Rural Transformations In Industrializing South Africa The Southern Highveld To 1914:

Rural Transformations in Industrializing South Africa Timothy J. Keegan, 1987      Rural Transformations in Industrializing South Africa Timothy J. Keegan, 1986 The first comprehensive treatment of the making of the contemporary South African countryside investigating the emergence of white capitalist farming and the destruction of black rural enterprise in early industrial South Africa It analyses the impact of rising markets and the influx of capital on rural production and social relationships particularly the process whereby a black working class was forged It also examines the rural social origins of modern Afrikanerdom exploring the experiences of impoverishment and land loss amongst whites as well as the processes of accumulation and capitalization whereby a highly capitalized farming economy unique in the continent emerged and was sustained The significance and nature of state interventions in these processes are especially addressed      The Making of Modern South Africa Nigel Worden, 2012-01-10 The new edition of The Making of Modern South Africa provides a comprehensive current introduction to the key themes and debates concerning the history of this controversial country Engagingly written the author provides a sharp analytical overview of the new South Africa Examines the major issues in South Africa's history from pre colonial to present including colonial conquest the establishment of racism segregation and apartheid resistance movements and the eventual founding of democracy Contains an additional final chapter that takes the story to the present and considers the challenges and compromises of the first two decades of democracy Updated with material on post apartheid era and current issues in South Africa The only book that gives direct guidance to bibliographical material and readings on key debates Provides a sharp analytical overview of the new South Africa Extensive references are given to the key writings on each topic and the debates between scholars      The Agrarian Question in South Africa Henry Bernstein, 2014-01-21 This is the first collection of its kind It presents a critical political economy of the agrarian question in post apartheid South Africa informed by the results of research undertaken since the transition from apartheid started in 1990 The articles by well known South African British and American scholars cover a variety of topical theoretical empirical and policy issues firmly rooted in an historical perspective      An Economic History of South Africa C. H. Feinstein, 2005-06-23 This book is the first economic history of South Africa in over sixty years Professor Charles H Feinstein offers an authoritative survey of five hundred years of South African economic history from the years preceding European settlements in 1652 through to the post Apartheid era He charts the early phase of slow growth and then the transformation of the economy as a result of the discovery of diamonds and gold in the 1870s followed by the rapid rise of industry in the wartime years The final chapters cover the introduction of apartheid after 1948 and its consequences for economic performance Special attention is given to the processes by which the black population were deprived of their land and to the methods by which they were induced to supply labour for white farms mines and factories This book will be essential reading for students in economics African history imperial history and politics      Threatening Property Elizabeth

A. Herbin-Triant, 2019-05-28 White supremacists determined what African Americans could do and where they could go in the Jim Crow South but they were less successful in deciding where black people could live because different groups of white supremacists did not agree on the question of residential segregation In Threatening Property Elizabeth A Herbin Triant investigates early twentieth century campaigns for residential segregation laws in North Carolina to show how the version of white supremacy supported by middle class white people differed from that supported by the elites Class divides prevented Jim Crow from expanding to the extent that it would require separate neighborhoods for black and white southerners as in apartheid South Africa Herbin Triant details the backlash against the economic successes of African Americans among middle class whites who claimed that they wished to protect property values and so campaigned for residential segregation laws both in the city and the countryside where their actions were modeled on South Africa's Natives Land Act White elites blocked these efforts primarily because it was against their financial interest to remove the black workers that they employed in their homes farms and factories Herbin Triant explores what the split over residential segregation laws reveals about competing versions of white supremacy and about the position of middling whites in a region dominated by elite planters and businessmen An illuminating work of social and political history Threatening Property puts class front and center in explaining conflict over the expansion of segregation laws into private property The Farmerfield Mission Fiona Vernal, 2012-08-29 The Farmerfield Mission explores the history of a residential Christian community in South Africa established for Africans in 1838 by Methodist missionaries destroyed in 1962 by the apartheid government when it was zoned as an exclusive area for white occupation and returned to the descendants of the community under South Africa's land reform program in 1999 From Cape to Congo Mwesiga Laurent Baregu, Chris Landsberg, 2003 From the ongoing war in Angola to sporadic instability in Zimbabwe and Lesotho to the conflict in Congo to issues of land reform and the ravages of AIDS southern Africa faces varied and complex threats to its peace and security The authors of From Cape to Congo assess the region's major security challenges as well as the roles of local regional and external actors in managing them Their theoretically informed but practical approach encompasses the political economic and military arenas Discordant Comrades Allison Drew, 2019-07-12 This title was first published in 2000 This book considers the fortunes of socialism in South Africa from the doctrine's arrival around 1900 to its legal suppression in 1950 Socialism's universal claims had to come to terms with South Africa's singular national experience in which a racial ideology and a racial division of the working class played a far greater role than in any other country The left in South Africa had to deal with all the complexities of ideology and strategy that faced their counterparts in Europe and North America but in South Africa it was further vexed by challenges of profound racial and national inequalities and a white labour movement which sought protection through racial segregation Communism rather than Social Democracy prevailed hence the reverberations of the splits in the Communist International were far more debilitating in South Africa than anywhere else In the years after World War II African nationalism became the dominant influence on the South African left chiefly through the relationship between the ANC and the Communist Party Discordant Comrades draws on a wide range of primary sources from inside and outside South Africa including the archives of the Communist International in Moscow The result is a scholarly and challenging analysis of the South African left

