intellectual self representation a culture that not only helps them make some sense of such misfortunes but also protects them somehow from a collapse into nihilism An interdisciplinary study of this sophisticated culture of survival and endurance has been long overdue Not only is it charming and worth studying in its own right but with the re integration of the new Europe into the old one and the emergence on the Western European intellectual scene of many authors from the East such a culture will also shape the European mind of the 21st century This volume decodes and explores this culture of precariousness from the complementary angles of philosophy political theory intellectual history and literary studies Expert contributors look at a wide range of topics from philosophical martyrdom to collective suffering to geographical fatalism and explore the works of key authors in the field including Cioran Ko akowski Kert sz Bauman and i ek This book was originally published as a special issue of Angelaki The Journal of the Theoretical Humanities

Popular Music and the Moving Image in Eastern Europe Ewa Mazierska, Zolt Gyori, 2018-12-13 Popular Music and the Moving Image in Eastern Europe is the first collection to discuss the ways in which popular music has been used cinematically from musicals to music videos to documentary film in Eastern Europe from 1945 to the present day It argues that during the period of state socialism moving image was an important tool of promoting music in the respective countries and creating popular cinema Yet despite this importance filmmakers who specialized in musicals lacked the social prestige of leading auteurs and received little critical attention The resulting scholarly prejudice towards pop culture created a severe shortage of critical studies of the genre With the fall of state socialism and with it the need for economically viable film and media industries brought about an unprecedented upsurge of films utilizing popular music and a greater recognition of popular cinema as a legitimate object of study Popular Music and the Moving Image in Eastern Europe fills the gap and demonstrates why the popular music cinema interface needs to be theorized with respect to the political ideological and social forces invested in popular culture

New Women's Writing in Russia, Central and Eastern Europe Rosalind Marsh, 2020-12-07 Since the late 1980s there has been an explosion of women's writing in Russia, Central and Eastern Europe greater than in any other cultural period. This book, which contains contributions by scholars and writers from many different countries, aims to address the gap in literature and debate that exists in relation to this subject. We investigate why women's writing has become so prominent in post-socialist countries and enquire whether writers regard their gender as a burden or, on the contrary, as empowering. We explore the relationship in contemporary women's writing between gender, class, and nationality, as well as issues of ethnicity and post-colonialism.
