Maharashtra Archives Bulletin Maharashtra (India). Department of Archives,1983 Archives and Archiving in the 21st Century Radhika Seshan,2024-08-09 Archives intersect with our lives in many ways We have archives of our own documenting family memories and histories Then there are larger archives that document different aspects of the past memories identities location time and space This volume explores changing notions of the archive in different areas to trace the ways in which the archives continue to be used in history It examines how history the historian and the archive interact in many ways to look at the past and record it The chapters in this volume discuss an array of diverse and important themes regarding the making and usage of archives which include reconstructing pre modern economic history from the Dutch archives the role of India Office Records in the British Library reading the Rungia Gosavi Affair in 1857 from colonial archives and Uday Shankar s Kalpana as archive besides the usage of archives to study nationalism historiography and literature water and Chola history Mysorean invasions in Kerala and cyberspace The chapters also explore how archives impact and shape our investigations First of its kind this important work will be of interest to scholars and researchers of archival studies research methodology archaeology Indian history ancient history medieval history modern India anthropology and history in general Sindias and the Raj Amar Farooqui,2011 Sindias and the Raj is a study of the Sindia state of Gwalior during the colonial period It traces the history of one of the leading princely states of the British Indian empire from its first major military encounter with the British at the beginning of the century to the eve of the Revolt of 1857 In doing so the book explores the fascinating factional conflicts at the Gwalior durbar and the connections these had with the politics of the powerful Sindia army It argues that the colonial subjugation of Gwalior was a long drawn process spread over nearly five decades and was not sufficiently achieved until the late 1850s certainly not in 1818 as is often assumed by standard histories of the state This resistance was largely due to the very strong tradition in the Gwalior territories of opposition to colonial intervention as seen in a series of popular uprisings during the first half of the century culminating in the events of 1857 58 The tradition was reinforced by the assertiveness vis a vis the East India Company of the dominant section of its ruling class which drew strength from a formidable fighting force comprising soldiers who upheld the legacy of the fierce turn of the century Anglo Maratha military conflict and which was sustained by a resilient economy that profited immensely from opium smuggling These are all linkages that have hitherto remained unexplored Sindias and the Raj also examines the political economy of princely Gwalior while paying close attention to the responses of various classes in the state to colonial intervention responses ranging from outright collaboration to armed conflict It also attempts a reappraisal of several facets of the history of Malwa in the colonial period including the history of the Pindaris and the trade in Malwa opium Indian Archives ,1971 Proceedings of the Session Indian Historical Records Commission,1973
