Magical Names In Egypt:

Magical Names in Egypt E. A. Wallis Budge, 2005-12 This scarce antiquarian book is a facsimile reprint of the original Due to its age it may contain imperfections such as marks notations marginalia and flawed pages Because we believe this work is culturally important we have made it available as part of our commitment for protecting preserving and promoting the world s literature in affordable high quality modern editions that are true to the original work Egyptian Magic Sir Ernest Alfred Thompson Wallis Budge, 2020-09-28 Egyptian magic dates from the time when the predynastic and prehistoric dwellers in Egypt believed that the earth and the underworld and the air and the sky were peopled with countless beings visible and invisible which were held to be friendly or unfriendly to man according as the operations of nature which they were supposed to direct were favourable or unfavourable to him In nature and attributes these beings were thought by primitive man to closely resemble himself and to possess all human passions and emotions and weaknesses and defects and the chief object of magic was to give man the pre eminence over such beings The favour of the beings who were placable and friendly to man might be obtained by means of gifts and offerings but the cessation of hostilities on the part of those that were implacable and unfriendly could only be obtained by wheedling and cajolery and flattery or by making use of an amulet or secret name or magical formula or figure or picture which had the effect of bringing to the aid of the mortal who possessed it the power of a being that was mightier than the foe who threatened to do evil to him The magic of most early nations aimed at causing the transference of power from a supernatural being to man whereby he was to be enabled to obtain superhuman results and to become for a time as mighty as the original possessor of the power but the object of Egyptian magic was to endow man with the means of compelling both friendly and hostile powers nay at a later time even God Himself to do what he wished whether they were willing or not The belief in magic the word being used in its best sense is older in Egypt than the belief in God and it is certain that a very large number of the Egyptian religious ceremonies which were performed in later times as an integral part of a highly spiritual worship had their origin in superstitious customs which date from a period when God under any name or in any form was unconceived in the minds of the Egyptians Indeed it is probable that even the use of the sign which represents an axe and which stands the hieroglyphic character both for God and god indicates that this weapon and tool was employed in the performance of some ceremony connected with religious magic in prehistoric or at any rate in predynastic times when it in some mysterious way symbolized the presence of a supreme Power But be this as it may it is quite certain that magic and religion developed and flourished side by side in Egypt throughout all periods of her history and that any investigation which we may make of the one necessarily includes an examination of the other Magic in Ancient Egypt Geraldine Pinch, 2010-03-01 The Egyptians were famous in the ancient world for their knowledge of magic Religion medicine technology and what we would call magic coexisted without apparent conflict and it was not unusual for magical and practical remedies for illness for example to be used side by side Everyone

This volume collects studies exploring the relationship of Christians and Muslims in everyday life in Early Islamic Egypt 642-10th c, focusing mainly but not exclusively on administrative and social history. The contributions concentrate on the papyrological documentation preserved in Greek, Coptic and Arabic. By doing so, this book transcends traditional disciplinary boundaries and offers results based on a holistic view of the documentary material. The articles of this volume discuss various aspects of change and continuity from Byzantine to Islamic Egypt and offer also the re-edition of 23 papyrus documents in Greek, Coptic and Arabic. The authors provide a showcase of recent papyrological research on this under-studied but dynamically evolving field. After an introduction by the editor of the volume that outlines the most important trends and developments of the period, the first two essays shed light on Egypt as part of the Caliphate. The following six articles, the bulk of the volume, deal with the interaction and involvement of the Egyptian population with the new Muslim administrative apparatus. The last three studies of the volume focus on naming practices and language change. Fragment of a Græco-Egyptian Work Upon Magic Charles Wycliffe Goodwin, 1852.
