Louis Faurer:

Louis Faurer Anne Tucker, Louis Faurer, Lisa Hostetler, Kathleen V. Jameson, Addison Gallery of American Art, Museum of Photographic Arts (San Diego, Calif.), Art Institute of Chicago, Philadelphia Museum of Art, 2002 Faurer also worked as a fashion photographer for nearly thirty years producing work for Harper's Bazaar, Vogue and Flair with a particular gift for highlighting his subject's ephemeral grace. He was a lasting influence on Robert Frank and other members of the New York school of photography. This book the first to examine Faurer's work in depth and bring it to a modern readership draws together a great deal of previously unpublished material as well as images not seen since they originally appeared in magazines in the 1940s and 1950s. BOOK JACKET Louis Faurer, 2016 This book is the first in fifteen years to present the largely overlooked work of Louis Faurer who depicted the melancholy streets of New York in the 1940s and 50s and whom Walter Hopps has described as a master of his medium. Faurer initially worked for fashion magazines such as Harper's Bazaar in New York but soon focused his eye on the enchanting city itself. Everywhere a new discovery awaited me. Here Faurer made poetic darkly romantic images of the characters of the street often the poor and lonely amidst the bustle of Times Square during what he called its hypnotic dusk light. Inspired by Walker Evans Faurer developed a personal highly empathetic vision comparable to that of Robert Frank with whom he shared a loft and darkroom in his early New York days. Faurer solidified his ironic brooding aesthetic in the 50s often employing graphic contrasts, reflections and distortions which show the influence of film noir and deepen his exploration of the psychology of the individual. My eyes search for people who are grateful for life, people who forgive and whose doubts have been removed, who understand the truth whose enduring spirit is bathed by such piercing light as to provide their present and future with hope. I have an intense desire to record life as I see it as I feel it. As long as I'm amazed and astonished as long as I feel that events, messages, expressions and movements are all shot through with the miraculous I'll feel filled with the certainty I need to keep going. When that day comes my doubts will vanish. Louis Faurer Louis Faurer Louis Faurer, University of Maryland, College Park. Art Gallery, 1981

Flickering Light Christoph Ribbat, 2013-07-15 Without neon Las Vegas might still be a sleepy desert town in Nevada and Times Square merely another busy intersection in New York City Transformed by the installation of these brightly colored signs these destinations are now world famous representing the vibrant heart of popular culture But for some neon lighting represents the worst of commercialism Energized by the conflicting love and hatred people have for neon Flickering Light explores its technological and intellectual history from the discovery of the noble gas in late nineteenth century London to its fading popularity today Christoph Ribbat follows writers artists and musicians from cultural critic Theodor Adorno British rock band the Verve and artist Tracey Emin to Vladimir Nabokov Langston Hughes and American country singers through the neon cities in Europe America and Asia demonstrating how they turned these blinking lights and letters into metaphors of the modern era He examines how gifted craftsmen carefully sculpted neon advertisements introducing elegance to modern metropolises during neon's heyday between the wars followed by its subsequent popularity in Las Vegas during the 1950s and 60s Ribbat ends with a melancholy discussion of neon's decline describing how these glowing signs and installations came to be seen as dated and characteristic of run down neighborhoods From elaborate neon lighting displays to neglected diner signs with unlit letters Flickering Light tells the engrossing story of how a glowing tube of gas took over the world and faded almost as quickly as it arrived
