Agatha Christie J.C. Bernthal, 2022-08-25 The undisputed Queen of Crime Dame Agatha Christie 1890 1976 is the bestselling novelist of all time As the creator of immortal detectives Hercule Poirot and Jane Marple she continues to enthrall readers around the world and is drawing increasing attention from scholars historians and critics But Christie wrote far beyond Poirot and Marple A varied life including war work archaeology and two very different marriages provided the backdrop to a diverse body of work This encyclopedic companion summarizes and explores Christie's entire literary output including the detective fiction plays radio dramas adaptations and her little studied non crime writing It details all published works and key themes and characters as well as the people and places that inspired them and identifies a trove of uncollected interviews articles and unpublished material including details that have never appeared in print For the casual reader looking for background information on their favorite mystery to the dedicated scholar tracking down elusive new angles this companion will provide the most comprehensive and up to date information A Book of Women Poets from Antiquity to Now Alik Barnstone, Willis Barnstone, 1992-04-28 A monument to the literary genius of women throughout the ages A Book of Women Poets from Antiquity to Now is an invaluable collection Here in one volume are the works of three hundred poets from six different continents and four millennia This revised edition includes a newly expanded section of American poets from the colonial era to the present A splendid collection of verse by women TIME throughout the ages and around the world now revised and expanded with 38 American poets Iona Kenneth C. Steven, 2000 Acclaimed poet Kenneth Steven draws on his long association with the west coast of Scotland and with the beautiful island of Iona in particular This island has been a place of deep spiritual significance since his early childhood At the 2006 Sony Radio Academy Awards the UK's most prestigious radio accolades Kenneth won the Gold Award for Radio Features for his BBC Radio 4 programme A Requiem for St Kilda s Another Crossing Khadijah Ibrahiim, 2014 Another Crossing tells the stories of an individual life of a family of the communities of Chapeltown and Harehills and of crucial moments in the making of Leeds as a place where cultures meet In poetry that sings from the page the collection re creates places that have been swept away by time like the house on 56 Cowper Street where Kadijah Ibrahiim's Jamaican grandmother lived where there was black pride and Victorian respectability where there were aunts who gave the young girl a cultural education where her grandfather entertained his friends in the sanctum of the West Indian front room Or there was her mother's house on Gathorne Mount a place that moved to the looser beat of reggae where there was strict discipline love good food and blues parties in the cellar The poems tell of the days when youths were excluded from school for growing their locks of the bonfire night riots police harassment and overt racism But they were also the days when black people in Leeds were creating their own culture in music dance and dress shaped by influences from the Caribbean from Black American music and from British punk into something unique In rhythms that draw from the music being celebrated with an unerring eye for the details of style that catch a moment Another Crossing explores the recent past to ask questions about the present Where has that political fire gone Where are the energies that danced to a political beat BBC Worldwide, 1995 Heart Stones James Nash, 2021-10-25 Ignorance Michèle Roberts, 2012-05-10 After every war there are stories that are locked away like bluebottles in drawers and kept silent But sometimes the past can return in the smell of carbolic soap in whispers darting through a village after mass in the colour of an undelivered letter Jeanne Nerin and Marie Ang le Baudry grow up side by side yet apart in the village of Ste Madeleine Marie Ang le is the daughter of the grocer inflated with ideas of her own piety and rightful place in society Jeanne's mother washes clothes for a living She used to be a Jew until this became too dangerous Jeanne does not think twice about grasping the slender chances life throws at her Marie Ang le does not grasp she aspires to a future of comfort and influence When war falls out of the sky along with it tumbles a new grown up world The village must think on its feet play its part in a game for which no one knows the rules Not even the dubious hero with business contacts who sweeps Marie Ang le off her feet Not even the reclusive artist living alone with his sensual red canvases In these uncertain times the enemy may be hiding in your garden shed and the truth is all too easily buried under a pyramid of recriminations Mich le Roberts's new novel is a mesmerising exploration of guilt faith desire and judgment bringing to life a people at war in a way that is at once lyrical and shocking