Slavery, Emancipation and Colonial Rule in South Africa Wayne Dooling, 2008 Slavery Emancipation and Colonial Rule in South Africa examines the rural Cape Colony from the earliest days of Dutch colonial rule in the mid seventeenth century to the outbreak of the South African War in 1899 For slaves and slave owners alike incorporation into the British Empire at the beginning of the nineteenth century brought fruits that were bittersweet The gentry had initially done well by accepting British rule but were ultimately faced with the legislated ending of servile labor To slaves and Khoisan servants British rule brought freedom but a freedom that remained limited The gentry accomplished this feat only with great difficulty Increasingly their dominance of the countryside was threatened by English speaking merchants and money lenders a challenge that stimulated early Afrikaner nationalism The alliances that ensured nineteenth century colonial stability all but fell apart as the descendants of slaves and Khoisan turned on their erstwhile masters during the South African War of 1899 1902

Green Lands for White Men Meredith McKittrick, 2024-10-08 How an audacious environmental engineering plan fanned white settlers visions for South Africa stoked mistrust in scientific experts and gave rise to the Apartheid state In 1918 South Africa s climate seemed to be drying up White farmers claimed that rainfall was dwindling while nineteenth century missionaries and explorers had found riverbeds seashells and other evidence of a verdant past deep in the Kalahari Desert Government experts insisted however that the rains weren t disappearing the land long susceptible to periodic drought had been further degraded by settler farmers agricultural practices an explanation that white South Africans rejected So when the geologist Ernest Schwarz blamed the land itself the farmers listened Schwarz held that erosion and topography had created arid conditions that rainfall was declining and that agriculture was not to blame As a solution he proposed diverting two rivers to the Kalahari s basins creating a lush country where white South Africans could thrive This plan which became known as the Kalahari Thirstland Redemption Scheme was rejected by most scientists But it found support among white South Africans who worried that struggling farmers undermined an image of racial superiority Green Lands for White Men explores how white agriculturalists in southern Africa grappled with a parched and changing terrain as they sought to consolidate control over a Black population Meredith McKittrick s timely history of the Redemption Scheme reveals the environment to have been central to South African understandings of race While Schwarz s plan was never implemented it enjoyed sufficient support to prompt government research into its feasibility and years of debate McKittrick shows how white farmers rallied around a plan that represented their interests over those of the South African state and delves into the reasons behind this schism between expert opinion and public perception This backlash against the predominant scientific view McKittrick argues displayed the depth of popular mistrust in an expanding scientific elite A detailed look at the intersection of a settler society climate change white nationalism and expert credibility Green Lands for White Men examines the reverberations of a scheme that ultimately failed but influenced ideas about race and the environment in South Africa for decades to come Capitalism: Histories Robert G. Ingram, James M. Vaughn, 2025-01-28 Charts the emergence and development of capitalism across the world from a variety of perspectives providing a deep understanding of how capitalism came to be the dominant economic force This book re examines the historical emergence and evolution of capitalism Why did a radically new way of organizing economic life emerge in regions of the early modern world Why did it eventually encompass the globe tying the peoples of the world together in a common economic fate These questions have been at the heart of historical and social scientific inquiry since the nineteenth century They are explored and answered anew by the scholars gathered together in this geographically and theoretically capacious volume The chapters