Gramercy Park nine year old Roger imagines himself a private eye in pursuit of criminals With the dreamlike mystery of the city before him he sets off alone out into the streets of Manhattan thrilling to a life of unsolved cases Six decades later Rosenblatt finds himself again patrolling the territory of his youth The writing class he teaches has just wrapped up releasing him into the winter night and the very neighborhood in which he grew up A grown man now he investigates his own life and the life of the city as he walks exploring the New York of the 1950s the lives of the writers who walked these streets before him such as Poe and Melville the great detectives of fiction and the essence of detective work and the monuments of his childhood such as the New York Public Library once the site of an immense reservoir that nourished the city with water before it nourished it with books and the Empire State Building which in Rosenblatt s imagination vibrates sympathetically with the oversize loneliness of King Kong If you must fall fall from me As he walks he is returned to himself the boy detective on the case Just as Rosenblatt invented a world for himself as a child he creates one on this night the writer a detective still the chief suspect in the case of his own life a case that discloses the shared mysteries of all our lives A masterly evocation of the city and a meditation on memory as an act of faith The Boy Detective treads the line between a novel and a poem displaying a world at once dangerous and beautiful
