Schmidt, 2016-03-01 In this thoughtful novel Kimberly D Schmidt brings to life the history of Plains Indian women and the white invasion an account not solely of violence and bloodshed but also of healing and forgiveness Magpie's Blanket begins with the story of a young Southern Cheyenne woman who survived the horrific Sand Creek Massacre in 1864 only to witness a second attack on her people at the Washita Massacre in 1868 Through the memories of three generations of Cheyenne people the novel recounts the events of the massacres and the century late reconciliation after the townspeople's misguided attempt to re create the battle of the Washita with descendants of US soldiers Stubborn Poetries Peter Quartermain, 2013-06-25 Stubborn Poetries is a study of poets whose work because of its difficulty or simple resistance to conventional explication remains more or less firmly outside the canon Book jacket Slova Straky/Magpie Words, Musorgsky Michel D. Calvocoressi, 1919 Morphologically complex words in the mind/brain Alina Leminen, Harald Clahsen, Minna Lehtonen, Mirjana Bozic, 2016-04-07 The question of how morphologically complex words assignment listened are represented and processed in the brain has been one of the most hotly debated topics in the cognitive neuroscience of language Do complex words engage cortical representations and processes equivalent to single lexical objects or are they processed as sequences of separate morpheme like units Research on morphological processing has suggested that adults make efficient use of both lexical i.e. whole word storage and retrieval as well as combinatorial computation in processing morphologically complex words Psycholinguistic studies have demonstrated that processing of complex words can be affected both by properties of the morphemes and the whole words such as their frequency transparency and regularity Furthermore this research has been informative about the time course of complex word recognition and production and the role of morphological structure in these processes At the neural level left hemisphere inferior frontal and superior temporal areas and negative going event related potentials have been consistently associated with morphological processing While most previous research has been done on the recognition of morphologically complex words in adult native speakers much less is known about neurocognitive processes involved in the on line production of morphologically complex words and even less on morphological processing in children and non native speakers Moreover we have limited understanding of how linguistically distinct morphological processes e g inflectional listen ed versus derivational assign ment are handled by the cortical language networks This e book provides an up to date overview of the questions currently addressed in the field of morphological processing It highlights the significance of morphological information in language processing both written and spoken as assessed by a variety of methods and approaches It also provides a comprehensive range of research and development tools for the development of new technologies

Words by composer James Burton takes its inspiration and text from the award winning cultural phenomenon and book of the same name by Robert Macfarlane and Jackie Morris a book that was in turn a creative response to the removal of everyday nature words like acorn newt and otter from a new edition of a widely used children s dictionary Both the book and Burton s 32 minute work which is written in 12 short movements for upper voice choir in up to 3 voice parts with either orchestral or piano accompaniment celebrates each lost word with a beautiful poem or spell magically brought to life in Burton s music At its heart the work delivers a powerful message about the need to close the gap between childhood and the natural world

Burton's piece was co-commissioned by the Hall Concerts Society for the Hall Children's Choir and the Boston Symphony Orchestra. The piano accompaniment version was premiered at the Tanglewood Festival in 2019 by the Boston Symphony Children's Choir of which Burton is founder and director. The Hall Children's Choir will premiere the orchestral version of the full work in Manchester UK post-pandemic. Vocal Score Co-commission by Boston Symphony and Hall Concerts Society for their respective Children's Choirs. Two versions with orchestral or with piano accompaniment. The vocal score is the same for both versions. James Burton is a composer but also a conductor. He is conductor of the Tanglewood Festival Chorus and choral director of the Boston Symphony. The book The Lost Words exquisitely designed has won multiple awards and is an international best-seller. The vocal score includes Jackie Morris's beautiful imagery in its cover design.

Set in 1860 as the first wagon trains rumble into the American West, this adventure-filled novel centers on a frontier girl and the beloved pony she tries to save. Born in the back of a covered wagon traveling west from Vermont, Annie Dawson dreams of someday seeing what's on the eastern side of the great Mississippi. For now, she'll have to be content living with her parents and younger brother in the Nebraska Territory at the Red Buttes Pony Express station run by her family. That is, until her favorite pony starts going wild and Annie's friend Pony Express rider Billy Cody suspects that someone is poisoning her. But who'd want to hurt gentle Magpie? Indian tribes stirring up trouble. Or the Butterfield Mail, the Pony Express rival that seems to feel threatened by the ponies' speed in delivering mail to California. The night before Magpie is scheduled to be put down, Annie steals out to see if her half-Shoshone friend Redbird Wilson can cure Magpie's mysterious ailment. But the pony just gets worse. Unsure whom she can trust, Annie must use her wits to find the culprit before Magpie dies and other horses meet the same fate. This ebook includes a historical afterword.
