Time Resources, Society and Ecology

Tommy Carlstein,2019-09-18 Originally published in 1982 Time Resources Society and Ecology examines and seeks to examine the time dimension in terms of the ecology technology social organization and spatial structure of the human habitat Approaches to time resources sociological time budget studies anthropological activity analysis and economic analysis of money allocation have been limited by their sectoral scope or their failure to relate effectively to the processes of social interaction technological change and environmental structure In this book the book s articulation of time resources is developed in a general theoretical framework of action and interaction in time and space The book examines constraints and possibilities facing preindustrial societies and throws light on the impact of technology on modern societies Basic models of time allocation are presented and finally a cross cultural comparison is made of the mobilization of time resources in preindustrial societies Geographers social anthropologists and human ecologists should find this work directly relevant to their interest in understanding the interactions between man and environment Ibss: Anthropology: 1971

Historical Dictionary of Ethiopia David H. Shinn,Thomas P. Ofcansky,2013-04-11

The Historical Dictionary of Ethiopia Second Edition covers the history of Ethiopia through a chronology an introductory essay appendixes and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has several hundred cross referenced entries on important personalities politics economy foreign relations religion and culture This book is an excellent access point for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about Ethiopia Brothers and Strangers Ibrahim

Sundiata,2004-02-03 Unprecedented in scope and detail Brothers and Strangers is a vivid history of how the mythic Africa of the black American imagination ran into the realities of Africa the place In the 1920s Marcus Garvey convinced that freedom from oppression was not possible for blacks in the Americas led the last great African American emigrationist movement His U S based Universal Negro Improvement Association worked with the Liberian government to create a homeland for African Americans Ibrahim Sundiata explores the paradox at the core of this project Liberia the chosen destination was itself racked by class and ethnic divisions and like other nations in colonial Africa marred by labor abuse In an account based on extensive archival research including work in the Liberian National Archives Sundiata explains how Garvey s plan collapsed when faced with opposition from the Liberian elite opposition that belied his vision of a unified Black World In 1930 the League of Nations investigated labor conditions and damningly the United States land of lynching and Jim Crow accused Liberia of promoting conditions analogous to slavery Subsequently various plans were put forward for a League Mandate or an American administration to put down slavery and modernize the country Threatened with a loss of its independence the Liberian government turned to its brothers beyond the sea for support A varied group of white and black anti imperialists among them W E B Du Bois took up the country's cause. In revealing the struggle of conscience that bedeviled many in the black world in the past, Sundiata casts light on a human rights predicament which he points out continues in twenty-first century African nations as disparate as Sudan, Mauritania and the Ivory Coast. Ibss: Anthropology: 1972 International Committee for Social Science Information and Documentation, 1974-10-24. First published in 1974. Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis, an informal company.

The Southern Marches of Imperial Ethiopia Donald Donham, Wendy James, 1986. This international collection of essays offers a unique approach to the understanding of imperial Ethiopia out of which the present state was created by the 1974 revolution. After the 1880s Abyssinia under Menilek II expanded its ancient heartland to incorporate vast new territories to the south. Here for the first time these regions are treated as an integral part of the empire. The book opens with an interpretation of nineteenth-century Abyssinia as an African political economy rather than as a variant on European feudalism and with an account of the north's impact on peoples of the new south. Case studies from the southern regions follow, four by historians and four by anthropologists, each examining aspects of the relationship between imperial rule and local society. In revealing the region's diversity and the relationship of the periphery to the centre, the volume illuminates some of the problems faced by post-revolutionary Ethiopia. Oromo Nationalism and the Ethiopian Discourse Asafa Jalata, 1998.

The Making of the Modern Greek Family Paul Sant Cassia, Constantina Bada, 1992. This 1991 study deals with a specific set of institutions in nineteenth-century Athens. Relying on matrimonial contracts, travellers' accounts, memoirs and popular literature, the authors show how distinctive forms of marriage, kinship and property transmission evolved in Athens in the nineteenth century. These forms then became a feature of wider Greek society which continued into the twentieth century. Greece was the first post-colonial modern nation state in Europe whose national identity was created largely by peasants who had migrated to the city. As Athenian society became less agrarian, a new mercantile group superseded and incorporated previous elites and went on to dominate and control the new resources of the nation state. Such groups developed their own more mobile systems of property transmission, mostly in response to external pressures of a political and economic character. This is a persuasive piece of detective work which has advanced our knowledge of modern Greece. It is a model for scholarship on the development of family and other intimate ideologies where nation states encroach upon local consciousness. The Anthropology of Numbers Thomas Crump, 1992-10-15. Numbers are an important feature of almost all known cultures. In this detailed anthropological study, Thomas Crump examines how people from a wide range of diverse cultures and from different historical backgrounds use and understand numbers. By looking at the logical, psychological and linguistic implications, he analyses how numbers operate within different contexts. The author goes on to consider the relationship of numbers to specific themes such as ethnoscience, politics, measurement, time, money, music, games and architecture. The Anthropology of Numbers is an original contribution to scholarship, written in a clear and accessible style. It will be of interest to anthropologists who study cognition, symbolism, primitive thought and classification.

