

An illustration of a bald eagle in flight, its wings spread wide, flying over a nest of three eaglets on a rocky cliff. The background is a dramatic sky with purple and yellow clouds, suggesting a sunrise or sunset. The eagle's head is white with a yellow beak, and its wings are brown with white feathers on the underside. The nest is made of sticks and is situated on a rocky outcrop. The eaglets are also bald eagles, with white heads and yellow beaks, and are looking up at the parent eagle. The overall scene is one of guidance and protection.

Families Caring for an Aging America National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Health and Medicine Division, Board on Health Care Services, Committee on Family Caregiving for Older Adults, 2016-12-08. Family caregiving affects millions of Americans every day in all walks of life. At least 17.7 million individuals in the United States are caregivers of an older adult with a health or functional limitation. The nation's family caregivers provide the lion's share of long-term care for our older adult population. They are also central to older adults' access to and receipt of health care and community-based social services. Yet the need to recognize and support caregivers is among the least appreciated challenges facing the aging U.S. population. Families Caring for an Aging America examines the prevalence and nature of family caregiving of older adults and the available evidence on the effectiveness of programs, supports, and other interventions designed to support family caregivers. This report also assesses and recommends policies to address the needs of family caregivers and to minimize the barriers that they encounter in trying to meet the needs of older adults.
