Running A Team For Disabled Children And Their Families:

Running a Team for Disabled Children and Their Families Martin F. Robards, 1994-06-24 Children with multiple disabilities and complex neurological problems often compounded by psychological and behavioral problems need care provision beyond the normal community and hospital pediatric services These children and their families need the help of a variety of specialists Organizing these is a complex problem and there is a constant risk of the family's needs being overridden by the professionals convenience Dr Robards describes ways of providing all the necessary specialist care while at the same time increasing the family's participation and understanding to its optimum level Illustrating his proposals with a variety of lively case histories the author demonstrates that a rigid structure can never meet these children's needs This practical book offers clear recommendations about record keeping integrating voluntary support groups into the professionals work the location and layout of premises used by the professionals and many other factors collectively critical to the efficient and humane delivery of this element of community care

Developmental Disability and Behaviour

Christopher Gillberg, Gregory O'Brien, 2000-01-18 This book reviews clinical models for working with developmental disability and behavioural problems The first section explores the causes and nature of behaviour problems amongst people with physical learning language and sensory disabilities and some key specific conditions The second section describes the assessment approaches that clinicians will find most useful in evaluating behaviour The third section covers treatment approaches emphasising the importance of a broad eclectic approach The contributors all acknowledged experts in their fields of paediatrics psychology and psychiatry provide a comprehensive overview of this set of major challenges emphasising the importance of auditory detection understanding measurement and treatment

Parenting Matters National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Children, Youth, and Families, Committee on Supporting the Parents of Young Children, 2016-11-21 Decades of research have demonstrated that the parent child dyad and the environment of the family which includes all primary caregivers are at the foundation of children's well being and healthy development From birth children are learning and rely on parents and the other caregivers in their lives to protect and care for them The impact of parents may never be greater than during the earliest years of life when a child's brain is rapidly developing and when nearly all of her or his experiences are created and shaped by parents and the family environment Parents help children build and refine their knowledge and skills charting a trajectory for their health and well being during childhood and beyond The experience of parenting also impacts parents themselves For instance parenting can enrich and give focus to parents lives generate stress or calm and create any number of emotions including feelings of happiness sadness fulfillment and anger Parenting of young children today takes place in the context of significant ongoing developments These include a rapidly growing body of science on early childhood increases in funding for programs and services for families changing demographics of the U S population and greater diversity of family structure

Additionally parenting is increasingly being shaped by technology and increased access to information about parenting Parenting Matters identifies parenting knowledge attitudes and practices associated with positive developmental outcomes in children ages 0 8 universal preventive and targeted strategies used in a variety of settings that have been effective with parents of young children and that support the identified knowledge attitudes and practices and barriers to and facilitators for parents use of practices that lead to healthy child outcomes as well as their participation in effective programs and services This report makes recommendations directed at an array of stakeholders for promoting the wide scale adoption of effective programs and services for parents and on areas that warrant further research to inform policy and practice It is meant to serve as a roadmap for the future of parenting policy research and practice in the United States Handbook of Pediatric Physical Therapy Toby M.
