Sharing Authority in the Museum Michelle Horwood, 2018-11-06 Sharing Authority in the Museum provides a detailed and fully contextualised study of a heritage assemblage over time from the mid nineteenth century to the present day Focussing on M ori objects predominantly originating from the Ng Paerangi tribe housed in Oxford s Pitt Rivers Museum the book examines the nuances of cross cultural interactions between an indigenous community and an anthropological museum Analysis centres on the legacy of historic ethnographic collecting on indigenous communities and museums and the impact of different value systems and world views on access to heritage objects Questions of curatorial responsibilities and authority over access rights are explored Proposing a method for indigenous engagement to address this legacy and making recommendations to guide participants when forging relationships based around indigenous cultural heritage Michelle Horwood shows how to negotiate power and authority within these assemblages She argues that by doing this and acknowledging and communicating our difficult histories together we can move from collaborative approaches to shared authority and indigenous self determination progressing the task of decolonising the museum Addressing a salient complex issue by way of a grounded case study Sharing Authority in the Museum is key reading for museum practitioners working with ethnographic collections as well as scholars and students working in the fields of museum heritage Indigenous or cultural studies It should also be of great interest to indigenous communities wishing to take the lessons learned from Ng

Paerangi's experiences further within their own spheres of museum engagement

Ki Te Whaiao Tania Ka'ai, 2004 Ki te Whaiao An Introduction to M ori Culture and Society is intended for students of M ori studies at tertiary institutions. It is also aimed at several other audiences: those M ori who want to know more about their own world; P keh living in this country; and people from overseas who want to learn about the history of the Indigenous people of Aotearoa New Zealand. The book describes traditional and contemporary M ori society and its interaction with P keh society since first contact. It gives expression to the voices and words of M ori scholars and those informed by their world view. Emphasis has been placed on the clarification of M ori cultural concepts throughout in order to give readers a deeper understanding of the M ori world and to excite their interest in the key themes developed throughout the text. The book has been arranged in two parts. Part one is called Te Ao M ori The M ori World and examines a series of topics encompassing tribal histories about the creation of important cultural concepts, the migration journeys to Aotearoa, the origins of the M ori language, cultural traditions and practices, leadership and M ori performing and fine arts. Part two Ng Ao e Rua The Two Worlds examines early contact between M ori and P keh, the Treaty and related issues, religion, sovereignty, education and literature, and ends with a chapter on the Pacific peoples in Aotearoa New Zealand.

Museums and the Making of "ourselves" Flora E. S. Kaplan, Flora S. Kaplan, 1994. This volume chronicles the ways in which museum collections have played important roles in creating national identity and in promoting national agendas.

Musées et restitutions, 2021-01-14. De qui les cultures et leurs objets? Elles sont elles la propriété? La réponse n'est pas simplement économique, juridique ou muséographique, elle engage l'histoire humaine. Ce volume aborde les débats contemporains sur la question des restitutions d'œuvres d'art et d'objets de culture et sur la notion de musée comme gage d'écologie, c'est-à-dire de colonisation de conservation des patrimoines. Il ne concerne pas seulement les relations entre l'Afrique et la France, mais l'ensemble des cultures mondiales. On y trouve ainsi un témoignage sur la restitution d'un bien hopi, on y voyage de la Nouvelle Zélande aux Amériques en passant par le Cameroun, le Sénégal, le Bénin, le musée du quai Branly, la Normandie et l'île de Pâques.

Te aka John Cornelius Moorfield, 2005. This dictionary and index comprises a selection of modern and everyday language that will be extremely useful for learners of the Maori language. It has a broader scope than traditional dictionaries so as well as the words one would usually expect in a dictionary, it also includes encyclopaedic entries designed to provide key information, explanations of key concepts central to Maori culture, comprehensive explanations for grammatical items with examples of usage, idioms and colloquialisms with their meanings and examples.

