

The background of the slide is a painting of a landscape. It features a body of water in the foreground, a small figure standing on a distant shore, and a large, dark, rocky formation on the left side. The sky is a mix of blue and white, suggesting a cloudy day. The overall style is impressionistic, with soft, blended colors.

Realisms A Nineteenth Century Novel

Realism's Empire Geoffrey Baker, 2009 If realist novels are the literary avatars of secular science and rational progress then why are so many canonical realist works organized around a fear of that progress Realism is openly indebted at the level of form and content to imperialist and scientific advances However critical emphasis on this has obscured the extent to which major novelists of the period openly worried about the fate of mystery and the dissolution of tradition that accompanied science s shrinking of the world Realism s modernization is inseparable from nostalgia In Realism s Empire Empiricism and Enchantment in the Nineteenth Century Novel Geoffrey Baker demonstrates that realist fiction s stance toward both progress and the foreign or supernatural is much more complex than established scholarship has assumed The work of Honor de Balzac Anthony Trollope and Theodor Fontane explicitly laments the loss of mystery in the world due to increased knowledge and exploration To counter this loss and to generate the complications required for narrative these three authors import peripheral usually colonial figures into the metropolitan centers they otherwise depict as disenchanted and rationalized Paris London and Berlin Baker s book examines the consequences of this duel for realist narrative and readers understandings of its historical moment In so doing Baker shows Balzac Trollope and Fontane grappling with new realities that frustrate their inherited means of representation and oversee a significant shift in the development of the novel

Sympathetic Realism in Nineteenth-Century British Fiction Rae Greiner, 2013-01-21 British realist novelists of the nineteenth century viewed sympathy not as a feeling but as a form of imaginative thinking useful in constructing their fiction Rae Greiner proposes that sympathy is integral to the form of the classic nineteenth century realist novel Following the philosophy of Adam Smith Greiner argues that sympathy does more than foster emotional identification with others it is a way of thinking along with them By abstracting emotions feelings turn into detached figures of speech that may be shared Sympathy in this way produces realism it is the imaginative process through which the real is substantiated In Sympathetic Realism in Nineteenth Century British Fiction Greiner shows how this imaginative process of sympathy is written into three novelistic techniques regularly associated with nineteenth century fiction metonymy free indirect discourse and realist characterization She explores the work of sentimentalist philosophers David Hume Adam Smith and Jeremy Bentham and realist novelists Jane Austen Charles Dickens George Eliot Joseph Conrad and Henry James

Realism, Representation, and the Arts in Nineteenth-Century Literature Alison Byerly, 1997 This book confronts a significant paradox in the development of literary realism the very novels that present themselves as purveyors and celebrants of direct ordinary human experience also manifest an obsession with art that threatens to sabotage their Realist claims Unlike previous studies of the role of visual art or music or theatre in Victorian literature Realism Representation and the Arts in Nineteenth Century Literature examines the juxtaposition of all of these arts in the works of Charlotte Bront William Thackeray George Eliot Thomas Hardy and others Alison Byerly combines close textual analysis with discussion of relevant ancillary topics to illuminate the place of different arts within nineteenth century British culture Her book which also contains sixteen illustrations represents an effort to bridge the growing gap between aesthetics and cultural studies

Realism in Nineteenth-Century Music Carl Dahlhaus, 1985-06-13 The music of the nineteenth century was and still is thought of as a romantic art whereas the main current of the literature and fine arts of the age was realist from about 1830 Yet some works are consistently described as realistic Nusorgsky's Boris and Bizet's Carmen are only the most frequently cited examples Professor Dahlhaus sets out the criteria of realism with particular reference to French and German theorists and examines the extent to which they apply to music too While his findings do not reverse the verdict that the music of the age was in general romantic he demonstrates that musical realism consists in much more than imitation of natural sounds or tone painting The notes are revised here for the English speaking reader

Nineteenth-Century Literary Realism Katherine Kearns, 1996-01-26 A challenging rethinking of traditional theories and redefinition of the genre of realism

The Reframing of Realism Hazel Gold, 1993 In the writing of Benito Pérez Galdós Spain's most prolific and innovative nineteenth century novelist Hazel Gold finds the act of framing insistently at work By exploring Galdós's methods of structuring and evaluating literary and historical experience Gold illuminates the novelist's art and uncovers the far reaching narratological social and epistemological implications of his framing strategies A close look at Galdós's novels reveals the artist at pains to contain and interpret what he perceived to be the distinctive and often disheartening experience of bourgeois liberalism of his day Looking beyond text to context Gold examines the ways in which Galdós's work itself has been framed by readers and critics in accordance with changing allegiances to contemporary literary theory and the canon The highly ambiguous status of the frame in Galdós's fiction confirms the author's own signal position as a writer poised at the limits between realism and modernity