explore the emergence and development of capitalism in Africa Western Europe Eastern Europe South Asia East Asia North America and the Atlantic world and they engage with many of the major intellectual approaches for understanding capitalism from the New Institutional Economics to world systems theory The authors share a common commitment but not a common approach to understanding the historical development of capitalism They believe that the emergence and evolution of capitalism must be understood by examining the concrete conditions of socioeconomic life in a particular country empire or region and that such empirically and archivally driven historical analysis must be combined with theoretical discussion of the concepts and categories used to make sense of capitalism and its dynamics This work offers different accounts of capitalist development across and within major regions of the world It is a histories of rather than a history of capitalism As such it introduces readers to new historical research on capitalist development in different regional and national contexts and to several significant intellectual approaches for understanding what Max Weber called the most fateful force of our modern life ROBERT G INGRAM is Professor of Humanities at the University of Florida JAMES M VAUGHN is Assistant Instructional Professor in the Social Sciences Collegiate Division at the University of Chicago Contributors Gareth Austin Ralph Austen Peter Coclanis Tracy Dennison C Alexander Evans Emma Griffin Robert G Ingram Anirban Karak John Majewski Mark Metzler Kenneth Pomeranz J Mark Ramseyer Tirthankar Roy and Horus T an Green Skills Research in South Africa Eureta Rosenberg, Presha Ramsarup, Heila Lotz-Sisitka, 2019-12-05 This book proposes transformative realist methodology for skills research and planning through an analysis of case studies of the changing world of work new learning pathways and educational system challenges Studies of the green economy and sustainability transitions are a growing field internationally however there are few books that link this interest to the development of skills This book draws on and showcases the experience and insights of researcher practitioners who are at the cutting edge in this emerging field internationally and in South Africa The context for this book is South Africa but application is worldwide In many ways indicative of the global picture South Africa is in the grip of economic and environmental imperatives searching for safe and just transitions The authors present a new embedded transitioning systems model for studying skills for a sustainable just future This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of sustainable development ecological economics and skills planning

Oxwagon Sentinel Christoph Marx,2008 This new approach to the social history of Afrikaner nationalism looks into the diverse causes for the rise of a political movement which was to shape South African history profoundly during the 20th Century In the 1930s Afrikaner nationalism transformed itself from a populist into a cultural nationalism becoming politically radicalised at the same time The nationalist symbol of the oxwagon was used not only by the National Party but also by the extra and antiparliamentarian mass movement Ossewabrandwag which was founded in 1939 Drawing on a broad range of archival resources the social history of this extremist organisation is analysed showing local and regional differences The Ossewabrandwag as a nationalist movement counted a considerable part of the Afrikaans white population among its members Therefore the Ossewabrandwag can be understood appropriately only in the context of radical Afrikaner nationalism Given that the potential for political radicalisation in the white South African population was considerable ideological influences from overseas played merely an additional role The book looks into the reasons for the mass participation in the Ossewabrandwag In addition it analyses the organisation s fight with the National Party and its illegal and treasonable activities In this context the book discusses which ideological influences on the apartheid policy can be identified as coming from organised right wing extremism Encyclopedia of African History 3-Volume Set KEVIN SHILLINGTON.,2005