Contemporary Art Terry E. Smith, 2011. Contemporary Art World Currents is the first comprehensive worldwide survey of contemporary art from the 1980s to the present day. Author Terry Smith argues that in recent decades a global shift from modern to contemporary art has occurred; artists everywhere have embraced the contemporary world's teeming multiplicity its proliferating differences and its challenging complexities and new technologies. Alongside more than 350 carefully selected color images of key works, Terry Smith offers the first account of these changes from their historical beginnings to the present day. Exploring key works by both well-known and little-known artists, the author shows how contemporary art achieved definitive force in the markets and museums of the major art centres during the 1980s and then became a global phenomenon as artworlds everywhere began to connect more closely. New communicative technologies and expanding social media are now shaping the future of art.

Contemporary Art World Currents breaks new ground in tracing how modern traditional and indigenous art became contemporary in each cultural region of the world, ranging across Western, East and Central Europe, North and South America and the Caribbean, Oceania, Africa and the Middle East. Terry Smith lays the groundwork for a new comparative approach to contemporary art, emphasizing its relationships to all aspects of contemporary life. He argues that it is cultural diversity and individual artistic inventiveness, not a convergence towards sameness, which makes today's art contemporary.

Contemporary Art World Currents brings the subject right up to date, highlighting the concerns of contemporary artists while giving the reader an invaluable insight to art today. Teaching and Learning Experience: Improve Critical Thinking. Explore how contemporary art has become a global connected phenomenon. Engage Students. Looks at the work of contemporary artists from across the world. Support Instructors. Image PowerPoint slides are available for Contemporary Art World Currents.

Everything You Know about Indians is Wrong Paul Chaat Smith, 2009. In this sweeping work of memoir and commentary, leading cultural critic Paul Chaat Smith illustrates with dry wit and brutal honesty the contradictions of life in the Indian business. Raised in suburban Maryland and Oklahoma, Smith dove head first into the political radicalism of the 1970s, working with the American Indian Movement until it dissolved into dysfunction and infighting. Afterward, he lived in New York, the city of choice for political exiles, and eventually arrived in Washington, D.C., at the newly minted National Museum of the American Indian, a bad idea whose time has come as a curator. In his journey from fighting activist to federal employee, Smith tells us he has discovered at least two things: there is no one true representation of the American Indian experience, and even the best of intentions sometimes ends in catastrophe.

Everything You Know about Indians Is Wrong is a highly entertaining and at times searing critique of the deeply disputed role of American Indians in the United States. In A Place Called Irony, Smith whizzes through his early life, showing us the ironic pop culture signposts that marked this Native American's coming of age in suburbia. We would order Chinese food and slap a favorite video into the machine, the Grammy Awards or a Reagan press conference, and argue about Cyndi Lauper or who should coach the Knicks. In Lost in Translation, Smith explores why American Indians are so often misunderstood and misrepresented in today's media. We're lousy television. In Every Picture Tells a Story, Smith remembers his Comanche grandfather as he muses on the images of American Indians as a half-remembered presence, both comforting and dangerous, lurking just below the surface. Smith walks this tightrope between comforting and dangerous offering unrepentant skepticism and ultimately empathy This book is called Everything You Know about Indians Is Wrong but it s a book title folks not to be taken literally Of course I don t mean everything just most things And you really means we as in all of us

Sakahàn Greg A. Hill,Candice Hopkins,Christine Lalonde,2013 This book celebrates a growing international commitment to the collection study and exhibition of Indigenous art Featuring more than 75 artists from around the world this remarkable project places indigenous art squarely at the centre of contemporary art produced today As well as providing an outstanding opportunity to see work by some of the most innovative contemporary artists this ambitious publication allows us to build knowledge and further understanding These artworks cite histories stories and perspectives that emerge from specific local contexts and as we live in an increasingly globalized world these events affect us all Unexpected and challenging this profusely illustrated publication features over 150 artworks by artists from a wide range of countries notably Canada the United States Mexico Australia India Japan Finland and Guatemala and many more