The Novel of Purpose Amanda Claybaugh, 2007 Social reform and the new transatlanticism The novel of purpose and Anglo American realism Charles Dickens a reformer abroad and at home Anne Bront and Elizabeth Stoddard temperance pledges marriage vows George Eliot and Henry James exemplary women and typical Americans Mark Twain reformers and other con artists Thomas Hardy new women old purposes

Worlds Enough Elaine Freedgood, 2022-01-11 A short provocative book that challenges basic assumptions about Victorian fiction Now praised for its realism and formal coherence the Victorian novel was not always great or even good in the eyes of its critics As Elaine Freedgood reveals in Worlds Enough it was only in the late 1970s that literary critics constructed a prestigious version of British realism erasing more than a century of controversy about the value of Victorian fiction Examining criticism of Victorian novels since the 1850s Freedgood demonstrates that while they were praised for their ability to bring certain social truths to fictional life these novels were also criticized for their formal failures and compared unfavorably to their French and German counterparts She analyzes the characteristics of realism denotation omniscience paratext reference and ontology and the politics inherent in them arguing that if critics displaced the nineteenth century realist novel as the standard by which others are judged literary history might be richer It would allow peripheral literatures and the neglected wisdom of their critics to come fully into view She concludes by questioning the aesthetic racism built into prevailing ideas about the centrality of realism in the novel and how those ideas have affected debates about world literature By re examining the critical reception of the Victorian novel Worlds Enough suggests how we can rethink our practices and perceptions about books we think we know Realism Pam

Morris,2004-06-02 A clear reader friendly guide to debates around realism this guide is vital reading for students of literature in particular those working on the realist novel The Nineteenth-Century Novel: Identities Dennis

Walder,2013-05-13 The Nineteenth Century Novel Identities provides an ideal starting point for understanding gender in the novels of this period It explores the place of fiction in constructing gender identity within society at large considering Madame Bovary Portrait of a Lady and The Woman in White The book continues with a consideration of the novel at the fin de siecle examining Dracula The Awakening and Heart of Darkness These fascinating essays illuminate the ways in which the conventions of realism were disrupted as much by anxieties surrounding colonialism decadence degeneration and the New Woman as by those new ideas about human psychology which heralded the advent of psychoanalysis The concepts which are crucial to the understanding of the literature and society of the nineteenth century are brilliantly explained and discussed in this essential volume The Antinomies of Realism Fredric Jameson,2015-03-10 The Antinomies of Realism is a history of the nineteenth century realist novel and its legacy told without a glimmer of nostalgia for artistic achievements that the movement of history makes it impossible to recreate The works of Zola Tolstoy P rez Gald s and George Eliot are in the most profound sense inimitable yet continue to dominate the novel form to this day Novels to emerge since struggle to reconcile the social conditions of their own creation with the history of this mode of writing the so called modernist novel is one attempted solution to this conflict as is the ever more impoverished variety of commercial narratives what today s book reviewers dub serious novels which are an attempt at the impossible endeavor to roll back the past Fredric Jameson examines the most influential theories of artistic and literary realism approaching the subject himself in terms of the social and historical preconditions for realism s emergence The realist novel combined an attention to the body and its states of feeling with a focus on the quest for individual realization within the confines of history In contemporary writing other forms of representation for which the term postmodern is too glib have become visible for example in the historical fiction of Hilary Mantel or the stylistic plurality of David Mitchell s novels Contemporary fiction is shown to be conducting startling experiments in the representation of new realities of a global social totality modern technological warfare and historical developments that although they saturate every corner of our lives only become apparent on rare occasions and by way of the strangest formal and artistic devices In a coda Jameson explains how realistic narratives survived the end of classical realism In effect he provides an argument for the serious study of popular fiction and mass culture that transcends lazy journalism and the easy platitudes of recent cultural studies The Nineteenth-Century Novel: Realisms Delia Correa

