Mahasutras Volume 1:

Religious Motivation and the Origins of Buddhism Torkel Brekke, 2005-08-10 A contribution to the RoutledgeCurzon Critical Studies in Buddhism series which offers a comprehensive study of the Buddhist tradition Buddhologists are often vague about the methodological foundation on which they base their theories about the origin and development of Buddhism This book seeks to address this issue by opening a discussion about how we seek to explain the origins of Buddhism This discussion is also of importance to the study of the history of religions in general where there is likely a similar lack of consciousness about the origins of Christianity Judaism and Islam Will be of interest to specialists in Buddhist studies and Indology in general It will also interest a wider readership in the academic study of religion due to the fundamental questions that it addresses May cause some controversy and debate owing to the fact that it applies social psychological theory to the study of classical texts

Buddhism , The Mahayana Mahaparinirvana Sutra Tony Page, 2013-03-23 This sutra is the study of what can be called Nirvana Sutra Buddhism or Tathagatagarbha Buddhism It is a very positive balanced faith promoting and spiritually affirmative manifestation of Buddhism which recognises the hidden reality of the unconditioned egoless Buddha Self in all beings That Self of the Buddha is a mystery beyond the reach and grasp of the samsaric intellect while the Buddha Self is real it is certainly not comparable to our worldly selfish self ego and cannot truly be captured within the net of words or concepts Yet it is the only enduring Truth that can ever be found This sutra leads us to the Ultimate Truth and indicate the Path to tread for an Awakening into Reality's presence which is all pervading and eternal That eternally present Truth is the sole genuine Reality You monks should not thus cultivate the notion of impermanence suffering and non Self the notion of impurity and so forth deeming them to be the true meaning of the Dharma as those people searching in a pool for a radiant gem did each thinking that bits of brick stones grass and gravel were the jewel You should train yourselves well in efficacious means In every situation constantly meditate upon the idea of the Self the idea of the Eternal the Bliss and the Pure Those who desirous of attaining Reality meditatively cultivate these ideas namely the ideas of the Self the Eternal the Bliss and the Pure will skilfully bring forth the jewel just like that wise person who obtained the genuine priceless gem rather than worthless detritus misperceived as the real thing The Buddha Chapter Three The Mahayana Mahaparinirvana Sutra
