Richardson,1988 Introducing Architectural Tectonics Chad Schwartz,2016-10-04 Introducing Architectural Tectonics is an exploration of the poetics of construction Tectonic theory is an integrative philosophy examining the relationships formed between design construction and space while creating or experiencing a work of architecture In this text author Chad Schwartz presents an introductory investigation into tectonic theory subdividing it into distinct concepts in order to make it accessible to beginning and advanced students alike The book centers on the tectonic analysis of twenty contemporary works of architecture located in eleven countries including Germany Italy United States Chile Japan Bangladesh Spain and Australia and designed by such notable architects as Tadao Ando Herzog de Meuron Kengo Kuma Olson Kundig and Peter Zumthor Although similarities do exist between the projects their distinctly different characteristics location and climate context size program construction methods and range of interpretations of tectonic expression provide the most significant lessons of the book helping you to understand tectonic theory Written in clear accessible language these investigations examine the poetic creation of architecture showing you lessons and concepts that you can integrate into your own work whether studying in a university classroom or practicing in a professional office Federal Register ,1985 Postmodern Visions Heinrich Klotz,Volker Fischer,1985 Rethinking Urban Transport After Modernism David Dewar,Fabio Todeschini,2017-07-05 Taking South Africa as a case study this book puts forward an innovative holistic view of urban movement and transportation It argues that movement is not an end in itself but simply one element of urban public structure Its key issue therefore is not how to improve transportation but how transportation can best be used to improve overall urban performance Analogical Thinking in Architecture Jean-Pierre Chupin,2023-07-27 This book provides an in depth exploration of the rich and persistent use of analogical thinking in the built environment Since the turn of the 21st century design thinking has permeated many fields outside of the design disciplines It is expected to succeed whenever disciplinary boundaries need to be transcended in order to think outside the box This book argues that these qualities have long been supported by analogical thinking an agile way of reasoning in which think the unknown through the familiar The book is organized into four case studies the first reviews analogical models that have been at the heart of design thinking representations from the 1960s to the present day the second investigates the staying power of biological analogies the third explores the paradoxical imaginary of analogous cities as a means of integrating contemporary architecture with heritage contexts while the fourth unpacks the critical and theoretical potential of linguistic metaphors and visual comparisons in architectural discourse Comparing views on the role of analogies and metaphors by prominent voices in architecture and related disciplines from the 17th century to the present the book shows how the analogical world of the project is revealed as a wide open field of creative and cognitive interactions These visual and textual operations are explained through 36 analogical plates which can be read as an inter text demonstrating how analogy has the power to reconcile design and theories Modern Architecture, Empire, and Race in Fascist Italy Brian L. McLaren,2021-02-22 In Modern Architecture Empire and Race in Fascist Italy Brian L McLaren examines the architecture of the late Fascist era in relation to the various racial constructs that emerged following the occupation of Ethiopia in 1936 and intensified during the wartime. This study is conducted through a wide ranging investigation of two highly significant state sponsored exhibitions the 1942 Esposizione Universale di Roma and 1940 Mostra Triennale delle Terre Italiane d'Oltremare. These exhibitions and other related imperial displays are examined over an extended span of time to better understand how architecture, art and urban space, the politics and culture that encompassed them, the processes that formed them and the society that experienced them were racialized in varying and complex ways.

Architecture as Cultural and Political Discourse Daniel Grincer, 2016-02-26. This book is concerned with cultural and political discourses that affect the production of architecture. It examines how these discursive mechanisms and technologies combine to normalise and aestheticise everyday practices. It queries the means by which buildings are appropriated to give shape and form to political aspirations and values. Architecture is not overtly political. It does not coerce people to behave in certain ways. However, architecture is constructed within the same rules and practices whereby people and communities self govern and regulate themselves to think and act in certain ways. This book seeks to examine these rules through various case studies including the reconstructed Notre Dame Cathedral, the Nazi era Munich Königsplatz, Auschwitz concentration camp and the Prora resort, Sydney's suburban race riots and the Australian Immigration Detention Centre on Christmas Island.

Pastoral Capitalism Louise A. Mzingo, 2016-05-27. How business appropriated the pastoral landscape as seen in the corporate campus, the corporate estate and the office park. By the end of the twentieth century, America's suburbs contained more office space than its central cities. Many of these corporate workplaces were surrounded somewhat incongruously by verdant vistas of broad lawns and leafy trees. In Pastoral Capitalism, Louise Mzingo describes the evolution of these central but often ignored features of postwar urbanism in the context of the modern capitalist enterprise. These new suburban corporate landscapes emerged from a historical moment when corporations reconceived their management structures, the city decentralized and dispersed into low density, auto dependent peripheries and the pastoral in the form of leafy residential suburbs triumphed as an American ideal. Greenness, writes Mzingo, was associated with goodness and pastoral capitalism appropriated the suburb's aesthetics and moral code. Like the lawn proud suburban homeowner, corporations understood a pastoral landscape's capacity to communicate identity, status and right mindedness. Mzingo distinguishes among three forms of corporate landscapes: the corporate campus, the corporate estate and the office park, and examines suburban corporate landscapes built and inhabited by such companies as Bell Labs, General Motors, Deere Company and Microsoft. She also considers the globalization of pastoral capitalism in Europe and the developing world, including Singapore, India and China. Mzingo argues that even as it is proliferating, pastoral capitalism needs redesign, as do many of our metropolitan forms, for pressing social, cultural, political and environmental reasons. Future transformations are impossible, however, unless we understand the past. Pastoral Capitalism offers an indispensable chapter in urban history.

