Love And Other Infectious Diseases A Memoir:

Love and Other Infectious Diseases Molly Haskell, 2000 My husband awoke one night with a fever of 105.9 I rushed him to the Emergency room of a New York hospital and there began a six month drama in which doctors tried to figure out what was wrong with him while I alternated between hope and despair For the three months that Andrew remained critically ill and deranged hallucinating most of the time he was no longer the lover friend fellow critic and confidant I was used to Eleven years my senior Andrew had been my mentor as a writer and established film critic and now I might be on my own Terrified by the possibility of Andrew's death and forced by that terror to look inward I began to see the extent of my dependency on a marriage that had seemed perfectly equal perfect in fact I think of the book as both a thriller and love story a hospital suspense melodrama as it tracks the ups and downs of a husband's illness and the memoir of a marriage that focuses on my own spiritual and psychological journey The Caregiver's Tale Ann Burack-Weiss, 2006 Ann Burack Weiss explores a rich variety of published memoirs by authors who cared for ill or disabled family members The text will offer insight and comfort to individuals caring for a loved one and is a valuable resource for all healthcare professionals

Negotiations Carolyn Ellis,2010-08-04 A poignant memoir about what it means to be involved and in love with someone who is chronically ill Living in Death's Shadow Emily K. Abel,2017-02-28 Challenging assumptions about caregiving for those dying of chronic illness What is it like to live with and love someone whose death while delayed is nevertheless foretold In Living in Death's Shadow Emily K Abel an expert on the history of death and dying examines memoirs written between 1965 and 2014 by family members of people who died from chronic disease In earlier eras death generally occurred quickly from acute illnesses but as chronic disease became the major cause of mortality many people continued to live with terminal diagnoses for months and even years Illuminating the excruciatingly painful experience of coping with a family member s extended fatal illness Abel analyzes the political personal cultural and medical dimensions of these struggles The book focuses on three significant developments that transformed the experiences of those dying and their intimates the passage of Medicare and Medicaid the growing use of high tech treatments at the end of life and the rise of a movement to humanize the care of dying people It questions the exalted value placed on acceptance of mortality as well as the notion that it is always better to die at home than in an institution Ultimately Living in Death's Shadow emphasizes the need to shift attention from the drama of death to the entire course of a serious chronic disease The chapters follow a common narrative of life threatening disease learning the diagnosis deciding whether to enroll in a clinical trial acknowledging or struggling against the limits of medicine receiving care at home and in a hospital or nursing home and obtaining palliative and hospice care

Living in Death's Shadow is essential reading for everyone seeking to understand what it means to live with someone suffering from a chronic fatal condition including cancer AIDS Alzheimer's and heart disease

Consuming Desires Roger Rosenblatt, 2006-12 Consider this paradox Ecologists estimate that it would take three planets Earth to provide an American standard of living to the entire world Yet it is that standard of living to which the whole world aspires In Consuming Desires award winning writer and social commentator Roger Rosenblatt brings together a brilliant collection of thinkers and writers to shed light on the triumphs and tragedies of that disturbing paradox The book represents a captivating salon offering a rich and varied dialogue on the underlying roots of consumer culture and its pervasive impact on ourselves and the world around us Each author offers a unique perspective their layers of thoughts and insights building together to create a striking multifaceted picture of our society and culture Jane Smiley probes the roots of consumerism in the emancipation of women from household drudgery afforded by labor saving devices and technological innovation Alex Kotlowitz describes the mutual reinforcement of fashion trends as poor inner city kids and rich suburban kids strive to imitate each other Bill McKibben discusses the significance and the irony of defining yourself not by what you buy but by what you don't buy The essays range widely but two ideas are central to nearly all of them that consumption is driven by yearning and desire often unspoken seemingly insatiable and that what prevents us from keeping our consumptive impulse in check is the western concept of self the solitary and restless self entitled to all it can pay for As Rosenblatt explains in his insightful introduction Individualism and desire are what makes us great and what makes us small Freedom is our dream and our enemy The essays touch on these paradoxes and while all are too nuanced and graceful to preach easy reform they give an idea of what reform means where it is possible and in some cases where it may not be as desirable as it appears
