Love Desire Hate:

Love, Desire & Hate Joan Collins, 2004-04-28 In 1955 a glittering array of Hollywood talent assembles in Mexico to film an extravaganza on Cortez. They include Nick Stone the young Greek director Julian Looks Brook the English matinee idol and his beautiful fiancée Ines sexy French starlet Dominique du Frey with her strange white haired chaperone Agathe and imperious producer Herbert Croft. Under the blazing sun old vendettas are stirring to be paid off in a saga of revenge and murder which began in the darkness of war torn France. This stunning racy story packed with glamorous characters and intriguing storylines is absolutely compelling.

(Per)versions of Love and Hate Renata Salecl, 1998 Why when we are desperately in love do we endlessly block union with our love object? Why do we often destroy what we love most? Why do we search out the impossible object? Is it that we desire things because they are unavailable and therefore to keep desire alive we need to prevent its fulfilment? Love and hate go hand in hand since the subject is both attracted and repelled by the uncontrollable jouissance of the other. In contemporary society intersubjective relations have changed with the decline of social prohibitions but this change has not simply brought liberation it has also triggered various forms of violence including self mutilation. In seeking out new forms of prohibition don't young people who pierce their bodies have something in common with African immigrants who embrace clitoridectomy or with women who act on their dates according to the instructions set out in the Rules. In Perversions of Love and Hate Renata Salecl explores the disturbing and complex relationships between love and hate violence and admiration libidinal and destructive drives through investigation of phenomena as diverse as the novels The Age of Innocence and The Remains of the Day Hollywood melodramas the Siren song Ceaucescu's Rumania and the Russian performance artist Oleg Kulik who acts like a dog and bites his audience. For Salecl who questions the legitimacy of the calls for tolerance and respect by multiculturalists practices such as body mutilation are symptoms of the radical change that has affected subjectivity in contemporary society.

Mother Love/mother Hate Rozsika Parker, 1995 Many a loving mother has had fleeting feelings of hatred toward her children the desire to hurl a howling baby out the window or to lock a teenager out of the house. In this provocative book Rozsika Parker argues that these ambivalent feelings not only are common but can actually have a creative impact on mothering. Mother Love Mother Hate boldly illustrates how a mother's desire for devotion coexists with the impulse to hurt and desert. Parents will find Parker's insight into the conflicts that beset them illuminating and deeply reassuring. Reversing the conventional psychoanalytic approach in which maternal ambivalence has been understood chiefly from the point of view of the child this book gives precedence to the mother's perspective. Drawing on interviews with mothers clinical material from her practice as a psychoanalytic psychotherapist and a wide range of psychoanalytic and literary sources including Virginia Woolf Anne Tyler Simone de Beauvoir D W Winnicott Melanie Klein and John Bowlby Parker explores experiences of maternal ambivalence in a culture painfully and profoundly uneasy about its very existence.

The Hatred of Poetry Ben Lerner, 2016-06-07 No art has been denounced as often as poetry. It's even bemoaned by poets. I too dislike it, wrote Marianne Moore. Many more people agree they hate poetry. Ben Lerner writes than can agree what poetry is. I too dislike it and have largely organized my life around it and do not experience that as a contradiction because poetry and the hatred of poetry are inextricable in ways it is my purpose to explore. In this inventive and lucid essay, Lerner takes the hatred of poetry as the starting point of his defense of the art. He examines poetry's greatest haters, beginning with Plato's famous claim that an ideal city had no place for poets who would only corrupt and mislead the young, and both its greatest and worst practitioners, providing inspired close readings of Keats, Dickinson, McGonagall, Whitman, and others. Throughout, he attempts to explain the noble failure at the heart of every truly great and truly horrible poem: the impulse to launch the experience of an individual into a timeless communal existence. In The Hatred of Poetry, Lerner has crafted an entertaining, personal, and entirely original examination of a vocation no less essential for being impossible.
