Magic, Science, and Religion in Early Modern Europe Mark A. Waddell,2021-01-28 From the recovery of ancient ritual magic at the height of the Renaissance to the ignominious demise of alchemy at the dawn of the Enlightenment Mark A Waddell explores the rich and complex ways that premodern people made sense of their world He describes a time when witches flew through the dark of night to feast on the flesh of unbaptized infants magicians conversed with angels or struck pacts with demons and astrologers cast the horoscopes of royalty Ground breaking discoveries changed the way that people understood the universe while in laboratories and coffee houses philosophers discussed how to reconcile the scientific method with the veneration of God This engaging illustrated new study introduces readers to the vibrant history behind the emergence of the modern world

Ritual Medical Lore of Sephardic Women Isaac Jack Lévy,Rosemary Lévy Zumwalt,2002 Winner of the Ellii Kongas Maranda Prize from the Women s Section of the American Folklore Society 2003

Ritual Medical Lore of Sephardic Women preserves the precious remnants of a rich culture on the verge of extinction while affirming women's pivotal role in the health of their communities. Centered around extensive interviews with elders of the Sephardic communities of the former Ottoman Empire, this volume illuminates a fascinating complex of preventive and curative rituals conducted by women at home, rituals that ensured the physical and spiritual well-being of the community and functioned as a vital counterpart to the public rites conducted by men in the synagogues. Isaac Jack Levy and Rosemary Levy Zumwalt take us into the homes and families of Sephardim in Turkey, Israel, Greece, the former Yugoslavia, and the United States to unravel the ancient practices of domestic healing, the network of blessings and curses tailored to every occasion of daily life, the beliefs and customs surrounding mal ojo (evil eye), espanto (fright), and echizo (witchcraft), and cures involving everything from herbs, oil, and sugar to the powerful mumia (mummy) made from dried bones of corpses. For the Sephardim, curing an illness required discovering its spiritual cause, which might be unintentional thought or speech, accident, or magical incantation. The healing rituals of domesticated medicine provided a way of making sense of illness and a way of shaping behavior to fit the narrow constraints of a tightly structured community. Tapping a rich and irreplaceable vein of oral testimony, Ritual Medical Lore of Sephardic Women offers fascinating insight into a culture where profound spirituality permeated every aspect of daily life.

Plato's Symposium Frisbee Sheffield, 2006-07-20 Frisbee Sheffield argues that the Symposium has been unduly marginalized by philosophers. Although the topic, eros, and the setting at a symposium have seemed anomalous, she demonstrates that both are intimately related to Plato's preoccupation with the nature of the good life, with virtue, and how it is acquired and transmitted. For Plato, analysing our desires is a way of reflecting on the kind of people we will turn out to be and on our chances of leading a worthwhile and happy life. In its focus on the question why he considered desires to be amenable to this type of reflection, this book explores Plato's ethics of desire.

Every Human Love Joanna Pearson, 2019 The fourteen stories in Every Human Love redefine our sense of reality. Set seemingly in the quotidian, these tales veer into the unexpected, the uncomfortable, occasionally the eerie, thrusting characters in crisis into still greater quandaries where the world of weddings and work, of frustrated hopes and mundane dissatisfactions, collides with a realm of legend, of fairy tale, of nightmare.

The Devil's Doctor Philip Ball, 2006-04-18 Publisher description Mummies, Myth and Magic in Ancient Egypt Christine El Mahdy, 1991 How the practice of mummification arose, how it was perfected, and how it came to play a central part in the ancient Egyptian quest for eternal life.
