reveals intriguing and often unsettling insights into the mysteries of the human mind What do we see when we watch a magician pull a rabbit out of a hat or read a person s mind We are captivated by an illusion we applaud the fact that we have been fooled Why do we enjoy experiencing what seems clearly impossible or at least beyond our powers of explanation In Experiencing the Impossible Gustav Kuhn examines the psychological processes that underpin our experience of magic Kuhn a psychologist and a magician reveals the intriguing and often unsettling insights into the human mind that the scientific study of magic provides Magic Kuhn explains creates a cognitive conflict between what we believe to be true for example a rabbit could not be in that hat and what we experience a rabbit has just come out of that hat Drawing on the latest psychological neurological and philosophical research he suggests that misdirection is at the heart of all magic tricks and he offers a scientific theory of misdirection He explores among other topics our propensity for magical thinking the malleability of our perceptual experiences forgetting and misremembering free will and mind control and how magic is applied outside entertainment the use of illusion in human computer interaction politics warfare and elsewhere We may be surprised to learn how little of the world we actually perceive how little we can trust what we see and remember and how little we are in charge of our thoughts and actions Exploring magic Kuhn illuminates the complex and almost magical mechanisms underlying our daily activities Abbott's Encyclopedia of Rope Tricks for Magicians Stewart James, 2012-08-21

McLeanJr.,2021-10-21 This study affords an entirely new view of the nature of modern popular entertainment American vaudeville is here regarded as the carefully elaborated ritual serving the different and paradoxical myth of the new urban folk It demonstrates that the compulsive myth making faculty in man is not limited to primitive ethnic groups or to serious art that vaudeville cannot be dismissed as meaningless and irrelevant simply because it fits neither the criteria of formal criticism or the familiar patterns of anthropological study Using the methods for criticism developed by Susanne K Langer and others the author evaluates American vaudeville as a symbolic manifestation of basic values shared by the American people during the period 1885 1930 By examining vaudeville as folk ritual the book reveals the unconscious symbolism basic to vaudeville in its humor magic animal acts music and playlets and also in the performers and the managers which gave form to the dominant American myth of success This striking view of the new mass man as a folk and of his mythology rooted in the very empirical science devoted to dispelling myth has implications for the serious study of all forms of mass entertainment in America The book is illustrated with a number of striking photographs The Old and the New Magic Henry Ridgely Evans,2019-11-22 The Old and the New Magic by Henry Ridgely Evans Henry Ridgely Evans was an American amateur magician and magic historian His passion for magic inspired him to bring the history of the art to the masses In this book he describes the evolution of magic and how the at the time modern rendition of the field came to be after years of mysticism misunderstanding and even the influences of the occult The New Encyclopedia of Stage Hypnotism Ormond McGill,1994-05-25 This phenomenal work by the Dean of American Hypnotists is the most comprehensive text ever to be published on stage hypnotism It also has widespread therapeutic applications A masterwork on Stage Hypnosis Gil Boyne President American Council of Hypnotist Examiners A Magician Among the Spirits Harry Houdini,2023-11-21 This is a book about spiritualism written by a self professed sceptic In the opening sentence of his preface Houdini says Gladly would I embrace Spiritualism if it could prove its claims but I am not willing to be deluded by so called psychics He discusses the origins of spiritualism and describes some

Dance Hall & Picture Palace Jill Julius Matthews,2005 This book paints Sydney between the depressions of the 1890s and the 1930s as a prosperous city riding an international wave of modernism In the pub parlour and pulpit people clashed over the significance of moving pictures jazz new dance crazes the radio gramophone records and cheap magazines Conventional accounts of the Australian film industry at the beginning of the twentieth century focus on the impact of Hollywood on local production But in this vibrant history the author shows how moving pictures captured the imagination of Sydneys people and transformed how they thought about the world Jill Julius Matthews describes how in Sydney as elsewhere young flappers came to embody both glamour and decadence in modern city life She uncovers entrepreneurs bribing politicians as they aggressively pursued profits for their American patrons and reveals the innovative marketing techniques that provoked cultural elites to deplore commercialisation Our Magic Nevil Maskelyne,David Devant,1946 Scarne's Magic Tricks John Scarne,2003-03-14 Read minds Make objects disappear and then reappear One of the great magicians of all time reveals how to perform 200 masterful deceptions without training or special equipment to audiences of all sizes The Psychology of Magic and the Magic of Psychology Amir Raz,Jay A. Olson,Gustav Kuhn,2016-11-18 Magicians have dazzled audiences for many centuries however few researchers have studied how let alone why most tricks work The psychology of magic is a nascent field of research that examines the underlying mechanisms that conjurers use to achieve enchanting phenomena including sensory illusions misdirection of attention and the appearance of mind control and nuanced persuasion Most studies to date have focused on either the psychological principles involved in watching and performing magic or neuromagic the neural correlates of such phenomena Whereas performers sometimes question the contributions that modern science may offer to the advancement of the magical arts the history of magic reveals that scientific discovery often charts new territories for magicians In this research topic we sketch out the symbiotic relationship between psychological science and the art of magic On the one hand magic can inform psychology with particular benefits for the cognitive social developmental and transcultural components of behavioural science Magicians have a large and robust set of effects that most researchers rarely exploit Incorporating these effects into existing experimental even clinical paradigms paves the road to innovative trajectories in the study of human behaviour For example magic provides an elegant way to study the behaviour of participants who may believe they had made choices that they actually did not make Moreover magic fosters a more ecological approach to experimentation whereby scientists can probe participants in more natural environments compared to the traditional lab based settings Examining how magicians consistently influence spectators for example can elucidate important aspects in the study of persuasion trust decision making and even processes spanning authorship and agency Magic thus offers a largely underused armamentarium for the behavioural scientist and clinician On the other hand psychological science can advance the art of magic The psychology of deception a relatively understudied field explores the intentional creation of false beliefs and how people often go wrong Understanding how to methodically exploit the tenuous twilight zone of human vulnerabilities perceptual logical emotional and temporal becomes all the more revealing when top down influences including expectation symbolic thinking and framing join the fray Over the years science has permitted magicians to concoct increasingly effective routines and to elicit heightened feelings of wonder from audiences Furthermore on occasion science leads to the creation of novel effects or the refinement of existing ones based on systematic methods For example by simulating a specific card routine using a series of computer stimuli researchers have decomposed the effect and reconstructed it into a more effective routine Other magic effects depend on meaningful psychological knowledge such as which type of information is difficult to retain or what changes capture attention Behavioural scientists measure and study these factors By combining analytical findings with performer intuitions psychological science begets effective magic Whereas science strives on parsimony and independent replication of results magic thrives on reproducing the same effect with multiple methods to obscure parsimony and minimise detection This Research Topic explores the seemingly orthogonal approaches of scientists and magicians by highlighting the crosstalk as well as rapprochement between psychological science and the art of deception
