Maid In Taiwan:

Maid in Taiwan Barbara North, 1984 Factory Women in Taiwan Lydia Kung, 1994 An important study of Taiwan's first generation of working women documenting their and their families' views of their employment and the effects that wage earning has on the status and lives of these women The Minor Arts of Daily Life David K. Jordan, Andrew D. Morris, Marc L. Moskowitz, 2004-03-31 The Minor Arts of Daily Life is an account of the many ways in which contemporary Taiwanese approach their ordinary existence and activities. It presents a wide range of aspects of day to day living to convey something of the world as experienced by the Taiwanese themselves. Contributors: Alice Chu, Chien Juh Gu, David K. Jordan, Paul R. Katz, Chin Ju Lin, Andrew D. Morris, Marc L. Moskowitz, Scott Simon, Shuenn Der Yu Global Cinderellas Pei-Chia Lan, 2006-04-03 Migrant women are the primary source of paid domestic labor around the world. Since the 1980s, the newly prosperous countries of East Asia have recruited foreign household workers at a rapidly increasing rate. Many come from the Philippines and Indonesia. Pei Chia Lan interviewed and spent time with dozens of Filipina and Indonesian domestics working in and around Taipei as well as many of their Taiwanese employers. On the basis of the vivid ethnographic detail she collected, Lan provides a nuanced look at how boundaries between worker and employer are maintained and negotiated in private households. She also sheds light on the fate of the workers' global Cinderellas who seek an escape from poverty at home only to find themselves treated as disposable labor abroad. Lan demonstrates how economic disparities, immigration policies, race, ethnicity, and gender intersect in the relationship between the migrant workers and their Taiwanese employers. The employers are eager to flex their recently acquired financial muscle; many are first generation career women as well as first generation employers. The domestics are recruited from abroad as contract and guest workers; restrictive immigration policies prohibit them from seeking permanent residence or transferring from one employer to another. They care for Taiwanese families, children often having left their own behind. Throughout Global Cinderellas, Lan pays particular attention to how the women she studied identify themselves in relation to others, whether they be of different classes, nationalities, ethnicities, or education levels. In so doing, she offers a framework for thinking about how migrant workers and their employers understand themselves in the midst of dynamic transnational labor flows Multinational Maids Anju Mary Paul, 2017-09-28 Multinational Maids offers an in-depth investigation into the international migrations of Filipino and Indonesian migrant domestic workers. The author taps on her rigorous study of more than 1,200 subjects' migration trajectories to reveal how these migrants work in a series of overseas countries to improve their lives and in some cases seek permanent residence in another country. Challenging the portrayal of Asian migrant domestic workers as victims of globalization, Multinational Maids reveals migrants' agency and strategic thinking under conditions of constraint. At the market level, the establishment of guestworker programmes for migrant domestic workers in multiple countries has created a global labor market. A transnational diaspora shapes migrants' evolving destination imaginaries while manpower recruitment and placement agencies create transnational mobility structures In addition differing destination hierarchies and degrees of access to resources lead to the adoption of divergent stepwise trajectories Written in an accessible manner Multinational Maids appeals to migration scholars policymakers activists and students Working Women and State Policies in Taiwan Fen-ling Chen, 2000-09-29 This book concentrates on exploring the changing relationship between the state and working women in Taiwan by incorporating social economic political and ideological factors into the historical analysis It traces the history of state policies on women s employment the impact of family and gender ideology on women s employment women s roles in capitalist development and the influence of women s movements on policy making in Taiwan Finally it analyses the Taiwanese welfare regime in a gender critical way Global Cinderellas Pei-Chia Lan, 2006-04-03 Migrant women are the primary source of paid domestic labor around the world Since the 1980s the newly prosperous countries of East Asia have recruited foreign household workers at a rapidly increasing rate Many come from the Philippines and Indonesia Pei Chia Lan interviewed and spent time with dozens of Filipina and Indonesian domestics working in and around Taipei as well as many of their Taiwanese employers On the basis of the vivid ethnographic detail she collected Lan provides a nuanced look at how boundaries between worker and employer are maintained and negotiated in private households She also sheds light on the fate of the workers global Cinderellas who seek an escape from poverty at home only to find themselves treated as disposable labor abroad Lan demonstrates how economic disparities immigration policies race ethnicity and gender intersect in the relationship between the migrant workers and their Taiwanese employers The employers are eager to flex their recently acquired financial muscle many are first generation career women as well as first generation employers The domestics are recruited from abroad as contract and guest workers restrictive immigration policies prohibit them from seeking permanent residence or transferring from one employer to another They care for Taiwanese families children often having left their own behind Throughout Global Cinderellas Lan pays particular attention to how the women she studied identify themselves in relation to others whether they be of different classes nationalities ethnicities or education levels In so doing she offers a framework for thinking about how migrant workers and their employers understand themselves in the midst of dynamic transnational labor flows Framing the Bride Bonnie Adrian, 2003-12-08 With a wedding impending the Taiwanese bride to be turns to bridal photographers makeup artists and hair stylists to transform her image beyond recognition They give her fairer skin eyes like a Western baby doll and gowns inspired by sources from Victorian England to MTV An absorbing consideration of contemporary bridal practices in Taiwan Framing the Bride shows how the lavish photographs represent more than mere conspicuous consumption They are artifacts infused with cultural meaning and emotional significance products of the gender and generation based conflicts in Taiwan s hybrid system of modern matrimony From the bridal photographs the book opens out into broader issues such as courtship marriage kinship globalization and the meaning of the West and Western cultural images of beauty Bonnie Adrian argues that in compiling enormous bridal albums full of photographs of brides and grooms in varieties of finery posed in different places and exuding romance Taiwanese brides engage in a new rite of passage one that challenges the terms of marriage set out in conventional wedding rites In Framing the Bride we see how this practice is also a creative response to U S domination of transnational visual imagery how bridal photographers and their subjects take the project of globalization into their own hands defining its terms for their lives even as they expose the emptiness of its images

