You Cannot Surge Trust Gary E. Weir, Sandra J. Doyle, U. S. Naval History & Heritage Command, 2013-10 From the foreword As our nation and our Navy shift their focus away from the land wars in Iraq and Afghanistan that have so dominated our internal conversations for more than a decade and pivot toward the Asia Pacific region it is most appropriate that this study You Cannot Surge Trust should make its appearance The assembled authors under the assured editorial hand of Sandra Doyle bring forward a series of episodes that demonstrate the evolving and increasingly important nature of maritime coalition operations around the world Beginning with a look at maritime interception operations in the Arabian Gulf during Operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm this work moves forward through the post Cold War era to include recent operations in the Middle East and central Asia Written from a multinational point of view the analysis suggests that nations even superpowers are increasingly dependent upon each other for support during major combat operations and that only by frequent consultation exercises cooperation in technology development and understanding of force structure capabilities will future maritime coalitions be successful This study also advances a larger argument regarding the relevance of naval and maritime history in defense policy development The challenges faced by coalition forces during the 1991 to 2005 period are not so different from what confronted those who sailed before The crews of Continental Navy ships during the American Revolution had difficulty keeping up with French ships owing to differences in the size of the respective fleets and individual ship design During World Wars I and II the U S and Royal navies consistently had to overcome problems inherent in differences in classification and communications Lastly in the increasingly geopolitical complexities of modern warfare illustrated by our experiences operating alongside allies in Korea and Vietnam history reveals that the different rules of engagement under which nations exercise their forces can cause conflicts within a partnership even as the partners prosecute a conflict Each of these issues has been raised before each is examined within You Cannot Surge Trust and each will raise its head again in some future hostility

Redcoats and Petticoats Katherine Kirkpatrick, 2018-08-10 When the American Revolution arrives in Thomas Strong's sleepy Long Island village his life is turned upside down His church becomes a fort for the British and a company of Redcoats are quartered in his family's home But worst of all his father is arrested as a traitor and taken away It's no wonder that Thomas's mother seems to have been affected in the head She washes and rewashes handkerchiefs and petticoats so that her clothesline is continually full of laundry The errands on which she sends Thomas are not only peculiar but dangerous since they take him right past a Redcoat encampment At first Thomas doesn't know what to make of his mother's behavior but as he keeps his eyes and ears open he begins to suspect that things are not necessarily as they seem Katherine Kirkpatrick's captivating story is based on the Culper Spy Ring which operated on Long Island and in Connecticut from 1778-1783 Its purpose was to send messages to General George Washington about the activities of the British Army in New York City Ronald Himler's dramatic watercolor illustrations bring this pivotal period of U.S. history to life for contemporary readers Katherine Kirkpatrick grew up near Setauket in Stony Brook New York She first learned of Anna Nancy Strong's role in the Culper Spy Ring from Strong's great great granddaughter Kate Strong whom she interviewed for a fourth grade project Kirkpatrick has published eight books for children and young adults both fiction and nonfiction She lives in Seattle Washington Visit her at <http://katherinekirkpatrick.com> Ronald Himler has illustrated over a hundred books for children His paintings also appear in art galleries throughout the Southwest where he is highly acclaimed for his portraits of the Plains Indians He lives in Tucson Arizona To find out more about his work visit <http://www.ronhimler.com> Aleuts Roza G.
