Cultural Techniques Bernhard Siegert, 2015-05-01 In a crucial shift within posthumanistic media studies Bernhard Siegert dissolves the concept of media into a network of operations that reproduce displace process and reflect the distinctions fundamental for a given culture Cultural Techniques aims to forget our traditional understanding of media so as to redefine the concept through something more fundamental than the empiricist study of a medium s individual or collective uses or of its cultural semantics or aesthetics Rather Siegert seeks to relocate media and culture on a level where the distinctions between object and performance matter and form human and nonhuman sign and channel the symbolic and the real are still in the process of becoming The result is to turn ontology into a domain of all that is meant in German by the word Kultur Cultural techniques comprise not only self referential symbolic practices like reading writing counting or image making The analysis of artifacts as cultural techniques emphasizes their ontological status as in between shifting from first order to second order techniques from the technical to the artistic from object to sign from the natural to the cultural from the operational to the representational Cultural Techniques ranges from seafaring drafting and eating to the production of the sign sign distinction in old and new media to the reproduction of anthropological difference to the study of trompe l oeil grids registers and doors Throughout Siegert addresses fundamental questions of how ontological distinctions can be replaced by chains of operations that process those alleged ontological distinctions within the ontic Grounding posthumanist theory both
