Plagued by Fire Paul Hendrickson, 2020-09-22 Frank Lloyd Wright has long been known as a rank egotist who held in contempt almost everything aside from his own genius Harder to detect but no less real is a Wright who fully understood and suffered from the choices he made This is the Wright whom Paul Hendrickson reveals in this masterful biography the Wright who was haunted by his father about whom he told the greatest lie of his life And this we see is the Wright of many other neglected aspects of his story his close and perhaps romantic relationship with friend and early mentor Cecil Corwin the eerie unmistakable role of fires in his life the connection between the 1921 Black Wall Street massacre in Tulsa Oklahoma and the murder of his mistress her two children and four others at his beloved Wisconsin home In showing us Wright's facades along with their cracks Hendrickson helps us form a fresh deep and more human understanding of the man With prodigious research unique vision and his ability to make sense of a life in ways at once unexpected poetic and undeniably brilliant he has given us the defining book on Wright

Broken Glass Alex Beam, 2021-03-30 The true story of the intimate relationship that gave birth to the Farnsworth House a masterpiece of twentieth century architecture and disintegrated into a bitter feud over love money gender and the very nature of art An intimate portrait alive with architectural intrigue Architect Magazine In 1945 Edith Farnsworth asked the German architect Mies van der Rohe already renowned for his avant garde buildings to design a weekend home for her outside of Chicago Edith was a woman ahead of her time unmarried she was a distinguished medical researcher as well as an accomplished violinist translator and poet The two quickly began spending weekends together talking philosophy Catholic mysticism and of course architecture over wine soaked picnic lunches Their personal and professional collaboration would produce the Farnsworth House one of the most important works of architecture of all time a blindingly original structure made up almost entirely of glass and steel But the minimalist marvel built in 1951 was plagued by cost overruns and a sudden chilling of the two friends mutual affection Though the building became world famous Edith found it impossible to live in because of its constant leaks flooding and complete lack of privacy Alienated and aggrieved she lent her name to a public campaign against Mies cheered on by Frank Lloyd Wright Mies in turn sued her for unpaid monies The ensuing lengthy trial heard evidence of purported incompetence by an acclaimed architect and allegations of psychological cruelty and emotional trauma A commercial dispute litigated in a rural Illinois courthouse became a trial of modernist art and architecture itself Interweaving personal drama and cultural history Alex Beam presents a stylish enthralling narrative tapestry illuminating the fascinating history behind one of the twentieth century's most beautiful and significant architectural projects

The Curve of the Arch Larry Millett, 1985 John L. O'Sullivan and His Times Robert Sampson, 2003 The life of nineteenth century journalist diplomat adventurer and enthusiast for lost causes John Louis O Sullivan is usually glimpsed only in brief episodes perhaps because the components of his life are sometimes contradictory An exponent of romantic democracy O Sullivan became a defender of slavery A champion of reforms for women labor criminals and public schools he ended his life promoting spiritualism This first full length biography reveals a man possessed of the idealism and promise as well as the prejudices and follies of his age a man who sensed the revolutionary and liberating potential of radical democracy but was unable to acknowledge the racial barriers it had to cross to fulfill its promise Sure to be welcomed by scholars of the Jacksonian era and others interested in nineteenth century American history John L O Sullivan and His Times presents an in depth examination of O Sullivan s ideas as they were expressed in the Democratic Review and other newspapers and literary magazines that he edited O Sullivan was a crusader whose efforts to end capital panishment came within a hair s breadth of ending hanging in New York an editor who called down the w

