Paizis, 1998-09-07 The popularity of romance fiction is such that it constitutes nearly one quarter of new paperback fiction printed in the world Its success depends on its ability to reflect and articulate the reader's aspirations for a better life and stands at the same time as a testament to her alienation This fresh look at the romantic fiction seeks to discover the reason for its appeal by combining analysis of the poetics of the genre with a study of the real reader's intervention Love Marriage V. Associate Professor of English and African American Studies Wesleyan University, 1993-10-19 What does the tradition of marriage mean for people who have historically been deprived of its legal status Generally thought of as a convention of the white middle class the marriage plot has received little attention from critics of African American literature In this study Ann duCille uses texts such as Nella Larsen's Quicksand 1928 and Zora Neale Hurston's Their Eyes Were Watching God 1937 to demonstrate that the African American novel like its European and Anglo-American counterparts has developed around the marriage plot what she calls the coupling convention Exploring the relationship between racial ideology and literary and social conventions duCille uses the coupling convention to trace the historical development of the African American women's novel She demonstrates the ways in which black women appropriated this novelistic device as a means of expressing and reclaiming their own identity More than just a study of the marriage tradition in black women s fiction however The Coupling Convention takes up and takes on many different meanings of tradition It challenges the notion of a single black literary tradition or of a single black feminist literary canon grounded in specifically black female language and experience as it explores the ways in which white and black male and female mainstream and marginalized traditions and canons have influenced and cross fertilized each other Much more than a period study The Coupling Convention spans the period from 1853 to 1948 addressing the vital questions of gender subjectivity race and the canon that inform literary study today In this original work duCille offers a new paradigm for reading black women s fiction Photoplay,1924 Love Marriage Monica Ali,2022-05-03 Yasmin Ghorami is twenty six in training to be a doctor like her Indian born father and engaged to the charismatic upper class Joe Sangster whose domineering mother Helen is a famous feminist Though both Yasmin s parents and Joe s mother approve of the marriage the cultural gulf between them is vast as it turns out is the gulf in sexual experience between Yasmin and Joe The novel opens as Yasmin her parents and her brother pile into their car packed with Indian food prepared by Yasmin s mother to go to dinner to meet Joe s mother in her elegant townhouse in one of London s poshest neighborhoods Contrary to all of Yasmin s fears her unsophisticated and somewhat flamboyant mother is embraced and celebrated by Helen and her friends The Perfect Marriage Kate Kerrigan,2015-11-01 This story is written with so much heart its beat is palpable in every word on every page Cecelia Ahern author of P S I Love You New York food writer Tressa returns from honeymoon worried that she has married her impossibly handsome new husband Dan out of late thirties panic instead of love In 1930 s Ireland her grandmother Bernadine is married off to the local schoolteacher after her family are unable to raise a dowry for her to marry her true love Michael During the first year of her marriage Tressa distracts herself from her stay or go dilemma by working on her grandmother s recipes searching for solace and answers through their preparation Through the stories of these two women The Perfect Marriage challenges the modern ideal of romantic love as a given and ponders whether true love can really be learned Originally published as Recipes for a Perfect Marriage R.K.
