Covino, 1994-01-01 This book presents a selective introductory reading of key texts in the history of magic from antiquity forward in order to construct a suggestive conceptual framework for disrupting our conventional notions about rhetoric and literacy Offering an overarching pointed synthesis of the interpenetration of magic rhetoric and literacy William A Covino draws from theorists ranging from Plato and Cornelius Agrippa to Paulo Freire and Mary Daly and analyzes the different magics that operate in Renaissance occult philosophy and Romantic literature as well as in popular indicators of mass literacy such as The Oprah Winfrey Show and The National Enquirer Magic Rhetoric and Literacy distinguishes two kinds of magic rhetoric that continue to affect our psychological and cultural life today Generative magic rhetoric creates novel possibilities for action within a broad sympathetic universe of signs and symbols Arresting magic rhetoric attempts to induce automatistic behavior by inculcating rules and maxims that function like magic ritual formulas JUST SAY NO In this connection the literate individual is one who can interrogate arresting language and generate counter spells

Picart Friedemann Weidauer Bruce Krajewski Harriet Malinowitz Granetta L Richardson and Kelly Ritter Wisdom of Two Margaret Mills Harper, 2006-06-15 Publisher description Digital Rhetoric Douglas Eyman, 2015-06-01 A survey of a range of disciplines whose practitioners are venturing into the new field of digital rhetoric examining the history of the ways digital and networked technologies inhabit and shape traditional rhetorical practices as well as considering new rhetorics made possible by current technologies Trust in Texts Susan Miller, 2008 Trust in Texts A Different History of Rhetoric challenges the accepted idea of a singular rhetorical tradition poorly maintained from the Athenian Golden Age until the present Author Susan Miller argues that oratorical rhetoric is but one among many codes that guide the production of texts and proposes that emotion and trust are central to the motives and effects of rhetoric This groundbreaking volume makes a case for historical rhetoric as disbursed formal and informal lessons in persuasion that are codified as crafts that mediate between what is known and unknown in particular rhetorical situations Traditional unified histories of rhetoric ignore the extensive historical interactions among discourses including medicine drama lyric poetry philosophy oratory and literary fiction that have operated from antiquity across cultures that are historically and geographically joined Drawing not just on traditional rhetorical works but also on texts from philosophy and literature Miller expands the body of works to be considered in the study of rhetoric As the first book length study that calls into question the centrality of logos to rhetoric Trust in Texts will change the way the history of rhetoric is viewed and taught and will be essential to scholars and students of communications rhetoric English classics and literary studies The History and Theory of Rhetoric James A. Herrick, 2015-08-07 The History and Theory of Rhetoric offers discussion of the history of rhetorical studies in the Western tradition from ancient Greece to contemporary American and European theorists that is easily accessible to students By tracing the historical progression of rhetoric from the Greek Sophists of the 5th Century B C all the way to contemporary studies such as the rhetoric of science and feminist rhetoric this comprehensive text helps students understand how persuasive public discourse performs essential social functions and shapes our daily worlds Students gain conceptual framework for evaluating and practicing persuasive writing and speaking in a wide range of settings and in both written and visual media Known for its clear writing style and contemporary examples throughout The History and Theory of Rhetoric emphasizes the relevance of rhetoric to today's students Rhetoric and the Familiar in Francis Bacon and John Donne Daniel Derrin, 2013-03-08 Rhetoric and the Familiar examines the writing and oratory of Francis Bacon and John Donne from the perspective of the faculty psychology they both inherited Both writers inherited the resources of the classical rhetorical tradition through their university education The book traces from within that tradition the sources of Bacon and Donne's ideas about the processes of mental image making reasoning and passionate feeling It analyzes how knowledge about those mental processes underlies the rhetorical planning of texts by Bacon such as New Atlantis Essayes or Counsells Novum Organum and the parliamentary speeches and of texts by Donne such as the Verse Letters Essayes in Divinity Holy