Sullivan,David Van Zanten,Chicago Historical Society,1986 Werk van de Amerikaanse architect The Architecture of Barry Byrne Vincent L. Michael,2013 Barry Byrne 1883 1967 was one of the first significant apprentices of Frank Lloyd Wright studying in Wright s Oak Park studio from 1902 t0 1908 He followed Wright s principles but forged an individual style more reminiscent of Louis Sullivan and Irving Gill with taut planar skins enveloping modern space plans From 1914 to 1917 he was the American partner of Walter Burley Griffin In 1922 he designed the first modern Catholic church St Thomas Apostle in Chicago and concentrated on Catholic churches and schools for much of his career This book charts the entire length of Byrne s work highlighting its qualities while discussing the cultural conditions that kept it in the shadows of his more famous contemporaries In 1924 he traveled to Europe where be met Mies Mendelsohn Oud and other modernist architects there He was the only Prairie School architect to build in Europe designing the concrete Church of Christ the King built in 1928 31 in Cork Ireland Illustrated by more than 100 photographs and drawings this is the first book length study of Byrne The Encyclopedia of Chicago James R. Grossman,Ann Durkin Keating,Janice L. Reiff,Newberry Library,Chicago Historical Society, 2004 A comprehensive historical reference on metropolitan Chicago encompasses more than 1 400 entries on such topics as neighborhoods ethnic groups cultural institutions and business history and furnishes interpretive essays on the literary images of Chicago the built environment and the city's sports culture Louis Sullivan Robert C. Twombly, Narciso G Menocal, Narciso G. Menocal, 2000-11-14 Louis Sullivan believed that art should reveal the creative method of nature The greatest artist was the poet whose understanding of nature spurred social change This volume is both a tribute to Sullivan's poetic genius and a catalogue of all his graphic work The authors discuss the social implications of Sullivan's theories of architecture with visual proof of his vision in illustrations of his work on paper and in three dimensions A translation of Etude sur l'inspiration Sullivan's seminal and heretofore unpublished credo in verse is further testimony to his vision Included is an illustrated catalogue of all extant Sullivan drawings some never before published Life and Shape Richard Joseph Neutra, 2009 Since he followed it all of his life Richard Neutra 1892-1970 must have relished the maxim of the Greek philosopher Socrates The unexamined life is not worth living In his books articles lectures correspondence and even casual conversations Neutra constantly examined not only his own life but the lives of others present and past and the human and natural world they inhabited Nowhere was this truer than in his autobiography Life and Shape first published in 1962 which now after years of being out of print has again happily come back to life As opposed to Survival Through Design 1954 his superb collection of densely philosophical essays Neutra took a different tack in Life and Shape following a lighter and more deliberately relaxed approach It was as if the usually serious and intense Neutra was giving himself permission to reveal his richly ironic sense of humor and to probe areas in his personal experience which he had not examined as closely before These included hitherto unrecorded memories of his parents siblings and his childhood and education in imperial Vienna his numbing experiences as an Austrian artillery officer in World War I and the beginnings of his architectural consciousness in his response to the work of Otto Wagner Adolf Loos Erich Mendelsohn Louis Sullivan and Frank Lloyd Wright As in the autobiographies of Sullivan and Wright Life and Shape concentrates on Neutra's earlier years both in Europe and America While he naturally recounts his memories of such well known commissions as the Lovell Health House 1929 his own Van der Leeuw Research House 1933 and the von Sternberg House 1935 he also muses on such less famous buildings as the small and now virtually forgotten Mosk House 1933 Life and Shape also confirms Neutra's obsession with the passage of time and his firm resolution never to waste it Like Sullivan and Wright Neutra eschewed writing a factual chronicle and at the age of 70 composed instead a meditation on the aspects of his life and work that seemed in retrospect to be the most interesting and significant He felt no need to try to include everything but rather to present an honest recounting of his memory of his life In writing my own Richard Neutra and the Search for Modern Architecture Oxford University Press 1982 Rizzoli Press 2006 I relied on Life and Shape when I wanted an account of Neutra's experiences told in his own authentic voice For future generations of architects historian and readers it is good to have it back Thomas S Hines UCLA Professor Emeritus of History and Architecture John Vinci Robert Sharoff, 2017 The first authoritative and illustrated survey of the life and work of one Chicago's most acclaimed architects and preservationists John Vinci is a comprehensive and richly illustrated guide that readers interested in architecture urban design and historic preservation will prize
