

And maybe I loved you
in another life and I promised you that I would find you,
somewhere on the other side.

Or maybe
you've always been
in my subconscious.
Nudging me this way
and pulling me that way until I found you. I don't know.
But I do know
I've felt you more than one life should allow.

shoulders of a generation of girls adopted from China as they watch Disney's iconic Mulan with its alluring story of destiny written on the skin and listens to birthmothers as they struggle to tell painful secrets held for decades This book engages in debates within adoption studies women's and gender studies transnational studies and ethnic studies it will appeal to literary scholars and critics including specialists in memoir or narrative theory and to general readers interested in adoption and in race
