Ägyptologische Tempeltagung René Preys, 2009 Building a temple implies the mastering of different technicalities such as the commissioning and payment of the building process procuring and transporting building material the organization of work and the practical execution of building and decoration projects. But building a temple is also translating a religious idea into stone. From the design to the consecration of the temple every stage in the process answers to a set of rules that enables the building to function as a temple. The aim of the 7th Tempeltagung was to examine the relation between the technical and the theological demands of temple building. How was architecture influencing the ritual? how did ritual texts reflect the act of construction? What was the relation between the mythical temple and the actual temple? Who made the decisions and who executed them? What technical and theological considerations lay at the base of the choice of material and of form? In other words how did the technical aspects of building influence the theological ideas? how was building a temple structuring religion. Servant of Mut Sue D'Auria, 2008 Richard A Fazzini has inspired and mentored many scholars of Egyptology through his tireless efforts as curator and then chairman of the Brooklyn Museum's Department of Egyptian Classical and Ancient Middle Eastern Art. archaeological and philological papers discussing how ancient Egyptians thought and modern scholars may think about Egyptian funerary practices of the early 2nd millennium BCE Targeting the concepts used by modern scholars the papers address both general methodological questions of how concepts should be developed and used and more specific ones about the history and presuppositions behind particular Egyptological concepts In so doing the volume brings to the fore occasionally problematic intellectual baggage that have hindered understanding as well highlighting new promising avenues of research in ancient Egyptian funerary culture in the Middle Kingdom and more broadly New and insightful suggestions are made many of which challenge the basic frames of reference of Western Egyptological study from funerary practice to issues of identity The methodological models should be of considerable interest to those studying aspects of the HB and ancient here summarize the state of current knowledge about ancient Egyptian temples and the rituals associated with their use The first volume in English to survey the major types of Egyptian temples from the Old Kingdom to the Roman period it offers a unique perspective on ritual and its cultural significance The authors perceive temples as loci for the creative interplay of sacred space and sacred time They regard as unacceptable the traditional division of the temples into the categories of mortuary and divine believing that their functions and symbolic representations were at once too varied and too intertwined Both informative to scholars and accessible to students the book combines descriptions of specific temples with new insights into their development and purposes Nile Into Tiber Laurent Bricault, Miguel John Versluys, Paul G.
