Student Displacement in Louisiana After the Hurricanes of 2005 John F. Pane, 2006 Hurricane Katrina was the most costly and devastating natural disaster in U S history It and Hurricane Rita combined left the Gulf region with tremendous challenges for recovery and the need to rebuild infrastructure and reestablish services This report focuses on the displacement of approximately 200 000 public school students in Louisiana To help guide educators and policymakers in their ongoing responses to this disaster and in their preparations for future events this technical report documents many of the short term effects of the movements of students caused by the storms Focusing on the Louisiana public school system it explores the experiences of displaced students during the first academic year following the hurricanes their movements among schools the durations of enrollments at each site time out of school and the number and characteristics of students fitting each of four patterns of movement It also reports on the effects of the displacement on schools and their students and policies adopted in response to serving displaced students Using Louisiana s student data system we obtained information about all students in the state who entered or exited a public school at any time during the 2005 06 school year because of the hurricanes and we surveyed principals from a stratified sample of schools serving displaced students statewide The student displacement due to Hurricanes Katrina and Rita persisted throughout the entire 2005 06 school year 55 percent of the displaced students ended the school year outside their original schools The students who remained displaced were disproportionately minority students and students who had been achieving poorly prior to the storms But even among those students who have returned to their original schools a substantial amount of schooling was lost and the effects of the storms linger Principals reported that displaced students both those who have returned to their original schools and those who have enrolled elsewhere in the state exhibited several common symptoms of trauma In some schools the displaced students were more likely than others to engage in fighting arguing bullying eating or playing in isolation and violating school rules they were less likely to engage in school clubs activities social events or sports teams Principals also frequently reported that displaced students were more likely than preexisting students to need mental health counseling Schools throughout the state and the nation will continue to be called on to serve displaced students and it is imperative that they obtain the resources they need to serve them well Policies and resources to help teachers manage their own hurricane related problems and mental health needs might ultimately improve the services teachers provide to students Finally education officials at both the state and local levels would benefit from better access to complete and accurate student records and a national system to coordinate two way sharing of student information across state boundaries French, Cajun, Creole, Houma Carl A. Brasseaux, 2005-03-01 In recent years ethnographers have recognized south Louisiana as home to perhaps the most complex rural society in North America More than a dozen French speaking immigrant groups have been identified there Cajuns and white Creoles being the most famous In this guide to the amazing social cultural and linguistic variation within Louisiana s

French speaking region Carl A Brasseaux presents an overview of the origins and evolution of all the Francophone communities Brasseaux examines the impact of French immigration on Louisiana over the past three centuries He shows how this once undesirable outpost of the French empire became colonized by individuals ranging from criminals to entrepreneurs who went on to form a multifaceted society one that unlike other American melting pots rests upon a French cultural foundation A prolific author and expert on the region Brasseaux offers readers an entertaining history of how these diverse peoples created south Louisiana s famous vibrant culture interacting with African Americans Spaniards and Protestant Anglos and encountering influences from southern plantation life and the Caribbean He explores in detail three still cohesive components in the Francophone melting pot each one famous for having retained a distinct identity the Creole communities both black and white the Cajun people and the state s largest concentration of French speakers the Houma tribe A product of thirty years research French Cajun Creole Houma provides a reliable and understandable guide to the ethnic roots of a region long popular as an international tourist attraction

Environmental Health Perspectives, 2004-07 New Perspectives on State Government Fiscal Challenges Barry W. Poulson, John Merrifield, 2023-07-03 In this book on new fiscal approaches nineteen experts examine topics ranging from constitutional reform and debt fatigue to fiscal rules and zero based budgeting Together these contributions inform a multifaceted nuanced argument for the need to formalize spending restraint and redefine state debt to include unfunded liabilities Scholars will find the book useful as a reference tool explaining how rules based fiscal policy is used to address debt fatigue and unsustainable spending growth Legislators and practitioners will find the book useful as a reference source in designing and simulating second generation fiscal rules and educators will find the book helpful for its close analysis of policies in representative states such as Illinois New York New Jersey Nebraska and California