Custom Maid War for New World Disorder Peter De Krassel,2005-08 Following on from Custom Maid Spin Peter de Krassel turns his unique international perspective and controversial pen onto the business of war In the course of reviewing the conflicts of the 20th century and today he argues that to end or at least minimize the cycle of 21st century violence humanity is inflicting on itself America must lead the peaceful charge for change To do so Americans need to learn and understand the reasons for war and how future wars can be stopped War is no the answer to hunger oil territorial expansion ethnic cleansing or the survival of America On the contrary it is its escalating destructive downfall He points to China s re emergence as a global power as

America's greatest challenge and one that must be resolved peacefully America must keep in mind the warning by the Greek historian Thucydides more than 2 000 years ago that belief in the inevitability of conflict can become one of its main causes In other words America cannot afford to become a victim of its own political spin Peter de Krassel's treatment on war reads like a journalistic account of Heart of Darkness We are like Marlow journeying down a political river with each chapter forcing us to shed another layer of ignorance in order to acquire new insight But this work also brings with it a sense of hope for we the people are capable of molding our own destiny as long as we have the wisdom and courage to change things

Representing Atrocity in Taiwan Sylvia Li-chun Lin,2007 In 1945 Taiwan was placed under the administrative control of the Republic of China and after two years accusations of corruption and a failing economy sparked a local protest that was brutally quashed by the Kuomintang government The February Twenty Eighth or 2 28 Incident led to four decades of martial law that became known as the White Terror During this period talk of 2 28 was forbidden and all dissent violently suppressed but since the lifting of martial law in 1987 this long buried history has been revisited through commemoration and narrative cinema and remembrance Drawing on a wealth of secondary theoretical material as well as her own original research Sylvia Li chun Lin conducts a close analysis of the political narrative and ideological structures involved in the fictional and cinematic representations of the 2 28 Incident and White Terror She assesses the role of individual and collective memory and institutionalized forgetting while underscoring the dangers of re-creating a historical past and the risks of trivialization She also compares her findings with scholarly works on the Holocaust and the aftermath of the atomic bombings of Japan questioning the politics of forming public and personal memories and the political teleology of closure This is the first book to be published in English on the 2 28 Incident and White Terror and offers a valuable matrix of comparison for studying the portrayal of atrocity in a specific locale
