

Magic Moments

Magic moments happen in our lives when we are kissed by an angel under the moonlight.

A magic moment we cling on to,
just one of the many magic moments our lives pass through.

The sweet scent of flowers that surround us in the summer while love lingers in the air, more magic moments there.

Magic moments that fill our lives with joy, moments that rekindle love's dying flame making it burn strong again.

My Mother was a Freedom Fighter Aja Monet, 2017 Powerful poetic meditations on motherhood sisterhood spirituality solidarity displacement gentrification racism and sexism This Crazy Devotion Philip Terman, 2020-08 Poetry Jewish Studies Philip Terman's latest poetry collection THIS CRAZY DEVOTION begins appropriately enough with Tormented Meshuggenehs the crazy sages who dervished across the hayfields and paused to yawp a parable to the cows about the seven beggars This passage announces much about the poetry that follows that its craziness indeed is of the order of devotion in the spiritual sense rooted in Judaism and also that it often takes place in bucolic surroundings rooted in the land And why is this a little surprising this conjunction of Jewish life and rural setting For Terman they are seamless and sacred and by portraying his Jewishness as woven through a life and landscape familiar to many non Jewish readers he dispels stereotypes and creates a community of mutual recognition and understanding That would be virtue enough to applaud this collection but it offers many other pleasures I am talking about this world there is no other he declares in the long and lovely meditative Garden Chronicle that forms the final section of the book Such a world it is full of all of the things to which he is crazily devoted all of the things he writes about with such acuity and tenderness in these poems heritage and faith social justice poetry and even in the title poem almost meeting Bob Dylan but foremost his family and nature both of which sustain him He communes with ancestors a grandfather he was too young to remember who must have sung to him in Yiddish and who he supposes just might have posed for Chagall He imagines the radio interview his father might have given replete with Borscht Belt humor and recalls going for bagels with the schlemiel who dated your sister in law after your brother died He devotes the second section Of Longing and Chutzpah to memories of his mother and in one of the most humorous and poignant moments recalls how in childhood his mother cut his hair to save money an act Terman likens to sculpting him into all the things she might have wished him to be the boy she wants to be a mensch Based on the accounting he gives here she succeeded She also carved out a considerable poet Most of all he writes of The love of the long married of children at the kitchen table doing homework waiting on a school bus which arrives bearing all the hopes and happiness in the world He gives the last word to the daughter whose question After Later signifies no set time farther than the horizon on top of the sky around the bend outside this moment we're in when perhaps all those things they said would happen must surely have occurred Such a lovely description of faith so worthy of devotion Useless Magic Florence Welch, 2018-07-05 The perfect gift for fans of Florence the Machine with additional lyrics poems and a new chapter of sermons Songs can be incredibly prophetic like subconscious warnings or messages to myself but I often don't know what I'm trying to say till years later Or a prediction comes true and I couldn't do anything to stop it so it seems like a kind of useless magic Pop's high priestess bares her soul in this candid collection of poems and lyrics Observer A treasure beautiful Generous in its honesty by the end you feel as though you have climbed into the colourful and sometimes tortured world of a passionate artist i Makes the reader feel as though they're peeking into a private journal Refinery29

Magic Moments Philomena Moon, 2006 Poetry, Signs, and Magic Thomas M. Greene, 2005 Poetry Signs and Magic brings together in a single volume fourteen new and previously published essays by the eminent Renaissance scholar and literary critic Thomas M. Greene This collection looks back toward two earlier volumes by Greene his first essay collection The Vulnerable Text: Essays on Renaissance Literature and Poesie et Magie whose theme is here explored again at greater length and depth from linguistic and literary critical perspectives Greene argues that certain poetic gestures draw their peculiar strengths by serving as vestiges of poetry's ancestral acts magic prayer and invocation Poetry in other words feigns an earlier power but in this diminishment there occurs a verbal subtlety and figural poignancy commonly associated with art's aesthetic pleasures Greene employs his well-known skills as a close reader to texts by a range of writers including a variety of contemporary theorists in diverse contexts the distinction between disjunctive and conjunctive linguistics dual theories of sound and meaning of crucial importance to Plato and Aristotle to Catholic and Protestant debates on the sacraments to the more recent skeptical methodologies of Derrida and de Man Thomas M. Greene was a Professor of English and Comparative Literature at Yale University We Were All Someone Else Yesterday Omar Holmon, 2020-05-12 A hybrid text that deals most urgently in the articulation of growth and grief After the loss of his mother Omar Holmon re-learns how to live by immersing himself in popular culture becoming well-versed in using the many modes of pop culture to spell out his emotions This book is made up of both poems and essays drenched in both sadness and unmistakable humor Teeming with references that are touchable no matter what you do or don't know this book feels warm and inviting
