South Dakota's Mathis Murders: Horror in the Heartland Noel Hamiel,2022 South Dakota's Mathis Family Murders brought death and deception to the heartland It was perhaps the most infamous murder case in state history Ladonna Mathis was shot twice in the head at point blank range inside the family's metal shed serving as their makeshift home. Two of her three children, ages 2 and 4, were also shot in the head. The brutality of the killings shocked the state and set off a frenzy of law enforcement activity. Despite its intensity, the investigation never found the murderer or the murder weapon. Though charged with the crime, the husband was acquitted, leaving the door open for endless speculation about what really occurred on that late summer morning of Sept 8, 1981. With renewed insight from those involved, veteran South Dakota journalist Noel Hamiel explores this cold case of murder and mystery that still haunts the Mount Rushmore state. Memorable Moments

Tharani R, Memories are treasures of our hearts. They are captured moments in our brain like photos in albums. They are indelible and unforgettable. Some memories give a smile, flower to our heart. It examines how judge TV fulfills part of law's performative function, that of providing a participatory spectacle the public can recognize as justice. Since it debuted in 1981 with The People's Court, which made famous its star jurist Judge Joseph A. Wapner, dozens of judges have made the move to television Unlike the demographics in actual courts most TV judges are non white men and women hailing from diverse cultural and racial backgrounds These judges charge their decisions with personal preferences and cultural innuendos painting a very different picture of what justice looks like Drawing on interviews with TV judges producers and production staff as well as the author s experience as a studio audience member the book scrutinizes the performativity of the genre the needs it meets and the inherent ideological biases about race gender and civic instruction
