For Love or Money Nancy Folbre, 2012-09-06 As women moved into the formal labor force in large numbers over the last forty years care work traditionally provided primarily by women has increasingly shifted from the family arena to the market Child care elder care care for the disabled and home care now account for a growing segment of low wage work in the United States and demand for such work will only increase as the baby boom generation ages But the expanding market provision of care has created new economic anxieties and raised pointed questions Why do women continue to do most care work both paid and unpaid Why does care work remain low paid when the quality of care is so highly valued How effective and equitable are public policies toward dependents in the United States In For Love and Money an interdisciplinary team of experts explores the theoretical dilemmas of care provision and provides an unprecedented empirical overview of the looming problems for the care sector in the United States Drawing on diverse disciplines and areas of expertise For Love and Money develops an innovative framework to analyze existing care policies and suggest potential directions for care policy and future research Contributors Paula England Nancy Folbre and Carrie Leana explore the range of motivations for caregiving such as familial responsibility or limited job prospects and why both love and money can be efficient motivators They also examine why women tend to specialize in the provision of care citing factors like job discrimination social pressure or the personal motivation to provide care reported by many women Suzanne Bianchi Nancy Folbre and Douglas Wolf estimate how much unpaid care is being provided in the United States and show that low income families rely more on unpaid family members for their child and for elder care than do affluent families With low wages and little savings these families often find it difficult to provide care and earn enough money to stay afloat Candace Howes Carrie Leana and Kristin Smith investigate the dynamics within the paid care sector and find problematic wages and working conditions including high turnover inadequate training and a pay penalty for workers who enter care jobs These conditions have consequences poor job quality in child care and adult care also leads to poor care quality In their chapters Janet Gornick Candace Howes and Laura Braslow provide a systematic inventory of public policies that directly shape the provision of care for children or for adults who need personal assistance such as family leave child care tax credits and Medicaid funded long term care They conclude that income and variations in states policies are the greatest factors determining how well and for whom the current system works Despite the demand for care work very little public policy attention has been devoted to it Only three states for example have enacted paid family leave programs Paid or unpaid care costs those who provide it At the heart of For Love and Money is the understanding that the quality of care work in the United States matters not only for those who receive care but also for society at large which benefits from the nurturance and maintenance of human capabilities As care work gravitates from the family to the formal economy this volume clarifies the pressing need for America to fundamentally rethink its care policies and increase public investment in this increasingly crucial sector

Nature and Nurture of Love Marga Vicedo,2013-05-16 The notion that maternal care and love will determine a child s emotional well being and future personality has become ubiquitous In countless stories and movies we find that the problems of the protagonists anything from the fear of romantic commitment to serial killing stem from their troubled relationships with their mothers during childhood How did we come to hold these views about the determinant power of mother love over an individual s emotional development And what does this vision of mother love entail for children and mothers In The Nature and Nurture of Love Marga Vicedo examines scientific views about children s emotional needs and mother love from

World War II until the 1970s paying particular attention to John Bowlby's ethological theory of attachment behavior Vicedo tracks the development of Bowlby's work as well as the interdisciplinary research that he used to support his theory including Konrad Lorenz's studies of imprinting in geese Harry Harlow's experiments with monkeys and Mary Ainsworth's observations of children and mothers in Uganda and the United States Vicedo's historical analysis reveals that important psychoanalysts and animal researchers opposed the project of turning emotions into biological instincts Despite those substantial criticisms she argues that attachment theory was paramount in turning mother love into a biological need This shift introduced a new justification for the prescriptive role of biology in human affairs and had profound and negative consequences for mothers and for the valuation of mother love What Makes Love Last? John Gottman, John Mordechai Gottman, Nan Silver, 2012-09-04 One of the foremost relationship experts applies the insights of science toward understanding the real meaning of trust between a couple and suggests a new approach to handle adultery Jo & Laurie Margaret Stohl, Melissa de la Cruz, 2020-06-02 Bestselling authors Margaret Stohl and Melissa de la Cruz bring us a romantic retelling of Little Women starring Jo March and her best friend the boy next door Theodore Laurie Laurence 1869 Concord Massachusetts After the publication of her first novel Jo March is shocked to discover her book of scribbles has become a bestseller and her publisher and fans demand a sequel While pressured into coming up with a story she goes to New York with her dear friend Laurie for a week of inspiration museums operas and even a once in a lifetime reading by Charles Dickens himself But Laurie has romance on his mind and despite her growing feelings Jo's desire to remain independent leads her to turn down his heartfelt marriage proposal and sends the poor boy off to college heartbroken When Laurie returns to Concord with a sophisticated new girlfriend will Jo finally communicate her true heart's desire or lose the love of her life forever The Apocalypse Explained According to the Spiritual Sense Emanuel Swedenborg, 2024-08-25 Reprint of the original first published in 1840 Peas Love & Carrots Danielle Renov, 2020 With 254 approachable recipes and the gorgeous photos that draw inspiration from Danielle's Sephardic and Ashkenazi roots there is plenty in here for every person and every occasion Back cover Love Hanne Orstavik, 2019-11-07 Love is the story of Vibeke and Jon a mother and son who have just moved to a small place in the north of Norway It's the day before Jon's birthday and a travelling carnival has come to the village Jon goes out to sell lottery tickets for his sports club and Vibeke is going to the library From here on we follow the two individuals on their separate journeys through a cold winter's night while a sense of uneasiness grows Love illustrates how language builds its own reality and thus how mother and son can live in completely separate worlds This distance is found not only between human beings but also within each individual This novel shows how such distance may have fatal consequences