Sonnets and the sermons The book argues that their rhetorical practices reflect a common appropriation of ideas about mental process from faculty psychology and that they deploy it in divergent ways depending on their rhetorical contexts It demonstrates the vital importance in early modern thinking about rhetoric of considering what familiar remembered material will occur to a given audience how that differs according to context as well as the problems the familiar entails Rhetoric, Science, and Magic in Seventeenth-century England Ryan J. Stark, 2009 Ryan J Stark presents a spiritually sensitive interdisciplinary and original discussion of early modern English rhetoric He shows specifically how experimental philosophers attempted to disenchant language Religion without Belief Jeanne Ellen Petrolle, 2008-06-05 In our present cultural moment when God is supposed to be dead and metaphysical speculation unfashionable why does postmodern fiction in a variety of genres make such frequent use of the ancient rhetorical form of allegory In Religion without Belief Jean Ellen Petrolle argues that contrary to popular understandings of postmodernism as an irreligious and amoral climate postmodern allegory remains deeply engaged in the quest for religious insight Examining a range of films and novels this book shows that postmodern fiction despite its posturing about the unverifiable nature of truth and reality routinely offers theological and cosmological speculation Works considered include virtual reality films such as The Matrix and The Truman Show avant garde films and Amerindian and feminist novels Renewing Rhetoric's Relation to Composition Shane Borrowman, Stuart Brown, Thomas Miller, 2010-02-25 Renewing Rhetoric's Relation to Composition comprehensively examines the development of rhetoric and composition using the writings of Theresa Jarnagin Enos as points of departure for studies of broader trends Chapters explore such topics as the historical relations of rhetoric and composition their evolution within programs of study and Enos's research on gender The volume presents the growing disjunction between rhetoric and composition and paints a compelling picture of the current state of both disciplines as well as their origins This volume acknowledges the influential role that Theresa Enos has had in the writing and rhetoric disciplines Her career provides benchmarks for plotting developments in rhetoric and composition including the evolving relations between the two This collection offers a tribute to her work and to the new directions in the discipline stemming from her research With an all star line up of contributors it also represents the state of the art in rhetoric and composition scholarship and it will serve current and future scholars in both disciplines Living Rhetoric and Composition Duane H. Anglo-American Feminist Challenges to the Rhetorical Traditions Krista Ratcliffe,2016-06-01 Although women and men have different relationships to language and to each other traditional theories of rhetoric do not foreground such gender differences Krista Ratcliffe argues that because feminists generally have not conceptualized their language theories from the perspective of rhetoric and composition studies rhetoric and composition scholars must construct feminist theories of rhetoric by employing a variety of interwoven strategies recovering lost or marginalized texts rereading traditional rhetoric texts extrapolating rhetorical theories from such nonrhetoric texts as letters diaries essays cookbooks and other sources and constructing their own theories of rhetoric Focusing on the third option Ratcliffe explores ways in which the rhetorical theories of Virginia Woolf Mary Daly and Adrienne Rich may be extrapolated from their Anglo American feminist texts through examination of the interrelationship between what these authors write and how they write In other words she extrapolates feminist theories of rhetoric from interwoven claims and textual strategies By inviting Woolf Daly and Rich into the rhetorical traditions and by modeling the extrapolation strategy methodology on their writings Ratcliffe shows how feminist texts about women language and culture may be reread from the vantage point of rhetoric to construct feminist theories of rhetoric She also outlines the pedagogical implications of these three feminist theories of rhetoric thus contributing to ongoing discussions of feminist pedagogies Traditional rhetorical theories are gender blind ignoring the reality that women and men occupy different cultural spaces and that these spaces are further complicated by race and class Ratcliffe explains Arguing that issues such as who can talk where one can talk and how one can talk emerge in daily life but are often disregarded in rhetorical theories Ratcliffe rereads Roland Barthes The Old Rhetoric to show the limitations of classical rhetorical theories for women and feminists Discovering spaces for feminist theories of rhetoric in the rhetorical traditions Ratcliffe invites readers not only to question how women have been located as a part of and apart from these traditions but also to explore the implications for rhetorical history theory and pedagogy

Robert Burton and the Transformative Powers of Melancholy Stephanie Shirilan, 2016-03-03 Few English books are as widely known underread and underappreciated as Robert Burton's The Anatomy of Melancholy Stephanie Shirilan laments that modern scholars often treat the Anatomy as an unmediated repository of early modern views on melancholy overlooking the fact that Burton is writing a cento an ancient form of satire that quotes and misquotes authoritative texts in often subversive ways and that his express intent in so doing is to offer his readers literary therapy for melancholy This book explores the ways in which the Anatomy dispenses both direct physic and more systemic medicine by encouraging readers to think of melancholy as a privileged mental and spiritual acuity that requires cultivation and management rather than cure Refuting the prevailing historiography of anxious early modern embodiment that cites Burton as a key witness Shirilan submits that the Anatomy rejects contemporary Neostoic and Puritan approaches to melancholy She reads Burton's erraticism opacity and theatricality as modes of resistance against demands for constancy transparency and plainness in the popular literature of spiritual and moral hygiene of his day She shows how Burton draws on rhetorical theological and philosophical traditions that privilege the transformative powers of the imagination in order to celebrate melancholic impressionability for its capacity to inspire and engender empathy charity and faith

Ambition, Rank, and Poetry in 1590s England John Huntington, 2001 Ambition Rank and Poetry in 1590s England focuses on the early work of

George Chapman and on the writings of others who shared his social agenda and his nonprivileged status including Christopher Marlowe Ben Jonson and Edmund Spenser as well as neglected writers such as Matthew Roydon and Aemilia Lanyer Rather than placing poetry in the service of traditional social purposes pleasing a patron wooing a woman displaying one's courtly skill teaching morality these writers held up poetry as important for its own sake an idea taken for granted in much modern aesthetics Jacket Contemporary Composition Studies Edith Babin, Kimberly Harrison, 1999-12-30

Composition studies is a rapidly growing and constantly changing field At present however graduate students new to the field and writing teachers who want to make new connections between theory and practice have little choice of current reference works that define key terms in composition studies and provide information about the scholars and researchers who have shaped and are shaping the discipline This book supplies this information in an easily accessible format and places both scholars and terms in the context of the field's development Included are alphabetically arranged entries for 108 individuals who have developed the field and 128 terms central to the discipline The first part of the book provides entries for leaders in composition studies Each entry identifies the areas in which the scholar has contributed most influentially to the field and provides both a chronological overview of the person's contributions and a bibliography of representative works The second part includes entries for terms that are problematic both for newcomers and for those already familiar with the discipline The entries for the terms show how the disciplinary context has shaped the ways in which they have been used The entries also indicate how established thinkers in composition studies and other disciplines have explained or defined the terms provide examples of the terms in context and list scholars often associated with them An appendix includes entries for scholars from other disciplines who have contributed to the field
