Ruins Of Allegory:

The Ruins of Allegory Catherine Gimelli Martin, 1998 In a reexamination of the allegorical dimensions of PARADISE LOST Catherine Martin presents Milton's poem as a prophecy foretelling the end of one culture and its replacement by another Maintaining a dialogue with a critical tradition that extends from Johnson and Coleridge to the best contemporary Milton scholarship Martin sets PARADISE LOST in both the early modern and the postmodern worlds Ruins of Modernity Julia Hell, Andreas Schönle, 2010-03-19 Images of ruins may represent the raw realities created by bombs natural disasters or factory closings but the way we see and understand ruins is not raw or unmediated Rather looking at ruins writing about them and representing them are acts framed by a long tradition This unique interdisciplinary collection traces discourses about and representations of ruins from a richly contextualized perspective In the introduction Julia Hell and Andreas Sch nle discuss how European modernity emerged partly through a confrontation with the ruins of the premodern past Several contributors discuss ideas about ruins developed by philosophers such as Immanuel Kant Georg Simmel and Walter Benjamin One contributor examines how W G Sebald's novel The Rings of Saturn betrays the ruins erased or forgotten in the Hegelian philosophy of history Another analyzes the repressed specter of being bombed out of existence that underpins post Second World War modernist architecture especially Le Corbusier's plans for Paris Still another compares the ways that formerly dominant white populations relate to urban industrial ruins in Detroit and to colonial ruins in Namibia Other topics include atomic ruins at a Nevada test site the connection between the cinema and ruins the various narratives that have accrued around the Inca ruin of Vilcashuam n Tolstoy's response in War and Peace to the destruction of Moscow in the fire of 1812 the Nazis' obsession with imperial ruins and the emergence in Mumbai of a new kinetic city on what some might consider the ruins of a modernist city By focusing on the concept of ruin this collection sheds new light on modernity and its vast ramifications and complexities Contributors Kerstin Barndt Jon Beasley Murray Russell A Berman Jonathan Bolton Svetlana Boym Amir Eshel Julia Hell Daniel Herwitz Andreas Huyssen Rahul Mehrotra Johannes von Moltke Vladimir Paperny Helen Petrovsky Todd Presner Helmut Puff Alexander Regier Eric Rentschler Lucia Saks Andreas Sch nle Tatiana Smoliarova George Steinmetz Jonathan Veitch Gustavo Verdesio Anthony Vidler Ruins in the Literary and Cultural Imagination Efterpi Mitsi, Anna Despotopoulou, Stamatina Dimakopoulou, Emmanouil Aretoulakis, 2019-11-28 This book focuses on literal and metaphorical ruins as they are appropriated and imagined in different forms of writing Examining British and American literature and culture in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries the book begins in the era of industrial modernity with studies of Charles Dickens Thomas Hardy Henry James and Daphne Du Maurier It then moves on to the significance of ruins in the twentieth century against the backdrop of conflict waste and destruction analyzing authors such as Beckett and Pinter Kurt Vonnegut Robert Lowell Anne Sexton and Leonard Cohen The collection concludes with current debates on ruins through discussions of Walter Benjamin and Bertolt Brecht as well as reflections on the refugee crisis that take the ruin beyond the text offering new perspectives on its diverse legacies and conceptual resources The Ruins Lesson Susan Stewart, 2020-01-07 How have ruins become so valued in Western culture and so central to our art and literature Covering a vast chronological and geographical range from ancient Egyptian inscriptions to twentieth century memorials Susan Stewart seeks to answer this question as she traces the appeal of ruins and ruins images and the lessons that writers and artists have drawn from their haunting forms Stewart takes us on a sweeping journey through founding legends of broken covenants and original sin the Christian appropriation of the classical past and images of decay in early modern allegory Stewart looks in depth at the works of Goethe Piranesi Blake and Wordsworth each of whom found in ruins a means of reinventing his art Lively and engaging The Ruins Lesson ultimately asks what can resist ruination and finds in the self transforming ever fleeting practices of language and thought a clue to what might truly endure The Poetics of Ruins in Renaissance Literature Andrew Hui, 2017-01-02 The Renaissance was the Ruin naissance the birth of the ruin as a distinct category of cultural discourse one that inspired voluminous poetic production For humanists the ruin became the material sign that marked the rupture between themselves and classical antiquity In the first full length book to document this cultural phenomenon Andrew Hui explains how the invention of the ruin propelled poets into creating works that were self aware of their absorption of the past as well as their own survival in the future Mexico's Ruins Raúl Rodríguez-Hernández, 2012-02-01 At face value the concept of modernity seems to reference a stream of social and historical traffic headed down a utopian one way street named progress Mexico's Ruins examines modernity in twentieth century Mexican culture as a much more ambiguous concept arguing that such a single minded notion is inadequate to comprehend the complexity of modern Mexico's national projects and their reception by the nation's citizenry Instead through the trope of modernity as ruin author Raúl Rodríguez Hernández explores the dilemma presented by the etymology of ruins a simultaneous falling down and rising up a confluence of opposing forces at work on the skyline of the metropolis since 1968 He focuses on artists and writers of the generaci n de medio siglo like Juan García Ponce and envisions both the tales of modernity and their storytellers in a new light The arts literature and architecture of twentieth century Mexico are all examined in this cross cultural and interdisciplinary book Decay and Afterlife Aleksandra Prica, 2022-03-04 Covering 800 years of intellectual and literary history Prica considers the textual forms of ruins Western ruins have long been understood as objects riddled with temporal contradictions whether they appear in baroque poetry and drama Romanticism's nostalgic view of history eighteenth century paintings of classical subjects or even recent photographic histories of the ruins of postindustrial Detroit Decay and Afterlife pivots away from our immediate visual fascination with ruins focusing instead on the textuality of ruins in works about disintegration and survival Combining an impressive array of literary philosophical and historiographical works both canonical and neglected and encompassing Latin Italian French German and English sources Aleksandra Prica addresses ruins as textual forms examining them in their extraordinary geographical and temporal breadth highlighting their variability and reflexivity and uncovering new lines of aesthetic and intellectual affinity Through close readings she traverses eight hundred years of intellectual and literary history from Seneca and Petrarch to Hegel Goethe and Georg Simmel She tracks European discourses on ruins as they metamorphose over time identifying surprising resemblances and resonances ignored contrasts and tensions as well as the shared apprehensions and ideas that come to light in the excavation of these discourses

