Practices of Poverty Measurement and Poverty Profile of Nepal Devendra Chhetry,2009-03 Reviews the poverty measuring practices available measures of poverty and economic growth figures of Nepal The poverty rates for FY 1976 77 1984 85 and 1995 96 are found to be not comparable due to change in methodology over time The three poverty rates average 40% Nepal has experienced high economic growth during the 7th 1985 86 to 1989 90 and 8th 1992 93 to 1996 97 Plan periods with no strong evidences of poverty reduction This incompatible result is partially explained by comparing growth of the agricultural sector with the role of the sector in providing employment and income generation at the household level and by comparing social indicators particularly literacy rate with the growth of the nonagricultural sector Tables

Why Are Some Countries Richer Than Others? Jesus Felipe,2008-10 Provides evidence of a problem with the influential testing and assessment of Solow s 1956 growth model proposed by Mankiw et al 1992 and a series of papers evaluating the latter First the assumption of a common rate of technical progress maintained by Mankiw et al 1992 is relaxed Solow s model is extended to include the different levels and rates of technical progress of each country This increases the explanatory power of the cross country variation in income capital of the OECD countries to over 80% The estimates of the parameters are statistically significant and take the expected values and signs Second the estimates merely reflect a statistical artifact This has serious implications for the possibility of actually testing Solow s growth model Illus

The Economic Studies ,1996 Economic Growth and Poverty Reduction in Viet Nam Arsenio M.

Balisacan,2011-04 Viet Nam s dramatic transition and growth in the 1990s have been attributed to a series of reforms known as doi moi which began in the late 1980s Economic growth of nearly 8% yearly benefited the poor and reduced poverty from 61% in 1993 to 37% in 1998 The proportionate increases in the incomes of the poorest quintile were appreciably larger than those of the top 20 or 40% of the population This result is at variance with typical findings for other countries which indicate that welfare gains from growth are smallest for the lowest quintile and rise with income group The results for Viet Nam suggest that the faster the growth rate the lesser becomes the role of distributive factors that directly influence the poor's well being A print on demand report Role of Infrastructure in Land-Use Dynamics and Rice Production in Viet Nam's Mekong River Delta Christopher Edmonds,2008-06 Examines the role of infrastructure development and technical change in explaining increases in agricultural production and changes in land use in the Mekong Delta Region of Viet Nam during the mid 1990s The transportation costs involved in moving agricultural input and output between farms and markets significantly effect farm land use and production decisions Greater transport costs reduce the likelihood that farms adopt intensive cropping patterns or cultivate non rice crops Results suggest that the quality of local water management infrastructure is much more important than transport costs in explaining the increased intensity of land use and level of production observed in the Mekong Delta during the 1990s Illustrations International Labour Documentation International Labour Office.
