That's how David McCullough described Mark Kurlansky's Cod: A Biography of the Fish That Changed the World, a work that revealed how a meal can be as important as it is edible. Salt: A World History, its successor, did the same for a seasoning and confirmed Kurlansky as one of our most erudite and entertaining food authors. Now the winner of the James Beard Award for Excellence in Food Writing shares a varied selection of choice cuts by others as he leads us on a mouthwatering culinary tour around the world and through history and culture from the fifth century B.C. to the present day. Choice Cuts features more than two hundred pieces from Cato to Cab Calloway. Here are essays by Plato on the art of cooking, Pablo Neruda on french fries, Alice B. Toklas on killing a carp, M. F. K. Fisher on the virility of Turkish desserts, Alexandre Dumas on coffee, W. H. Auden on Icelandic food, Elizabeth David on the downward march of English pizza, Claude L. vi Strauss on the idea of rotten, James Beard on scrambled eggs, Balzac, Virginia Woolf, E. M. Forster, Chekhov, and many other famous gourmands and gourmets, accomplished cooks or just plain ravenous writers on the passions of cuisine. The Well-Trained Mind: A Guide to Classical Education at Home (Third Edition) Susan Wise Bauer, Jessie Wise, 2009-05-04 If you're a parent who has decided to educate your children yourself, this book is the first you should buy. Washington Times: The Well-Trained Mind will instruct you step by step on how to give your child an academically rigorous, comprehensive education from preschool through high school, one that will train him or her to read, to think, to understand, to be well-rounded and curious about learning. Veteran home educators Jessie Wise and Susan Wise Bauer outline the classical pattern of education called the trivium, which organizes learning around the maturing capacity of the child's mind and comprises three stages: the elementary school grammar stage, the middle school logic stage, and the high school rhetoric stage. Using this theory as your model, you'll be able to instruct your child in all levels of reading, writing, history, geography, mathematics, science, foreign languages, rhetoric, logic, art, and music, regardless of your own aptitude in those subjects. This newly revised edition contains completely updated ordering information for all curricula and books, new and expanded curricula recommendations, new material on using computers and distance learning resources answers to common questions about home education information about educational support groups and advice on practical matters such as working with your local school board preparing a high school transcript and applying to colleges
