules And Rights Middle East Democracy Law And Society:

Rules and Rights in the Middle East Ellis Goldberg, Reşat Kasaba, Joel S. Migdal, 1993 As a whole the book demonstrates that neither the region's overgrown state structures nor the corresponding weakness of autonomous societal organizations can be explained by referring to cultural characteristics of the people in the Middle East or to the precepts of their religions. True explanations the authors argue should be framed historically. They pay special attention to the relations among the various groups and regions of the Middle East and to those between the Middle East and western Europe. The authors emphasize the important role played by economic issues and constraints in broadening or narrowing the scope of democracy at various points in time and finally they are in agreement in seeing religion and culture of the Middle East not in static and essentialist terms but as dynamic phenomena that grow independently and even in opposition to existing political authorities.

BOOK JACKET Civil Society Elizabeth Dunn, Chris Hann, 2004-03 Civil Society argues that civil society should not be studied as a separate private realm in opposition to the state. To gain a better understanding everyday social practices, power relations and shared moralities are examined.

Arab-Iranian Relations Khair El-Din Haseeb, 2015-06-25 Regionally based Arabs and Iranian scholars here explore the preoccupation of the economic, political, educational and strategic present of Arab-Iranian relationships in the context of the historical and cultural past. The issues covered include historical ties and the current state of mutual awareness between Arabs and Iranians, the impact of the political and journalistic rhetoric of each side on their relationships, the image of Arabs and Iranians in each others' schoolbooks, economic ties and the prospects for their future development, the status of Arab and Iranian women, border and territorial disputes between Arab states and Iran, the position of Arab states and Iran on the Kurdish question, the Palestine question in Arab-Iranian relations, a comparative study of civil society in Iran and in Arab countries and Arab-Iranian ties in the context of international relations.

Political Liberalization and Democratization in the Arab World Rex Brynen, Bahgat Korany, Paul Noble, 1995 The Arab world is experiencing a variety of factors internal and external that are leading to change. This work examines such factors that are shaping political liberalisation and democratisation in the Arab context as well as the role played by particular social groups.

Civil Society and Political Change in Morocco James N. Sater, 2007-06-11 Taking Morocco as its focus, this book looks at the political change in the country since 1990. It places particular emphasis on key topics such as civil society, human rights and reform as vital issues for understanding the developments in the contemporary Middle East.

Divided Loyalties James L. Gelvin, 2023-07-28 James L. Gelvin brings a new and distinctive perspective to the perennially fascinating topic of nationalism in the Arab Middle East. Unlike previous historians who have focused on the activities and ideas of a small group of elites, Gelvin details the role played by non-elites in nationalist politics during the early part of the twentieth century. Drawing from previously untapped sources, he documents the appearance of a new form of political organization, the popular committee, that sprang up in cities and villages throughout greater Syria in the immediate aftermath of the First World War.

These committees empowered a new type of nationalist leadership made nationalist politics a mass phenomenon for the first time and articulated a view of nation and nationalism that continues to inform the politics of the region today. Gelvin does more than recount an episode in the history of nationalism in the Arab Middle East. His examination of leaflets, graffiti, speeches, rumors, and editorials offers fresh insights into the symbolic construction of national communities. His analysis of ceremonies, national celebrations, demonstrations, theater, contributes to our understanding of the emergence of mass politics. By situating his study within a broader historical context, Gelvin has written a book that will be of interest to all who wish to understand nationalism in the region and beyond. James L. Gelvin brings a new and distinctive perspective to the perennially fascinating topic of nationalism in the Arab Middle East. Unlike previous historians who have focused on the activities and ideas of a small group of elites, Gelvin details the role of the masses. Democratic Decline in Hungary András L. Pap, 2017-08-03 This book shows the rise and morphology of a self-identified illiberal democracy, the first 21st-century illiberal political regime arising in the European Union. Since 2010, Viktor Orbán's governments in Hungary have convincingly offered an anti-modernist and anti-cosmopolitan, anti-European Unionist rhetoric, discourse, and constitutional identity to challenge neo-liberal democracy. The Hungarian case provides unique observation points for students of transitology, especially those who are interested in states which are to abandon pathways of liberal democracy. The author demonstrates how illiberalism is present both in how and what is being done: the style, format, and procedure of legislation, as well as the substance, the dismantling of institutional rule of law guarantees, and the weakening of checks and balances. The book also discusses the ideological commitments and constitutionally framed and cemented value preferences and a reconstituted and reconceptualized relationship between the state and its citizens, which is not evidently supported by Hungarians' value system and life style choices. Norton, 1995 North Africa By Alan Richards Conflict Resolution in the Arab World Paul Salem, 1997 This study of conflict management in the Middle East covers general conflict resolution in Islam, sociological roots of conflict resolution in the Arab World, and conflict resolution and the Arab state. The Western perspectives presented are then critiqued from a non-Western standpoint. Encyclopedia of Women and Islamic Cultures Suad Joseph, Afsāna Nağmābādī, 2003 Family Law and Politics Volume II of the Encyclopedia of Women and Islamic Cultures brings together over 360 entries on women, family law, politics, and Islamic cultures around the world. Africa, 1997 This indispensable tool provides a breadth and depth of resources for anyone interested in understanding the changing and complex reality that is Africa today.