examining not only the design of corporate landscapes but also the economic social and cultural models that determined their form

Encyclopedia of Twentieth Century Architecture R. Stephen Sennott, 2004 For more information including the introduction a full list of entries and contributors a generous selection of sample pages and more visit the Encyclopedia of 20th Century Architecture website Focusing on architecture from all regions of the world this three volume set profiles the twentieth century's vast chronicle of architectural achievements both within and well beyond the theoretical confines of modernism Unlike existing works this encyclopedia examines the complexities of rapidly changing global conditions that have dispersed modern architectural types movements styles and building practices across traditional geographic and cultural boundaries

Key Urban Housing of the Twentieth Century Hilary French, 2008-10-28 A collection of housing designs built over the last hundred years illustrating innovative approaches Fourth in the Key series with newly drawn plans suitable for study in architecture schools this volume will appeal to students of urban design and planning as well as architecture Key developments covered include early apartment blocks the projects of European modernism high rise and large scale schemes and postmodernism Exterior and interior photographs show materials massing and context 150 color photographs 500 line drawings

Constructing Gardens, Cultivating the City Amanda Shoaf Vincent, 2023-05-16 Constructing Gardens Cultivating the City is the first cultural history of major new parks developed in Paris in the late twentieth century as part of the city's program of adaptive reuse of industrial spaces Thanks to laws that gave the city more political autonomy Paris's local government launched a campaign of park creation in the late 1970s that continued to the turn of the millennium The parks in this book represent this campaign and illustrate different facets of their cultural and historical context Archival research interviews and analyses of the parks reveal how postmodern debates about urban planning the historic city public space and nature's presence in an urban setting influenced their designs In sum the city adopted the garden as a model for public parks investing in complex richly symbolic and representational spaces These parks were intended to represent contemporary twists on traditional designs and serve local residents as much as they would contribute to Paris's role as a world city The parks development process often included points of conflict pointing to differing views on what Parisian space should represent and fundamental contradictions between the characteristics of public space and the garden as it is traditionally defined These parks demonstrate the ongoing cultivation of the city over time in which transformed sites not only fulfil new functions but also engage with history and their surroundings to create new meaning They stand for landscape as a form of signifying cultural production that directly engages with other art forms and ways of knowing Just as the Luxembourg Gardens the Tuileries and the Buttes Chaumont parks exemplify their eras cultural dynamics such parks as the Jardin Atlantique Parc Andr Citro n and the Jardin des Halles express contemporary French culture within the archetypal space of their era the city Finally they point the way to current trends in landscape architecture such as citizen gardening and ecological initiatives

Intertwining: Steven Holl, 1996-04 To his earlier articulated concept of anchoring which connects a construction with the history of the ground locale and region Holl adds the concept of intertwining which is illuminated by sensory perceptual conceptual and emotional experiences Illustrates with drawings plans and photographs projects in Japan Finland Germany Switzerland Holland Korea and Norway No index Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR

Building Institution Kim Förster,2024-02-21 Building Institution chronicles the expansion of architecture as a profession and discipline in the postmodern era Kim F rster traces the compelling history of the Institute for Architecture and Urban Studies which was active in New York from 1967 to 1985 Drawing on extensive archival research and oral histories he constructs a collective biography that details the Institute s diverse roles and the dynamic interplay between research and design education culture and publishing By exploring the transformation of cultural production into a practice as well as the culturalization and global postmodernization of architecture the volume contributes significantly to the institutional history of architecture

Anti-Veiling Campaigns in the Muslim World Stephanie Cronin,2014-04-24 In recent years bitter controversies have erupted across Europe and the Middle East about women s veiling and especially their wearing of the face veil or niqab Yet the deeper issues contained within these controversies secularism versus religious belief individual freedom versus social or family coercion identity versus integration are not new but are strikingly prefigured by earlier conflicts This book examines the state sponsored anti veiling campaigns which swept across wide swathes of the Muslim world in the interwar period especially in Turkey and the Balkans Iran Afghanistan and the Soviet republics of the Caucasus and Central Asia It shows how veiling was officially discouraged and ridiculed as backward and although it was rarely banned veiling was politicized and turned into a rallying point for a wider opposition Asking a number of questions about this earlier anti veiling discourse and the policies flowing from it and the reactions which it provoked the book illuminates and contextualizes contemporary debates about gender Islam and modernism