Memory and Complicity Debarati Sanyal, 2015-03-02 Since World War II French and Francophone literature and film have repeatedly sought not to singularize the Holocaust as the paradigm of historical trauma but rather to connect its memory with other memories of violence namely that of colonialism These works produced what Debarati Sanyal calls a memory in complicity attuned to the gray zones that implicate different regimes of violence across history as well as those of different subject positions such as victim perpetrator witness and reader spectator Examining a range of works from Albert Camus Primo Levi Alain Resnais and Jean Paul Sartre to Jonathan Littell Assia Djebar Giorgio Agamben and Boualem Sansal Memory and Complicity develops an inquiry into the political force and ethical dangers of such implications contrasting them with contemporary models for thinking about trauma and violence and offering an extended meditation on the role of aesthetic form especially allegory within acts of transhistorical remembrance What are the political benefits and ethical risks of invoking the memory of one history in order to address another What is the role of complicity in making these connections How does complicity rather than affect based discourses of trauma shame and melancholy open a critical engagement with the violence of history What is it about literature and film that have made them such powerful vehicles for this kind of connective memory work As it offers new readings of some of the most celebrated and controversial novelists filmmakers and playwrights from the French speaking world Memory and Complicity addresses these questions in order to reframe the way we think about historical memory and its political uses today

Threshold Poetics Susannah B. Mintz, 2003 Threshold Poetics Milton and Intersubjectivity is a study of the challenge

intersubjective experience poses to doctrinal formulations of difference Focusing on Paradise Lost and Samson Agonistes and using feminist and relational psychoanalytic theory the project examines representations of looking working eating conversing and touching to argue that encounters between selves in threshold space dismantle the binary oppositions that support categorical thinking A key term throughout the study is recognition defined as the capacity to tolerate both sameness and difference between separate selves Recognition of likeness in difference thus undermines the exclusionary logic of patriarchal and political hierarchies Both Eve and Dalila demonstrate the ability to respect the borders of the other while seeking out similarity but where Paradise Lost depicts the eventual achievements of intersubjective understanding between Adam and Eve after the fall Samson Agonistes records its failure when Samson maintaining the boundaries of difference refuses Dalila's effort to make contact Colonial Writing and the New World, 1583-1671 Thomas Scanlan, 1999-09-16 Looks at implications of colonialism for both English and Americans The Architecture of Ruins Jonathan Hill, 2019-03-25 The Architecture of Ruins Designs on the Past Present and Future identifies an alternative and significant history of architecture from the sixteenth century to the twenty first century in which a building is designed occupied and imagined as a ruin This design practice conceives a monument and a ruin as creative interdependent and simultaneous themes within a single building dialectic addressing temporal and environmental questions in poetic psychological and practical terms and stimulating questions of personal and national identity nature and culture weather and climate permanence and impermanence and life and death Conceiving a building as a dialogue between a monument and a ruin intensifies the already blurred relations between the unfinished and the ruined and envisages the past the present and the future in a single architecture Structured around a collection of biographies this book conceives a monument and a ruin as metaphors for a life and means to negotiate between a self and a society Emphasising the interconnections between designers and the particular ways in which later architects learned from earlier ones the chapters investigate an evolving interdisciplinary design practice to show the relevance of historical understanding to design Like a history a design is a reinterpretation of the past that is meaningful to the present Equally a design is equivalent to a fiction convincing users to suspend disbelief We expect a history or a novel to be written in words but they can also be delineated in drawing cast in concrete or seeded in soil The architect is a physical novelist as well as a physical historian Like building sites ruins are full of potential In revealing not only what is lost but also what is incomplete a ruin suggests the future as well as the past As a stimulus to the imagination a ruin's incomplete and broken forms expand architecture's allegorical and metaphorical capacity indicating that a building can remain unfinished literally and in the imagination focusing attention on the creativity of users as well as architects Emphasising the symbiotic relations between nature and culture a building designed occupied and imagined as a ruin acknowledges the coproduction of multiple authors whether human non human or atmospheric and is an appropriate model for architecture in an era of increasing climate change Constructing Gardens, Cultivating the City

