A Home at the End of the World Michael Cunningham, 2010-08-24 From Michael Cunningham, the Pulitzer Prize-winning author of The Hours, comes the acclaimed novel of two boyhood friends. A Home at the End of the World now a feature film starring Colin Farrell and Dallas Roberts. Jonathan and Bobby: Jonathan is lonely, introspective, and unsure of himself; Bobby is hip, dark, and inarticulate. In New York after college, Bobby moves in with Jonathan and his roommate Clare, a veteran of the city's erotic wars. Bobby and Clare fall in love, scuttling the plans of Jonathan, who is gay, to father Clare's child. Then when Clare and Bobby have a baby, the three move to a small house upstate to raise their child together and, with an odd friend Alice, create a new kind of family. A Home at the End of the World masterfully depicts the charged, fragile relationships of urban life today.

The Denial of Nature Arne Johan Vetlesen, 2015-02-11 A study of the increasingly precarious relationship between humans and nature, this book seeks to go beyond work already contributed to the environmental movement. It does so by highlighting the importance of experiencing rather than merely theorizing nature, while realizing that such experience is becoming increasingly rare, thus reinforcing the estrangement from nature that is a source of its ongoing, human-caused destruction. In his original approach to environmental philosophy, the author argues for the reinstatement of nature's value outside of its exploitative usefulness for human ends. Such a perspective emphasizes the extent to which the environmental problem is a concrete reality requiring urgent action based on a multi-sensuous appreciation of humans' dependence on nonhuman lifeforms. Designed as an accompaniment to undergraduate and postgraduate research, The Denial of Nature draws on empirically informed literature from the social sciences to examine what life is really like for humans and nature in the era of global capitalism. The book contends that capitalist society exploits nature both in the form of human capital and natural capital more relentlessly than any other and offers an environmental philosophy which actively opposes current developments. Through discussions of the work of Teresa Brennan, Theodor Adorno, Martin Heidegger, and Hans Jonas, and through a radical critique of the nature deficit in Jürgen Habermas's theory of capitalist modernity, The Denial of Nature relies on insights from Critical Realism to bring together several seldom-linked philosophies and suggest a new approach to the heavily discussed question of environmental ethics. Arne Johan Vetlesen is Professor of Philosophy at the University of Oslo, Norway, and the author of twenty books, among them Perception, Empathy, and Judgment: An Inquiry into the Preconditions of Moral Performance (1994), Closeness: An Ethics with H
