Rubian Sailors Dance:

Nature and the Environment in Early Buddhism Shravasti Dhammika, 2018 Green Dolphin Country Elizabeth Goudge, 2017-04-13 Breathtaking A long vista of undulating story with here and there peaks of volcanic excitement Daily Telegraph A haunting love story set between the Channel Islands and New Zealand in the 19th century When young William Ozanne arrives on their island sisters Marianne and Marguerite Le Patourel are both captivated But it is tall beautiful Marguerite who catches his eye Years later William leaves the island for a life at sea eventually settling across the ocean in New Zealand Impulsively he invites Marguerite to join him there but a slip of the pen results in Marianne making the journey instead As Marguerite deals with a broken heart and the loss of her sister Marianne must make a new life in a strange land with a man who respects her but loves another Can she persuade William that he chose the right sister after all The inspiration behind the Academy Award winning film Green Dolphin Street 1947 What readers are saying about GREEN DOLPHIN COUNTRY Fantastic 5 STARS A beautiful and unusual love story 5 STARS Full of twists and turns and beautifully written as always 5 STARS A wonderful story 5 STARS A magical story with characters that leap out from the page 5 STARS

We Shall Not Be Moved/No Nos Moveran David Spener, 2016-04 We Shall Not Be Moved presents the surprising travels of a traditional song and analyzes the indispensable role it has played as a social justice hymn in progressive movements in the United States Spain and Latin America This title was made Open Access by libraries from around the world through Knowledge Unlatched Spanish Poetry of the Twentieth Century Andrew P. Debicki, 1994-01-01 The first English language history published in the United States to examine the sweep of modern Spanish verse Debicki more importantly is the first to situate Spanish poetry in the context of European modernity to trace its trajectory from the symbolists to the post modernists See other books in the series Studies in Romance Languages Narrative of the Surveying Voyages of His Majesty's Ships Adventure and Beagle Philip Parker King, 1839 Journeys and Experiences in Argentina, Paraguay, and Chile Henry Stephens, 2021-05-19 In Journeys and Experiences in Argentina Paraguay and Chile Henry Stephens offers a vivid and insightful account of his travels through these South American landscapes during the mid 19th century With a keen eye for detail Stephens employs a narrative style that blends rich descriptive passages with reflective commentary capturing the socio political climate and the unique cultural tapestries woven into the very fabric of each region His observations not only illuminate the natural beauty of Argentina Paraguay and Chile but also address the complexities of colonial heritage and indigenous histories making it as much a travelogue as a historical document Henry Stephens a prominent figure in 19th century exploration literature was deeply influenced by the rise of interest in South America during his era His background in natural sciences coupled with a keen sense of adventure enabled him to engage with diverse populations and environments This interplay of science and narrative reflects his quest for understanding the landscapes he traversed revealing insights into both the human and natural worlds The historical context of his explorations sheds light on the motivations that fueled his journeys including a desire to document the underrepresented voices of the indigenous peoples. Readers seeking an authentic and engaging portrayal of 19th century South America will find Journeys and Experiences in Argentina Paraguay and Chile an essential addition to their literary collection. Stephens writings resonate with those interested in travel history and cultural studies offering a compelling glimpse into a transformative period marked by exploration and discovery. His work invites readers to reflect on the intricate relationship between people and place making it a timeless exploration worthy of attention.

The Book, Behind the Dune Andres Sanchez Robayna, 2017-01-27 The Book Behind the Dune is a long unitary poem about the birth of a poetic consciousness and its development in a world marked by the discovery of beauty eroticism and the reality of evil. Already translated into French Italian Czech German and Arabic the book is presented here for the first time in English.

Tango Robert Farris Thompson, 2005 Traces the origins and evolution of the most enduring dance form of the twentieth century and examines the tango as a musical form philosophy of life art and expression of Latin American culture.

The Milkmaid by Johannes Vermeer Walter A. Liedtke, 2009 In this catalogue for the exhibition Walter Liedtke Curator of Paintings at the Metropolitan drawing on the Museum's five Vermeers scenes by other Dutch masters in the Museum's collection including Pieter de Hooch Gabriel Metsu Nicolaes Maes and Emanuel de Witte and several works on paper places the picture in the context of the artist's brief career and relates it to contemporary developments in Dutch art. In addition to an extended discussion of the painting's provenance he provides a detailed study of the composition the several revisions made during the course of execution and the subtle relationships between light and shadow color contour and shape. And he proposes a most intriguing argument for an erotic subtext pointing out that like maids and kitchen maids in earlier Netherlandish art the figure in The Milkmaid was meant to attract the male viewer to rouse in him temptation and restraint desire and reservation while the kitchen maid herself endowed with traits typically reserved for higher class women and surrounded by references to romance both literal and oblique is presented as having amorous thoughts of her own.

Broader Horizons Scott D. Westrem, 2001

The Comedy of Entropy: Humour/Narrative/Reading Patrick O'Neill, 1990-12 Entropic comedy is the phrase coined by Patrick O'Neill in this study to identify a particular mode of twentieth century narrative that is not generally recognized. He describes it as the narrative expression of forms of decentred humour or what might more loosely be called black humour. O'Neill begins his investigation by examining the rise of an essentially new form of humour over the last three hundred years or so in the context of a rapid decay of confidence in traditional authoritative value systems. O'Neill analyses the resulting reorganization of the spectrum of humour and examines the implications of this for the ways in which we read texts and the world we live in. He then turns from intellectual history to narratology and considers the relationship in theoretical terms of humour play and narrative as systems of discourse and the role of the reader as a textualizing agent. Finally he considers some dozen twentieth century narratives in French German and English with occasional reference to other literatures in the context of those historical and theoretical concerns Authors of the texts analysed include C line Camus Satre and Robbe Grillet in French Heller Beckett Pynchon Nabokov and Joyce in English Grass Kafka and Handke in German The analyses proceed along lines suggested by structuralist semiotic and post structuralist narrative and literary theory From his analyses of these works O'Neill concludes they illustrate in narrative terms a mode of modern writing definable as entropic comedy and he develops a taxonomy of the mode Statistics of South Carolina Robert Mills, 1826
