teachings of the New Testament do not differ from those of any other ancient religious cult or philosophical system. However dissimilar these various systems may be in their external forms of expression, their nomenclatures, symbolologies and formulations, they are yet at one on every fundamental proposition. This essential unity of all the old religions and philosophies is clearly apparent to every one who studies and compares them with a mind open to receive truth from any source and a heart in sympathy with the nobler aspirations of humanity which seek expression in every age. As an introduction to the profoundly mystical and philosophical Evangel of Iohannis a brief summary is here given of the basic concepts common to all the old philosophies and of the mystical tenets as to the nature of man and his place in the universe material and divine.