Amanda Shoaf Vincent, 2023-05-16 Constructing Gardens Cultivating the City is the first cultural history of major new parks developed in Paris in the late twentieth century as part of the city's program of adaptive reuse of industrial spaces. Thanks to laws that gave the city more political autonomy, Paris's local government launched a campaign of park creation in the late 1970s that continued to the turn of the millennium. The parks in this book represent this campaign and illustrate different facets of their cultural and historical context. Archival research, interviews, and analyses of the parks reveal how postmodern debates about urban planning, the historic city, public space, and nature's presence in an urban setting influenced their designs. In sum, the city adopted the garden as a model for public parks, investing in complex, richly symbolic and representational spaces. These parks were intended to represent contemporary twists on traditional designs and serve local residents as much as they would contribute to Paris's role as a world city. The parks' development process often included points of conflict, pointing to differing views on what Parisian space should represent and fundamental contradictions between the characteristics of public space and the garden as it is traditionally defined. These parks demonstrate the ongoing cultivation of the city over time in which transformed sites not only fulfil new functions but also engage with history and their surroundings to create new meaning. They stand for landscape as a form of signifying cultural production that directly engages with other art forms and ways of knowing. Just as the Luxembourg Gardens, the Tuileries, and the Buttes Chaumont parks exemplify their era's cultural dynamics, such parks as the Jardin Atlantique, Parc André Citroën, and the Jardin des Halles express contemporary French culture within the archetypal space of their era, the city. Finally, they point the way to current trends in landscape architecture, such as citizen gardening and ecological initiatives.

Strategic Rewriting David Lee Rubin, 2002. A broad-based innovative survey of rewriting in several modalities: translation, adaptation, recycling, appropriation, and remediation, along with the effect of each on form and meaning, kind, and canon. Historical and discursive continuity as well as the conceptualizing of gender. Essays on Du Bellay, Montaigne, La Ceppède, Tiphophile de Viau, Corneille, d'Aubignac, La Fontaine, Diderot, and recent Anglo-American translations of La Princesse de Clèves.

Medieval Texts and Contemporary Readers Laurie A. Finke, 2019-06-30. This collection brings together twelve original essays by prominent medievalists which address problems posed by contemporary literary and cultural theory. Taken together, the essays call into question the view that contemporary criticism has little to say about medieval literature and that medieval studies should remain isolated from the issues of contemporary criticism. The contributors apply a variety of critical methodologies to explore issues in textuality, intertextuality, and the role of the reader in works of medieval writers as diverse as Chaucer, Dante, Christine de Pizan, Anselm, and Talavera. Incorporating critical approaches such as deconstructionism, Marxism, feminism, new historicism, and reader response criticism, the essays place these writers and their texts within a wider realm of cultural reference that embraces philosophy, religion, rhetoric, history, politics, and anthropology.

Afterlives: Allegories of Film and Mortality in Early Weimar Germany Steve Choe, 2014-07-31. Weimar cultural critics and intellectuals have repeatedly linked the dynamic movement of the cinema to discourses of life and animation Correspondingly recent film historians and theorists have taken up these discourses to theorize the moving image both in analog and digital But many important issues are overlooked Combining close readings of individual films with detailed interpretations of philosophical texts all produced in Weimar Germany immediately following the Great War Afterlives Allegories of Film and Mortality in Early Weimar Germany shows how these films teach viewers about living and dying within a modern mass mediated context Choe places relatively underanalyzed films such as F W Murnau s The Haunted Castle and Arthur Robison s Warning Shadows alongside Martin Heidegger s early seminars on phenomenology Sigmund Freud s Reflections upon War and Death and Max Scheler s critique of resentment It is the experience of war trauma that underpins these correspondences and Choe foregrounds life and death in the films by highlighting how they allegorize this opposition through the thematics of animation and stasis Spenser's Ruins and the
