Magills Literary Annual 1990s Of 1989:

Magill's Literary Annual, 1990 Frank N. Magill, 1990      Magill's Literary Annual, 1990 Frank Northen
Magill, 1990-07-01      Magill's Literary Annual 2003 Salem Press, 2003-06
Magill's Literary Annual 2003 is the fiftieth publication in a series that began in 1954. The philosophy behind the annual has been to evaluate critically 200 major examples of serious literature published during the previous year. Our focus is to provide coverage for works that are likely to be of particular interest to the general reader that reflect the publishing trends of a given year that add to careers of authors being taught and researched in literature programs and that will stand the test of time. By filtering the thousands of books published each year down to two hundred notable titles, the editors have provided the busy librarian with an excellent reader's advisory tool and patrons with fodder for book discussion groups and a guide for selection. The essay reviews in the Annual also provide a more academic reference review of a work than is typically found in newspapers and other periodical sources. This year's works are drawn from such categories as anthropology, autobiography, biography, current affairs, diaries, economics, environment, essays, history, language, literary criticism, medicine, memoirs, nature, philosophy, poetry, psychology, religion, science, short fiction, sociology, technology, travel, and women's issues. The articles are arranged alphabetically by book title. A complete list of included titles can be found at the beginning of volume 1. Each 2,000 word article begins with a block of top matter that indicates the title, author, publisher, and price of the work. When possible, the year of the author's birth is also provided. The top matter also includes the number of pages of the book, the type of work, and when appropriate, the time period and locale represented in the text. Next comes a capsule description of the work. When pertinent, a list of principal characters or personages with brief descriptions introduces the review. These original essay reviews analyze intent and relative success of the author and the work under discussion. To assist the reader further, the articles are supplemented by a list of additional reviews for further study. Every essay includes a brief biography of the author or authors and thumbnail photographs of the book covers, and authors are included as available. At the end of volume 2 are four cumulative indexes listing works covered from the years 1977 to 2003: an index of Biographical Works by Subject, a Category Index, a Title Index, and an Author Index. The index of Biographical Works by Subject is arranged by subject rather than by author or title.      The Short Story Charles May, 2013-10-14
The short story is one of the most difficult types of prose to write and one of the most pleasurable to read. From Boccaccio's Decameron to The Collected Stories of Reynolds Price, Charles May gives us an understanding of the history and structure of this demanding form of fiction. Beginning with a general history of the genre, he moves on to focus on the nineteenth century when the modern short story began to come into focus. From there, he moves on to later nineteenth century realism and early twentieth century formalism and finally to the modern renaissance of the form that shows no signs of abating. A chronology of significant events, works, and figures from the genre's history, notes and references, and an extensive bibliographic essay with recommended reading round out the volume.      Shakespeare

Harty,2015-08-13 Those tales of old King Arthur Robin Hood The Crusades Marco Polo Joan of Arc have been told and retold and the tradition of their telling has been gloriously upheld by filmmaking from its very inception From the earliest of Georges Melies's films in 1897 to a 1996 animated Hunchback of Notre Dame film has offered not just fantasy but exploration of these roles so vital to the modern psyche St Joan has undergone the transition from peasant girl to self-assured saint and Camelot has transcended the soundstage to evoke the Kennedys in the White House Here is the first comprehensive survey of more than 900 cinematic depictions of the European Middle Ages date of production country of origin director production company cast and a synopsis and commentary A bibliography index and over 100 stills complete this remarkable work      Forthcoming Books Rose Army,2002      Saul Bellow and the Struggle at the Center Eugene Hollahan,1996 Based upon the autumn 1984 issue of Studies in the Literary Imagination this volume retains some earlier essays and adds new examinations of the entire oeuvre of Bellow There are essays by recognized scholars as well as several by emerging Bellow scholars As a continuing examination of a living writer this collection will serve to address questions that the volume editor has determined are of most importance Eugene Hollahan has written wherever Bellow's philosophical development has led him we must look at his latest novel to discover that position      Reading Race Norman K Denzin,2002-03-29 In this insightful book one of America's leading commentators on culture and society turns his gaze upon cinematic race relations examining the relationship between film race and culture Acute richly illustrated and timely the book deepens our understanding of the politics of race and the symbolic complexity of segregation and discrimination      Synthesizing Systems Anna Darden Copeland,2007-02-22 The purpose of this dissertation is to introduce a general reading audience to the major themes found in the fiction of Richard Powers with an emphasis on his use of science For Powers science is something more than the accumulation of technical data and the proliferation of theories developed to explain physical phenomena It is an evolving body of knowledge which has important insights to contribute into the conditions which ground human experience The close and often detailed discussions of contemporary issues in science which Powers incorporates into his fiction indicate the extent to which he sees science as an inseparable component in any attempt to understand the complexities of human experience The common ground Powers uses to link the interests of science and those of fiction into a balanced if not always harmonious pursuit of truth is wonder The limitations placed on science during this century do not undermine the ability of science to influence what we can know Nor do these limitations diminish the ability of science to inspire wonder Quite the opposite For Powers the true wonder of the human intellect rests in our remarkable ability to balance observation and interpretation What he discovers again and again in his fiction is that science like literature is a product of the human imagination a way to mediate between the world and our perceptions of it The recognition that science is a cultural practice a body of knowledge thoroughly imbued with the practices and prejudices of its historical surroundings is a necessary first step in mending the rift separating science and literature head and heart The greatest insight of twentieth century science may just be the recognition that there are other ways to access the truth Richard Powers skillful weaving of science and art is a testament that literature offers a unique vantage point from which we might learn something of value about ourselves and the world we inhabit

Science Fiction and Fantasy Reference Index, 1985-1991 Halbert W. Hall, 1993

The Dickens Industry Laurence W. Mazzeno, 2008 The story of the surprisingly fluctuating critical reputation of one of the great writers of the English language Undoubtedly the best selling author of his day and well loved by readers in succeeding generations Charles Dickens was not always a favorite among critics Celebrated for his novels advocating social reform for half a century after his death he was ridiculed by those academics who condescended to write about him Only the faithful band of devotees who called themselves Dickensians kept alive an interest in his work Then during the Second World War he was resurrected by critics and was soon being hailed as the foremost writer of his age a literary genius alongside Shakespeare and Milton More recently Dickens has again been taken to task by a new breed of literary theorists who fault his chauvinism and imperialist attitudes Whether he has been adored or despised however one thing is certain no other Victorian novelist has generated more critical commentary This book traces Dickens's reputation from the earliest reviews through the work of early 21st century commentators showing how judgments of Dickens changed with new standards for evaluating fiction Mazzeno balances attention to prominent critics from the late 19th century through the first three quarters of the 20th with an emphasis on the past three decades during which literary theory has opened up new ways of reading Dickens What becomes clear is that in attempting to provide fresh insight into Dickens's writings critics often reveal as much about the predilections of their own age as they do about the novelist Laurence W Mazzeno is President Emeritus of Alvernia University Reading Pennsylvania
