Rural Aquaculture:

Rural Aquaculture Peter Edwards, David Little, Harvey Demaine, 2002 Aquaculture for both finfish and shellfish is expanding rapidly throughout the world. It is regarded as having the potential to provide a valuable source of protein in less developed countries and to be integrated into the farming systems and livelihoods of the rural poor. This book addresses key issues in aquaculture and rural development with case studies drawn from several countries in South and South East Asia. Papers included cover topics ranging from production and technical issues such as pond culture and rice field fisheries to social aspects and research and development methodology. The book has been developed from a meeting of the Asian Fisheries Society. It is aimed at all concerned with aquaculture and rural development. Report of the Expert Consultation on Small-Scale Rural Aquaculture, Rome, Italy, 28-31 May 1996 Manuel Martínez-Espinoso, 1997-01-01 The objective of the Consultation was to provide FAO and its members with information and advice on the role of small scale aquaculture in rural development. This document presents a summary of discussions and principal conclusions reached followed by abstracts and full versions of the overview and thematic papers plus the abstracts of the information papers. Rural Aquaculture Peter Edwards, Harvey Demaine, 1997 An Evaluation of Small-scale Freshwater Rural Aquaculture Development for Poverty Reduction, 2005 This report looks at small scale aquaculture from the viewpoint of poverty reduction. What are the main factors that enable fish farming to generate livelihoods and reduce poverty? Based on case studies the first part of the report highlights the importance of access to capital assets: human, social, natural, physical and financial and to a range of transforming processes such as markets, institutions, facilities, infrastructure and services. Principles of Sustainable Aquaculture Stuart W. Bunting, 2013 The book is focused on developing more sustainable aquaculture practices. Report of the Ad Hoc Working Group of Experts in Rural Aquaculture Asia-Pacific Fishery Commission. Culver,David Castle,2008-09-15 Keith Culver and David Castle Introduction Aquaculture is at the leading edge of a surprisingly polarized debate about the way we produce our food According to the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization aquaculture production has increased 8.8% per year since 1970 far surpassing productivity gains in terrestrial meat production at 2.8% in the same period FAO 2007 Like the green revolution before it the blue revolution in aquaculture promises rapidly increased productivity through technology driven intensification of aquaculture animal and plant production Costa Pierce 2002 The Economist 2003 Proponents of further aquaculture development emphasize aquaculture's ancient origins and potential to contribute to global food security during an unprecedented collapse in global fisheries World Fish Center Meyers and Worm 2003 Worm et al 2006 For them technology driven intensification is an ordinary and unremarkable extension of past practice Opponents counter with images of marine and freshwater environments devastated by intensive aquaculture practices producing unsustainable and unhealthy food products They view the promised revolution as a scam nothing more than clever marketing by profit hungry shareholders looking for ways to distract the public from the real harms done by aquaculture The stark contrast between proponents and opponents of modern aquaculture recalls decades of disputes about intensive terrestrial plant and animal agriculture disputes whose vigor shows that the debate is about much more than food production Ruse and Castle 2002 Review of Fisheries in OECD Countries: Policies and Summary Statistics 2003

OECD,2003-07-23 Describes major developments affecting fisheries in OECD countries including changes in government policies trade and fisheries and aquaculture production This edition contains a special chapter on economic and social sustainability indicators for fisheries Impact of Women in Food and Agricultural Development Sadiq, Sanusi

It is a compelling response to the urgent call for recognizing and addressing the challenges faced by women in this crucial sector. Impact of Women in Food and Agricultural Development endeavors to shed light on the challenges women face the triumphs they achieve and the profound changes they instigate within the agricultural sector. Drawing on a rich tapestry of stories data and expert insights this book seeks to provide a deep understanding of how women contribute to and are impacted by global agricultural development. As we navigate an era marked by climate uncertainties technological advancements and the urgent need for sustainable practices understanding the dynamic role of women in agriculture is not just an academic pursuit but a crucial step towards building a more resilient and equitable future. Through the lens of this book we embark on a journey that illuminates the untold stories of women who against various odds have become catalysts for change shaping the present and future of food and agricultural development.