The Place with No Edge Adam Mandelman, 2020-04-08 In The Place with No Edge Adam Mandelman follows three centuries of human efforts to inhabit and control the lower Mississippi River delta the vast watery flatlands spreading across much of southern Louisiana He finds that people's use of technology to tame unruly nature in the region has produced interdependence with rather than independence from the environment Created over millennia by deposits of silt and sand the Mississippi River delta is one of the most dynamic landscapes in North America From the eighteenth century establishment of the first French fort below New Orleans to the creation of Louisiana's Coastal Master Plan in the 2000s people have attempted to harness and master this landscape through technology Mandelman examines six specific interventions employed in the delta over time levees rice flumes pullboats geophysical surveys dredgers and petroleum cracking He demonstrates that even as people seemed to gain control over the environment they grew more deeply intertwined with and vulnerable to it The greatest folly Mandelman argues is to believe that technology affords mastery Environmental catastrophes of coastal land loss and petrochemical pollution may appear to be disconnected but both emerged from the same fantasy of harnessing nature to technology Similarly the levee system's failures and the subsequent deluge after Hurricane Katrina owe as much to centuries of human entanglement with the delta as to global warming's rising seas and strengthening storms The Place with No Edge advocates for a deeper understanding of humans' relationship with nature It provides compelling evidence that altering the environment whether to make it habitable profitable or navigable inevitably brings a response sometimes with unanticipated consequences

Mandelman encourages a mindfulness of the ways that our inventions engage with nature and a willingness to intervene in responsible respectful ways New Perspectives on Language Variety in the South Michael D. Picone, Catherine Evans Davies, 2015-03-15 An outgrowth of the Language Variety in the South III symposium New Perspectives on Language Variety in the South Historical and Contemporary Approaches comprises forty five original essays on a range of topics regarding the languages and dialects of the American South Book jacket Lifespan Perspectives on Natural Disasters Katie E.

Cherry, 2009-07-09 Some of our most disturbing images of Hurricane Katrina involve the very old trapped in flooded nursing homes and the very young sick in toxic trailers Using the Katrina Rita nexus as its reference point Lifespan Perspectives on Natural Disasters takes the developmental long view on human strengths and vulnerabilities during large scale devastation and crisis An expert panel of behavioral scientists and first responders analyzes the psychological impact of natural disasters on and coping faculties associated with children adolescents and young middle aged older young old and late life oldest old adults This timely information is invaluable both to mental health service providers and to those tasked with developing age appropriate disaster preparedness intervention and recovery programs In addition the book references other deadly storms as well as other major catastrophic events e.g. the September 11 attacks the Indian Ocean Tsunami and includes such topics as Young children's understanding of hurricanes Positive adjustment in youth after Katrina How families make meaning out of disaster Disaster recovery in the workplace Recovery services for the frail elderly Coping and health in late life Preparation and training mental health personnel for disasters Unique in the disaster literature Lifespan Perspectives on Natural Disasters serves as a research reference and idea book for professionals and graduate level students in psychology social work and disaster preparedness and services      New Orleans in the Atlantic World William Boelhower,2013-09-13

The thematic project New Orleans in the Atlantic World was planned immediately after hurricane Katrina and focuses on what meteorologists have always known the city's identity and destiny belong to the broader Caribbean and Atlantic worlds as perhaps no other American city does. Balanced precariously between land and sea the city's geohistory has always interwoven diverse cultures, languages, peoples and economies. Only with the rise of the new Atlantic Studies matrix, however, have scholars been able to fully appreciate this complex history from a multi-disciplinary, multilingual and multi-scaled perspectivism. In this book, historians, geographers, anthropologists and cultural studies scholars bring to light the atlanticist vocation of New Orleans and in doing so they also help to define the new field of Atlantic Studies. This book was published as a special issue of Atlantic Studies.

