Ruskin and Tuscany Jeanne Clegg, Paul Tucker, 1993 Val D'Arno John Ruskin, 1891 Victorian and Edwardian Responses to the Italian Renaissance John E. Law, Lene Østermark-Johansen, 2017-03-02 The historiography of the Italian Renaissance has been much studied but generally in the context of a few key figures Much less appreciated is the extent of the enthusiasm for the subject in the 19th and early 20th centuries when the subject was discovered by travellers and men and women of letters historians artists architects and photographers and by collectors on both sides of the Atlantic The essays in Victorian and Edwardian Responses to the Italian Renaissance explore the breadth of the responses stimulated by the encounter between the British the Americans and the Italians of the Renaissance The volume approaches the subject from an interdisciplinary perspective While recognising the abiding importance of the familiar great names it seeks to draw attention to a wider cast of people many of whom led colourful energetic lives knew Italy well and wrote eloquently about the country and its Renaissance Several essays show that Renaissance studies became a field in which female historians could explore areas of relevance to the New Woman Other chapters examine the aims and politics of collecting and the place of the collector in literature and in the rediscovery of Renaissance artists The contribution of teachers and other less formal champions of the Italian Renaissance is explored as is the role of photographers who re framed and re viewed Florence the Renaissance city for Victorian and later eyes Tuscany in Mind Alice Leccese Powers, 2005-05-17 Readers and travelers alike will immerse themselves in this generous selection of literary impressions of Tuscany reflected in fiction and poetry essays letters and memoirs Building Ruskin's Italy Stephen Kite, 2017-07-05 Based on extensive fieldwork and research into John Ruskin's still little interpreted archival material notebooks and drawings in the Ruskin Library Lancaster University UK and elsewhere Stephen Kite offers an unprecedented account of the evolution of Ruskin's architectural thinking and observation in the context of Italy where his watching of building achieved its greatest intensity Venice naturally figures large in a work that also examines other key sites including Verona Lucca Pisa Florence Milan and Monza here the fabrics are vividly read in their contexts against the rich evidence of Ruskin's diaries his pocket book sketches architectural worksheets drawings and daguerrotypes the early form of photography and the drafts and published editions of the texts Kite presents the complex story of Ruskin's visual thinking in architecture as a narrative of deepening interpretation and representation focusing on the humbler monuments of Italy He shows how Ruskin's early picturesque naturalism was transformed by the realisation that to understand the built realities confronting him in Italy demanded a closer engagement with the substance of the stones themselves reflecting Ruskin's sense of his task as a near archaeological gleaning and gathering of remains hidden in many a grass grown court and silent pathway and lightless canal Ruskin's Artists Robert Hewison, 2017-11-22 This was first published in 2000 A study of John Ruskin's engagement with art and architecture as a critic a patron and a teacher It offers insights into both his writings and the visual economy of the Victorian world Each essay examines Ruskin's relationship with an individual artist or a distinct aspect of art practice J M W Turner D G Rossetti W Holman Hunt and E Burne Jones are among those artists discussed whose personal relationships with Ruskin affected his critical writing Ruskin's attitude to women artists and his approach to the teaching of art are given special attention

Desire and Excess Jonah Siegel, 2021-05-11 In this fascinating look at the creative power of institutions Jonah Siegel explores the rise of the modern idea of the artist in the nineteenth century a period that also witnessed the emergence of the museum and the professional critic Treating these developments as interrelated he analyzes both visual material and literary texts to portray a culture in which art came to be thought of in powerful new ways Ultimately Siegel shows that artistic controversies commonly associated with the self-consciously radical movements of modernism and postmodernism have their roots in a dynamic era unfairly characterized as staid self-satisfied and stable The nineteenth century has been called the Age of the Museum and yet critics art theorists and poets during this period grappled with the question of whether the proliferation of museums might lead to the death of Art itself Did the assembly and display of works of art help the viewer to understand them or did it numb the senses How was the contemporary artist to respond to the vast storehouses of art from disparate nations and periods that came to proliferate in this era Siegel presents a lively discussion of the shock experienced by neoclassical artists troubled by remains of antiquity that were trivial or even obscene as well as the anxious aesthetic reveries of nineteenth century art lovers overwhelmed by the quantity of objects quickly crowding museums and exhibition halls In so doing he illuminates the fruitful crises provoked when the longing for admired art is suddenly satisfied Drawing upon neoclassical art and theory biographies of early nineteenth century writers including Keats and Scott and the writings of art critics such as Hazlitt Ruskin and Wilde this book reproduces a cultural matrix