Rural Development And Factional Politics:

Rural Development and Factional Politics K. G. Gurumurthy, 1988 India's rural sector still remains underdeveloped to a great extent in spite of her impressive achievements in the field of technology, science, human resources development, Industry and Green Revolution. The developmental path chosen by Indian planners has failed to evenly spread the developmental benefits in areas of health, literacy and minimum subsistence needs. Various social science studies of development processes have either portrayed a macro synoptic scenario largely based upon official statistics or have remained confined to micro level cognitive phenomenology. The conflicting interest norm configurations inbuilt into socio-cultural matrices and those generated by developmental inputs have tended to be grossly neglected in social science investigations of rural development processes. Factional Politics in an Indian State Paul R. Brass, 1965 Factional Politics in Rural India Padma Charan Mishra, Krishna Singh Padhy, 2000 Factional politics undoubtedly constitutes a very significant area as well as a pervasive theme in contemporary social science. Factionalism, a growing phenomenon in Indian government and politics, has not only of late assumed new dimensions but also infected almost all organizations including political parties, interest group, pressure groups, trade unions, voluntary association etc. It is quite disheartening and distressing to observe that even village community and its government and politics are largely as well as deeply affected and afflicted by this all pervading evil that has spread its tentacles to eat away the very vitals of the Indian rural society. It has assumed so much of importance and significance that it has attracted the attention of social scientists, policy makers and administrators. Faction Politics Frank P. Belloni, Dennis C. Beller, 1978, Planning And Management For Rural Development S P Singh, 2003 This Book Not Only Discusses The Problems Of Communication And Coordination Of The Gram Panchayat Organisation But Also Investigates Management Problems As Perceived By The Elected Functionaries In Planning, Financing, Organising, Directing And Controlling The Work Of Rural Development. Development with Human Touch D. Vasudeva Rao, S. Vijaya Kumar, 2000 Of Late Development Both Economic And Social Is Gaining Ground Specially In The Developing Countries The Planning Process Is Also Trying To Encourage More And More Of People's Participation In The Programmes Sponsored By The Government. The New Shift In Paradigm Has Resulted In More Of People's Participation With More Of Government's Co Operation. In This Volume The Editors Have Tried To Converge The Idea Of People's Participation And Involvement In Bringing An All Round Development With Human Touch. The Important Areas Covered In This Volume Include Rural Development, Women Empowerment, Irrigation And Water Conservation, Literacy Programmes, Food Security And Environmental Improvement. The Contributors Are Specialists Who Have Been Working In Their Respective Areas Over Decades And Most Of Them Have Contributed Their Own Experiences And Or Results Of Their Studies To Establish The Point. Most Of The Success Stories Bring Out The Single Point That If People Are Empowered And Given Self Respect In The Implementation Of The Programmes The Sustainability Is Guaranteed. This Volume Will Be Of Great Help For Planners.
