Davies, Keith F. Walker, 2013-03-09 Our understanding of the ecology of running waters has come a long way during the past few years From being a largely descriptive subject with a few under tones concerned with such things as fisheries pollution or control of blackflies it has evolved into a discipline with hypotheses such as the River Continuum Concept Vannote et al 1980 and even a book suggesting that it offers opportunity for the testing of ecological theory Barnes Minshall 1983 However perusal of the literature reveals that although some of the very early studies were concerned with large rivers references in Hynes 1970 the great mass of the work that has been done on running water has been on streams and small rivers and information on larger rivers is either on such limited topics as fisheries or plankton scattered among the journals or not available to the general limnologist The only exceptions are a few books in this series of publications such as those on the Nile Rz6ska 1976 the Volga Morduckai Boltovskoi 1979 and the Amazon Sioli 1984 and the recent compendium by Whitton 1984 on European rivers among which there are a few that rate as large Commercial Fisheries Review ,1963 The Birds of Africa: Volume VIII Roger Safford, Frank Hawkins, 2020-09-17 Universally recognised as by far the most authoritative work ever published on the subject The Birds of Africa is a superb multi contributor reference work with encyclopaedic species texts stunning paintings of all species and numerous subspecies informative line drawings detailed range maps and extensive bibliographies Each volume contains an Introduction that brings the reader up to date with the latest developments in African ornithology including the evolution and biogeography of African birds Diagnoses of the families and genera often with superspecies maps are followed by the comprehensive species accounts themselves These include descriptions of range and status field characters voice general habits food and breeding habits Full bibliographies acoustic references and indexes complete this scholarly work of reference This eighth and final volume covers the Malagasy region which comprises Madagascar and the various islands and archipelagos of the Indian Ocean including the Seychelles the Comoros Mauritius and Reunion Every resident and migrant species is covered in full detail comparable to other volumes in the series and with a colour map for each species Vagrants are treated in less detail All species are illustrated on a beautiful series of 64 colour plates with original artwork from John Gale and Brian Small This is a major work of reference on the birds of the region and will remain the standard text for many years to come Marine

Fisheries Review, 1976 Ocean Resources D.A. Arduini, M.A. Champ, 2012-12-06 Today western nations consume annually only a small percentage of their resources from the sea despite the proclamation of Exclusive Economic Zones EEZ by many In contrast most Pacific Basin Countries obtain more than a quarter of their annual needs from the ocean Determination of greater rewards from the development of marine resources is markedly inhibited by the limited technical abilities available to locate and assess them Knowledge of Exclusive Economic Zone resources is schematic and generalised and a detailed understanding of the geology and processes relating to the economic use of the seafloor is both fragmentary and very basic Technology for mapping the mineral resources of continental shelves and ocean areas except in active offshore hydrocarbon provinces has been largely developed in pursuit of scientific objectives and competence to rapidly appraise economic potential is limited Similarly the capability to characterise and evaluate the other resources of the seas is rudimentary The development of ocean resources will become increasingly urgent as the growth of the world population and the depletion of land reserves combine to enhance demand Also increasing environmental constraints will limit the availability of traditional land based resources nevertheless new offshore development must proceed in a manner whereby the marine environment is not plundered but protected and conserved The challenge to develop ocean resources with responsible environmental stewardship will require greater leadership than the development of the technologies of exploitation Oceanography and Marine Biology R.N. Hughes, D.J. Hughes, I. P. Smith, A.C. Dale, 2015-08-26 The book examines basic areas of marine research subjects of special and topical importance and new areas as they arise This series is consistently among the highest ranking in terms of impact factor in the marine biology category of the citation indices compiled by the Institute of Scientific Information It is an essential reference for research workers and students in all fields of marine science and the series volumes find a place in the libraries of universities marine laboratories research institutes and government departments
