Parkins, Maureen G. Reed, 2012-12-06 The rapidly changing nature of life in Canadian rural communities is more than a simple response to economic conditions People living in rural places are part of a new social agenda characterized by transformation of livelihoods landscapes and social relations these profound changes invite us to reconsider the meanings of community culture and citizenship Social Transformation in Rural Canada presents the work of researchers from a variety of fields who explore the dynamics of social transformation in rural settlements across several regions and sectors of the Canadian landscape This volume provides a nuanced portrait of how local forms of action

adaptation identity and imagination are reshaping aboriginal and non aboriginal communities in rural Canada Unlike many previous studies this work looks at rural communities not simply as places affected by external forces but as incubators of change and social units with agency and purpose many of which provide exemplary models for other communities facing challenges of transition

Canadian Agriculture in the 21st Century Dr. Marvin S. Anderson, The Canadian Farming Community is facing numerous ongoing challenges including rapidly changing technologies the gradual erosion of the rural lifestyle growing consumer concerns about the healthiness of food and growing environmental concerns including climate change This book begins with an historic overview of agriculture in Canada followed by a statistical profile of the contemporary Canadian farm ranch supporting agri industrial complex and the innumerable farm organizations in Canada The vital role of international trade and government support in the evolution of Canadian agriculture is also highlighted Resource management issues and related hot button issues e g climate change GMO s are also addressed in considerable detail In addition Dr Anderson identifies the likely trends in Canadian agriculture in the immediate years ahead Emphasizing the diversity complexity strength and vitality of the agricultural sector Canadian Agriculture in the 21st Century ultimately highlights how it effectively molds and remains integral to the socioeconomic fabric of both rural and urban Canada An underlying theme is the importance of having Canadian agriculture become increasingly ecofriendly in the challenging years ahead particularly the need to gradually adopt more sustainable regenerative organic technologies and the need to more pro actively serve as a vital CO2 sink in climate change mitigation Dr Anderson also suggests that the public should financially compensate farmers ranchers for protecting environmental amenities that accrue to everyone A complimentary theme is the need for Canadian agriculture to become increasingly sensitive to consumer concerns particularly with respect to rigorous health standards animal welfare and sustainable resource management

International Directory to Canadian Studies, 1980 The Journal of Agricultural Economics Research, 1991 Agricultural Policy Reform and the Rural Economy in OECD Countries OECD, 1998-03-09 The report comprising a main report and case studies on Canada France Greece Japan New Zealand Norway and Switzerland addresses socio economic developement of rural areas