Critical Perspectives on Teaching in the Southern United States Tori K. Flint, Natalie Keefer,2020-10-21 This book utilizes various frameworks to explore race, language, gender, discrimination, identity, immigration, poverty, social justice and pedagogy. The contributors highlight the importance of using critical perspectives in contemporary discussions about education in the Southern United States.

Wetland Habitats of North America Darold P. Batzer, Andrew H. Baldwin,2012-05-22 Wetland Habitats of North America is essential reading for everyone who studies, manages or visits North American wetlands. It fills an important void in the wetland literature, providing accessible and succinct descriptions of all of the continent's major wetland types. Arnold van der Valk, Iowa State University; Batzer and Baldwin have compiled the most comprehensive compendium of North American wetland habitats and their ecology that is presently available, a must for wetland scientists and managers. Irving A. Mendelssohn, Louisiana State University. If you want to gain a broad understanding of the ecology of North America's diverse wetlands, Wetland Habitats of North America is the book for you. Darold Batzer and Andrew Baldwin have assembled an impressive group of regional wetland scientists who have produced a virtual encyclopedia to the continent's wetlands. Reading the book is like a road trip across the Americas with guided tours of major wetland types by local experts. Your first stop will be to coastal wetlands with eight chapters covering tidal wetlands along the Atlantic Gulf and Pacific coasts. Then you'll travel inland where you can visit any or all of 18 types ranging from bottomland swamps of the Southeast to pothole marshes of the Northern Prairies to montane wetlands of the Rockies to tropical swamps of Central America and desert springs wetlands. All in one book! I'm impressed. Every wetlander should add this book to her or his swampland library. Ralph Tiner, University of Massachusetts Amherst.

Government Budget Forecasting Jinping Sun, Thomas D. Lynch,2017-09-25 Revenue and expenditure forecasting plays an important role in public budgeting and financial management, particularly during times of financial constraint when citizens impose greater accountability upon government to use taxpayer dollars more efficiently. Despite its significance, revenue and expenditure forecasting is often overlooked in the budget process and there is an imbalance between practice and research in this area. Based on the collaboration of budget scholars and practitioners, Government Budget Forecasting fulfills two purposes:

Enhances the understanding of revenue and expenditure estimation both theoretically and practically Stimulates dialogue and debate among practitioners and academicians to identify good forecast practices as well as areas for improvement Divided into four parts this comprehensive reference first examines forecast practices at the federal state and local levels drawing on case studies that include California Texas and Louisiana It then explores consensus systems and risk assessment considering political factors and the costs of forecast errors The text concludes with a call to transparency and guidance from a code of ethics and a look at forecasting practices in emerging countries

On Risk and Disaster Ronald J.

Daniels,Donald F. Kettl,Howard Kunreuther,2011-06-07 Named one of Planetizen's Top 10 Books of 2006 Hurricane Katrina not only devastated a large area of the nation's Gulf coast it also raised fundamental questions about ways the nation can and should deal with the inevitable problems of economic risk and social responsibility This volume gathers leading experts to examine lessons that Hurricane Katrina teaches us about better assessing perceiving and managing risks from future disasters In the years ahead we will inevitably face more problems like those caused by Katrina from fire earthquake or even a flu pandemic America remains in the cross hairs of terrorists while policy makers continue to grapple with important environmental and health risks Each of these scenarios might in itself be relatively unlikely to occur But it is statistically certain that we will confront such catastrophes or perhaps one we have never imagined and the nation and its citizenry must be prepared to act That is the fundamental lesson of Katrina The 20 contributors to this volume address questions of public and private roles in assessing managing and dealing with risk in American society and suggest strategies for moving ahead in rebuilding the Gulf coast Contributors Matthew Adler Vicki Bier Baruch Fischhoff Kenneth R Foster Robert Giegengack Peter Gosselin Scott E Harrington Carolyn Kousky Robert Meyer Harvey G Ryland Brian L Strom Kathleen Tierney Michael J Trebilcock Detlof von Winterfeldt Jonathan Walters Richard J Zeckhauser
