Louis Agassiz Fuertes The Singular Be:

The Abyssinian Art of Louis Agassiz Fuertes in the Field Museum Paul Johnsgard, 2020 This book documents the paintings and drawings executed by Louis Agassiz Fuertes during the Field Museum of Natural History's seven month expedition to Ethiopia Abyssinia in 1926-27. During that time Fuertes completed 70 field watercolors that illustrate 55 species of birds and four species of mammals. He also executed 34 pencil drawings which illustrate 13 species of mammals and 11 species of birds plus numerous miscellaneous sketches and small watercolors. This book identifies and describes the biology of all 69 species of birds and mammals illustrated by Fuertes and includes 32 color reproductions of Fuertes's watercolors that were published as a limited edition album in 1930 by the Field Museum. The 60,000 word text provides brief summaries of all these species' ecology, behavior, and reproductive biology, as well as information about their current populations and conservation status. A review of Fuertes's life, his influence on modern bird and wildlife art, and his participation in and artistic contributions to the Field Museum's Abyssinian Expedition is also included, as well as more than 250 bibliographic citations.

Lost Animals Errol Fuller, 2013-11-21 Caught on camera prior to their demise, this book reveals the surprisingly rich photographic record of now extinct animals. A photograph of an animal long gone evokes a feeling of loss more than a painting ever can. Often tinted sepia or black and white, these images were mainly taken in zoos or wildlife parks, and in a handful of cases featured the last known individual of the species. There are some familiar examples, such as Martha the last Passenger Pigeon or the Ivory-billed Woodpecker recently fledged and perching happily on the hat of one of the biologists that had just ringed it. But for every Martha, there are a number of less familiar extinct birds and mammals that were caught on camera. The photographic record of extinction is the focus of this remarkable book, written by the world's leading authority on vanished animals. Errol Fuller's Lost Animals features photographs dating from around 1870 to as recently as 2004, the year that saw the demise of the Hawaiian Pōouli. From a mother Thylacine and her pups to now extinct birds such as the Heath Hen and Carolina Parakeet, Fuller tells the tale of each animal, why it became extinct, and discusses the circumstances surrounding the photography itself in a book rich with unique images. The photographs themselves are poignant and compelling. They provide a tangible link to animals that have now vanished forever in a book that brings the past to life while delivering a warning for the future.

Charles R. Knight Charles Robert Knight, 2005 This book opens with a foreword by special effects pioneer Ray Harryhausen The 7th Voyage of Sinbad and a biographical essay on Knight by William Stout The New Dinosaurs The autobiographical pieces feature illustrations by Mark Schultz Xenozoic Tales To round out the volume it closes with memories from his granddaughter Rhoda Knight Kalt and appreciations from prominent names in the arts and sciences from Ray Bradbury to Ian Tattersall Though Knight once said No one interests me less than Charles Knight find out why artists such as Frank Frazetta Mark Hallett Doug Henderson Joe Kubert Al Williamson and Bernie Wrightson have said that no one interests them more

Canoeing in the Wilderness Henry David Thoreau, 1916 The chief attraction that inspired Thoreau to make this canoe trip was the primitiveness of the region Here was a vast tract of almost virgin woodland peopled only with a few loggers and pioneer farmers Indians and wild animals No one could have been better fitted than Thoreau to enjoy such a region and to transmit his enjoyment of it to others For though he was a person of culture and refinement with a college education and had for an intimate friend so rare a man as Ralph Waldo Emerson he was half wild in many of his tastes and impatient of the restraints and artificiality of the ordinary social life of the towns and cities He liked especially the companionship of men who were in close contact with nature and in this book we find him deeply interested in his Indian guide and lingering fondly over the man's characteristics and casual remarks The Indian retained many of his aboriginal instincts and ways though his tribe was in most respects civilized His home was in an Indian village on an island in the Penobscot River at Oldtown a few miles above Bangor Thoreau was one of the world's greatest nature writers and as the years pass his fame steadily increases He was a careful and accurate observer more at home in the fields and woods than in village and town and with a gift of piquant originality in recording his impressions The play of his imagination is keen and nimble yet his fancy is so well balanced by his native common sense that it does not run away with him There is never any doubt about his genuineness or that what he states is free from bias and romantic exaggeration Biographical