Diamonds, Gold, and War Martin Meredith,2008-09-23 Southern Africa was once regarded as a worthless jumble of British colonies Boer republics and African chiefdoms a troublesome region of little interest to the outside world But then prospectors chanced upon the world s richest deposits of diamonds and gold setting off a titanic struggle between the British and the Boers for control of the land The result was the costliest bloodiest and most humiliating war that Britain had waged in nearly a century and the devastation of the Boer republics The New Yorker calls this magisterial account of those years an astute history Meredith expertly shows how the exigencies of the diamond and then gold rush laid the foundation for apartheid The Cambridge History of South Africa: Volume 2, 1885-1994 Robert Ross,Anne Kelk Mager,Bill Nasson,2011-08-15 This book surveys South African history from the discovery of gold in the Witwatersrand in the late nineteenth century to the first democratic elections in 1994 Written by many of the leading historians of the country it pulls together four decades of scholarship to present a detailed overview of South Africa during the twentieth century It covers political economic social and intellectual developments and their interconnections in a clear and objective manner This book the second of two volumes represents an important reassessment of all the major historical events developments and records of South Africa and will be an important new tool for students and professors of African history worldwide as well as the basis for further development and research Environment, Power, and Justice Graeme Wynn,Jane Carruthers,Nancy J.

Jacobs,2022-07-26 Spanning the colonial postcolonial and postapartheid eras these historical and locally specific case studies analyze and engage vernacular activist and scholarly efforts to mitigate social environmental inequity This book highlights the ways poor and vulnerable people in South Africa Lesotho and Zimbabwe have mobilized against the structural and political forces that deny them a healthy and sustainable environment Spanning the colonial postcolonial and postapartheid eras these studies engage vernacular activist and scholarly efforts to mitigate social environmental inequity Some chapters track the genealogies of contemporary activism while others introduce positions actors and thinkers not previously identified with environmental justice Addressing health economic opportunity agricultural policy and food security the chapters in this book explore a range of issues and ways of thinking about harm to people and their ecologies Because environmental justice is often understood as a contemporary phenomenon framed around North American examples these fresh case studies will enrich both southern African history and global environmental studies Environment Power and Justice expands conceptions of environmental justice and reveals discourses and dynamics that advance both scholarship and social change Contributors Christopher Konz Marc Epprecht Mary Galvin Sarah Ives Admire Mseba Muchaparara Musemwa Matthew A Schnurr Cherryl Walker

Apartheid's Leviathan Faeza Ballim, 2023-04-25 A fascinating study that shows how the intersection of technology and politics has shaped South African history since the 1960s This book details the development of an interconnected technological system of a coal mine and of the Matimba and Medupi power stations in the Waterberg a rural region of South Africa near the country's border with Botswana South Africa's state steel manufacturing corporation Iscor which has since been privatized developed a coal mine in the region in the 1970s This set the stage for the national electricity provider Eskom to build coal fueled power stations in the Waterberg Faeza Ballim follows the development of these technological systems from the late 1960s a period of heightened repression as the apartheid government attempted to realize its vision of racial segregation to the deeply fraught construction of the Medupi power station in postapartheid South Africa The Medupi power station was planned toward the end of the first decade of the twenty first century as a measure to alleviate the country's electricity shortage but the continued delay of its completion and the escalation of its costs meant that it failed to realize those ambitions while public frustration and electricity outages grew By tracing this story this book highlights the importance of technology to our understanding of South African history This characterization challenges the idea that the technological state corporations were proxies for the apartheid government and highlights that their activities in the Waterberg did not necessarily accord with the government's strategic purposes While a part of the broader national modernization project under apartheid they also set the stage for worker solidarity and trade union organization in the Waterberg and elsewhere in the country This book also argues that the state corporations their technology and their engineers enjoyed ambivalent relationships with the governments of their time relationships that can be characterized as both autonomous and immersive In the era of democracy while Eskom has been caught up in government corruption a major scourge to the fortunes of South Africa it has also retained a degree of organizational autonomy and offered a degree of resistance to those who sought to further corruption The examination of the workings of these technological systems and the state corporations responsible for them complicates conventional understandings of the transition from the authoritarian rule of apartheid to democratic South Africa which coincided with the transition from state led development to neoliberalism This book is an indispensable case study on the workings of industrial and political power in Africa and beyond Globalization and Urbanization in Africa Toyin Falola, Steven J. Salm, 2004 In this book scholars present new interpretations of African cities from the pre colonial to the modern set in the context of national and international economy politics and culture While providing insights into the evolution of African cities they also raise issues of vital importance to the survival of African cities The chapters capture the mixed legacies of colonialism and the lingering consequences of neo colonialism in a so called age of globalisation
