On the Noodle Road Jen Lin-Liu, 2013-07-25 A food writer travels the Silk Road immersing herself in a moveable feast of foods and cultures and discovering some surprising truths about commitment independence and love As a newlywed traveling in Italy Jen Lin Liu was struck by culinary echoes of the delicacies she ate and cooked back in China where she d lived for more than a decade Who really invented the noodle she wondered like many before her But also How had food and culture moved along the Silk Road the ancient trade route linking Asia to Europe and what could still be felt of those long ago migrations With her new husband s blessing she set out to discover the connections both historical and personal eating a path through western China and on into Central Asia Iran Turkey and across the Mediterranean The journey takes Lin Liu into the private kitchens where the headscarves come off and women not only knead and simmer but also confess and confide The thin rounds of dough stuffed with meat that are dumplings in Beijing evolve into manti in Turkey their tiny size the measure of a bride s worth and end as tortellini in Italy And as she stirs and samples listening to the women talk about their lives and longings Lin Liu gains a new appreciation of her own marriage learning to savor the sweetness of love freely chosen

Im/possibility of Love in Beijing 北京爱情故事 (2016) Blessings from Beijing Greg C. Bruno, 2018-04-03 As we approach the sixtieth anniversary of China's 1959 invasion of Tibet and the subsequent creation of the Tibetan exile community the question of the diaspora's survival looms large Beijing's foreign policy has grown more adventurous particularly since the post Olympic expansion of 2008 As the pressure mounts Tibetan refugee families that have made their homes outside China in the mountains of Nepal the jungles of India or the cold concrete houses high above the Dalai Lama's monastery in Dharamsala are migrating once again Blessings from Beijing untangles the chains that tie Tibetans to China and examines the political social and economic pressures that are threatening to destroy Tibet's refugee communities Journalist Greg Bruno has spent nearly two decades living and working in Tibetan areas Bruno journeys to the front lines of this fight to the high Himalayas of Nepal where Chinese agents pay off Nepali villagers to inform on Tibetan asylum seekers to the monasteries of southern India where pro China monks wish the Dalai Lama dead to Asia's meditation caves where lost souls ponder the fine line between love and war and to the streets of New York City where the next generation of refugees strategizes about how to survive China's relentless assault But Bruno's reporting does not stop at well worn tales of Chinese meddling and political intervention It goes beyond them and within them to explore how China's strategy is changing the Tibetan exile community forever

Beethoven in Beijing: Stories from the Philadelphia Orchestra's Historic Journey to China Jennifer Lin, 2022-04-29 In 1973 Western music was banned in the People's Republic of China But in a remarkable breakthrough cultural exchange the Philadelphia Orchestra conducted a tour of closed off China becoming the first American orchestra to visit the communist nation Jennifer Lin's Beethoven in Beijing provides a fabulous photo-rich oral history of this boundary-breaking series of concerts the orchestra performed under famed conductor Eugene Ormandy. Lin draws from interviews, personal diaries, and news accounts to give voice to the American and Chinese musicians, diplomats, journalists, and others who participated in and witnessed this historic event. Beethoven in Beijing is filled with glorious images as well as anecdotes ranging from amusing sidewalk Frisbee sessions and acupuncture treatments for sore musicians to a tense encounter involving Madame Mao dictating which symphony was to be played at a concert. A companion volume to the film of the same name, Beethoven in Beijing shows how this 1973 tour came at the dawn of a resurgence of interest in classical music in China, now a vital source of revenue for touring orchestras.

Our Story Rao Pingru, 2018-05-08 Begun by the author when he was eighty-seven years old and mourning the loss of his wife, Our Story is a graphic memoir like no other: a celebration of a marriage that spanned the twentieth century in China, told in vibrant original paintings and prose. Rao Pingru was twenty-four-year-old soldier when he was reintroduced to Mao Meitang, a girl he'd known in childhood and now the woman his father had arranged for him to marry. One glimpse of her through a window as she put on lipstick was enough to capture Pingru's heart, a moment that sparked a union that would last almost sixty years. Our Story is Pingru and Meitang's epic but unassuming romance. It follows the couple through the decades in both poverty and good fortune, looking for work, opening a restaurant, moving cities, mending shoes, raising their children, and being separated for seventeen years by the government when Pingru is sent to a labor camp. As the pair ages, China undergoes extraordinary growth, political turmoil, and cultural change. When Meitang passes away in 2008, Pingru memorializes his wife and their relationship the only way he knows how: through painting. In an outpouring of love and grief, he puts it all on paper. Spanning 1922 through 2008, Our Story is a tale of enduring love and simple values that is at once tragic and inspiring, an old-fashioned story that unfolds in a nation undergoing cataclysmic change. With gorgeous full-color illustrations throughout and a distinctive exposed spine emulating the original Chinese design.

Salesman in Beijing Arthur Miller, 1991 In 1983 Arthur Miller was invited to direct Death of a Salesman at the Beijing People's Theatre with Chinese actors. While there, he kept a diary; this book tells the story of Miller's time in China and of the paradoxes of directing in a Communist country: a tragedy of American capitalism.

A Comrade Lost and Found Jan Wong, 2010-02-02 A suspenseful, elegantly written account of the author's return to China after thirty years to search for the woman she betrayed to the authorities. Publishers Weekly starred review. In the early 1970s, at the height of the Cultural Revolution, Jan Wong traveled from Canada to Beijing University where she would become one of only two Westerners permitted to study. One day a fellow student, Yin Luoyi, asked for her help getting to the United States. Wong, then a starry-eyed Maoist from Montreal, immediately reported her to the authorities, and shortly thereafter Yin disappeared. Thirty-three years later, hoping to make amends, Wong revisits the Chinese capital to search for the person who has haunted her conscience. At the very least, she wants to discover whether Yin survived. But Wong finds the new Beijing bewildering. Phone numbers addresses and even names change with startling frequency In a society determined to bury the past Yin Luoyi will be hard to find As Wong traces her way from one former comrade to the next she unearths not only the fate of the woman she betrayed but the strange and dramatic transformation of contemporary China In this memoir she tells how her journey rekindled all of her love for and disillusionment with her ancestral land Gone is the semirural capital where the author's revolutionary course of study included bouts of hard labor and self criticism sessions In its place are eight lane expressways lit up like Christmas trees shiny skyscrapers and the largest shopping mall in the world Wong is a gifted storyteller and hers is a deeply personal and richly detailed eyewitness account of China's journey to glossy modernity Publishers Weekly starred review