and to those in adjacent disciplines of psychology cognitive science and mathematical social science

Kinship and Marriage Robin Fox,1983 New paperback edition of Robin Fox s study of systems of kinship and alliance which has become an established classic of social science literature

The Languages and Linguistics of Africa Tom Güldemann,2018-09-10 This innovative handbook takes a fresh look at the currently underestimated linguistic diversity of Africa the continent with the largest number of languages in the world It covers the major domains of linguistics offering both a representative picture of Africa s linguistic landscape as well as new and at times unconventional perspectives The focus is not so much on exhaustiveness as on the fruitful relationship between African and general linguistics and the contributions the two domains can make to each other This volume is thus intended for readers with a specific interest in African languages and also for students and scholars within the greater discipline of linguistics

The Blue and the Green Jack Stauder,2016-03-22 In The Blue and the Green anthropologist Jack Stauder analyzes how large scale political social and environmental processes have transformed ranching and rural life in the West Focusing on the community of Blue Arizona Stauder details how the problems of overgrazing erosion and environmental stresses on the open range in the early twentieth century coincided with a push by the newly created US Forest Service to develop fenced grazing allotments on federal lands Later in the twentieth century with the enactment of the Endangered Species Act and other laws the growing power of urban based environmental groups resulted in the reduction of federal grazing leases throughout the West The author combines historical research with oral interviews to explore the impact of these transformations on the ranchers residing in the Blue River Valley of eastern Arizona Stauder gives voice to these ranchers along with Forest Service personnel environmental activists scientists and others involved with issues on the Blue shedding light on how the ranchers rural way of life has changed dramatically over the course of the past century This is a fascinating case study of the effects of increasing government regulations and the influence of outsiders on ranching communities in the American West

Contexts of Kinship Esther N. Goody,2005-07-07 In her study of domestic organization in Gonja Esther Goody has concentrated on tracing the interrelationships between political and domestic institutions in a bilateral kinship system

Understanding Contemporary Ethiopia Gérard Prunier,Éloi Ficquet,2015 Seeks to dispel the myths and clichés surrounding contemporary perceptions of Ethiopia by providing a rare overview of the country s recent history politics and culture Explores the unique features of this often misrepresented country as it strives to make itself heard in the modern world Publisher description

Greater Ethiopia Donald N. Levine,2014-12-10 Greater Ethiopia combines history anthropology and sociology to answer two major questions Why did Ethiopia remain independent under the onslaught of European expansionism while other African political entities were colonized And why must Ethiopia be considered a single cultural region despite its political religious and linguistic diversity Donald Levine s interdisciplinary study makes a substantial contribution both to Ethiopian interpretive history and to sociological analysis In his new preface Levine examines Ethiopia since the overthrow of the monarchy in the 1970s Ethiopian scholarship is in Professor Levine's debt He has performed an important task with panache urbanity and learning Edward Ullendorff Times Literary Supplement Upon rereading this book it strikes the reader how broad in scope how innovative in approach and how stimulating in arguments this book was when it came out In the past twenty years it has inspired anthropological and historical research stimulated theoretical debate about Ethiopia's cultural and historical development and given the impetus to modern political thinking about the complexities and challenges of Ethiopia as a country The text thus easily remains an absolute must for any Ethiopianist scholar to read and digest J Abbink Journal of Modern African Studies

Studies in African Linguistic Typology F. K. Erhard Voeltz, 2006-03-22 The twenty one papers that make up this volume reflect the broad perspective of African linguistic typology studies today Where previous volumes would present language material from a very restricted area and perspective the present contributions reflect the global interest and orientation of current African linguistic studies The studies are nearly all implicational in nature Based upon a detailed survey of a particular linguistic phenomenon in a given language or language area conclusions are drawn about the general nature about this phenomenon in the languages of Africa and beyond They represent as such a first step that may ultimately lead to a more thorough understanding of African linguistic structures This approach is well justified Taking the other road attempting to pick out linguistic details from often fairly superficially documented languages runs the risk that the data and its implications for the structure investigated might be misunderstood Consequentially only very few studies of this nature giving the very broad perspective the overview of a particular structure type covering the whole African continent are represented here