that brings to life the artistic passions and anxieties of an entire era doyenne includes coverage of her work for the London Times achievements as an avid agriculturalist and relationships with such contemporaries as Mark Twain and Bernard Berenson Carrying Off the Palaces Ken Jacobson, Jenny Jacobson, Gabriella Bologna, Angels Arribas, 2015 The inspiration for this book was a remarkable discovery made by the authors at a small country auction in 2006 One lightly regarded lot was a distressed mahogany box crammed with long lost early photographs These daguerreotypes were later confirmed as once belonging to John Ruskin the great 19th century art critic writer artist and social reformer Moreover the many scenes of Italy France and Switzerland included the largest collection of daguerreotypes of Venice in the world and probably the earliest surviving photographs of the Alps 00Core to this book is a fully illustrated catalogue raisonné of the 325 known John Ruskin daguerreotypes The overwhelming majority of the newly discovered plates are published here for the first time There are an additional 276 illustrations in the text and an essay describing the technical procedures used in conserving Ruskin's photographs Ten chapters extensively study Ruskin's photographic endeavours A chronology glossary twenty page bibliography and comprehensive index complete this handsome hardback book Victorian Modernism Jessica R. Feldman, 2009-10 In Victorian Modernism Pragmatism and the Varieties of Aesthetic Experience Jessica Feldman sheds a pragmatist light on the relation between the Victorian age and Modernism by dislodging truistic notions of Modernism as an art of crisis rupture elitism and loss Examining the works of John Ruskin art critic and social thinker Dante Gabriel Rossetti poet and painter Augusta Evans best selling domestic novelist and William James philosopher and psychologist Feldman relates them to selected twentieth century creations The Influence of Pre-Raphaelitism on Fin de Siècle Italy Giuliana Pieri, 2007 This volume is the first comprehensive study of the influence of English Pre Raphaelitism on Italian art and culture in the late nineteenth century Analysis of the cultural relations between Italy and Britain has focused traditionally on the special place that Italy had in the British imagination but the cultural and artistic exchanges between the two countries have been much misunderstood This book aims to correct this imbalance by placing Pre Raphaelitism in its European context It explores the nature of its influence on Italy how it was transmitted and how it was manifested by focusing on the role of Italian Anglophiles the English communities in Florence and Rome the writings of Gabriele D Annunzio and a number of Italian artists active in Tuscany and Rome The works of Cellini Ricci Gioja De Carolis and Sartorio in particular fully demonstrate the impact of Pre Raphaelitism on the young Italian school of painting which found in the English movement an ideal link with its glorious past on which it could build a new artistic identity These artists show that English Pre Raphaelitism was one of the most powerful single influences on fin de siècle Italian culture Roadside Songs of Tuscany, 1888 Roadside Songs of Tuscany John Ruskin, 1986-03-01 Walter Pater and the Language of Sculpture Lene ?termark-Johansen, 2017-07-05 Walter Pater and the Language of Sculpture is the first monograph to discuss the Victorian critic Walter Pater's attitude to sculpture It brings together Pater's aesthetic theories with his theories on language and writing to demonstrate how his ideas of the visual and written language are closely interlinked Going beyond Pater's views on sculpture as an art form this study traces the notion of relief rilievo and hybrid form in Pater and his view of the writer as sculptor a carver in language Alongside her treatment of rilievo as a pervasive trope Lene termark Johansen also employs the idea of rivalry paragone more broadly examining Pater's concern with positioning himself as an art critic in the late Victorian art world Situating Pater within centuries of European aesthetic theories as never before done Walter Pater and the Language of Sculpture throws new light on the extraordinary complexity and coherence of Pater's writing The critic is repositioned solidly within Victorian art and literature The Laws of Fésole John Ruskin, 1996 Ruskin offers criticism appreciation and instruction for artists The text covers principles of drawing and painting from the Tuscan masters A biographical note and introduction by Bill Beckley is included The Arts of Tuscany Marina Belozerskaya, 2008-11 Tuscany is everyone's dream a land of picturesque landscapes fabulous food and above all extraordinary masterpieces of art of every kind Focusing on a series of Tuscan centers from the Etruscan capitals of Cerveteri and Tarquinia to the great medieval and Renaissance city states of Lucca Pisa Siena and Florence down to the present day Marina Belozerskaya leads the reader on a journey through the arts of this astonishing part of Italy Unlike other books on Tuscany this one spans time geography and a wide variety of art forms from Etruscan bronzes to Ferragamo shoes and shows how the arts of this fertile region have sprung from their native soil over the centuries each era providing the foundation for the next Lavishly illustrated and rich with the fascinating stories of Tuscan arts and their creators The Arts of Tuscany offers an enchanting new look into the opulent culture of a beloved part of the world In Tuscany Montgomery Carmichael, 1903 Book-prices Current, 1900