Sousa de,2013-05-13 The essays in this volume trace the experimentation of nineteenth century writers in advancing new modes of realist fiction while revitalizing the inheritance of the Gothic and the Romantic Focusing on some of the most popular novels of the century Northanger Abbey Jayne Eyre Dombey and Son Middlemarch Far from the Madding Crowd and Germinal this attractive volume explores some of the recurring themes in nineteenth century fiction aspiration and vocation social class sexual politics political reform colonialism and commerce This is an ideal introduction to some of the major fictional achievements of the first industrial era and to most of the crucial themes in nineteenth century fiction

Adventures in Realism Matthew Beaumont,2008-04-15 Adventures in Realism offers an accessible introduction to realism as it has evolved since the 19th century Though focused on literature and literary theory the significance of technology and the visual arts is also addressed Comprises 16 newly commissioned essays written by a distinguished group of contributors including Slavoj Zizek and Frederic Jameson Provides the historical cultural intellectual and literary contexts necessary to understand developments in realism Addresses the artistic mediums and technologies such as painting and film that have helped shape the way we perceive reality Explores literary and pictorial sub genres such as naturalism and socialist realism Includes a brief bibliography and suggestions for further reading at the end of each section Beginning Realism Steven

Earnshaw,2013-01-18 Realism is an essential concept in literary studies yet for a variety of reasons it has not received the attention and clarity it deserves often being dismissed as too slippery to be of use This accessible study remedies that failing for students and scholars of English Literature and Literary Theory alike plainly setting out what realism is the issues surrounding it and its role in other major literary modes such as modernism and postmodernism Beginning Realism gives detailed coverage of the nineteenth century realist novel through its focus on novels by Gaskell Eliot Trollope Dickens Mrs Oliphant Thackeray and Zola As well as discussing the novel the book also includes chapters on the use of realism in drama and poetry and a chapter on the language of realism another aspect often overlooked in analysis of the concept Menzel's

Realism Michael Fried,Adolph Menzel,2002 Adolf Menzel was one of the most important German artists of the 19th century yet he is scarcely known outside his native land In this study a leading art historian argues that Menzel deserves to be recognized not only as one of the greatest painters and draftsmen of his century but also as a master realist whose work engages profoundly with an extraordinary range of issues artistic scientific philosophical and socio political Michael Fried explores Menzel s large and fascinating oeuvre and in so doing seeks to make the artist s achievement accessible to a wide audience Levinas and Nineteenth-century Literature Donald R. Wehrs,David P. Haney,2009 Levinas and Nineteenth Century Literature presents nine essays that reread major British American and European nineteenth century literary texts in light of the post deconstruction ethical philosophy of Emmanuel Levinas The first section pursues in essays on Wordsworth Coleridge De Quincey and Baudelaire connections between Levinas s radical rethinking of subjectivity and Romantic generic aesthetic and conceptual innovation The second section explores how Levinas s analysis of totalizing thought may illuminate how Poe Emerson Hawthorne Douglass Susan Warner and Melville grapple with American experience and culture The third section considers the relevance of Levinas's work for reassessments of the realist novel through essays on Austen Dickens and George Eliot Essay authors are A C Goodson David P Haney E S Burt Alain Paul Toumayan N S Boone Lorna Wood Donald R Wehrs Melvyn New and Rachel Hollander Donald R Wehrs is Associate Professor of English at Auburn University David P Haney is Vice Provost for Undergraduate Education and Professor of English at Appalachian State University

Romanticism and Realism Charles Rosen, Henri Zerner, 1985 Traces the split during the early nineteenth century between avant garde and academic art examines the work of Caspar David Friedrich Thomas Bewick and Thomas Couture and discusses the impact of photography on art Russian Realisms Molly Brunson, 2016-09-10 One fall evening in 1880 Russian painter Ilya Repin welcomed an unexpected visitor to his home Lev Tolstoy The renowned realists talked for hours and Tolstoy turned his critical eye to the sketches in Repin's studio Tolstoy's criticisms would later prompt Repin to reflect on the question of creative expression and conclude that the path to artistic truth is relative dependent on the mode and medium of representation In this original study Molly Brunson traces many such paths that converged to form the tradition of nineteenth century Russian realism a tradition that spanned almost half a century from the youthful projects of the Natural School and the critical realism of the age of reform to the mature masterpieces of Tolstoy Fyodor Dostoevsky and the paintings of the Wanderers Repin chief among them By examining the classics of the tradition Brunson explores the emergence of multiple realisms from the gaps disruptions and doubts that accompany the self-conscious project of representing reality These manifestations of realism are united not by how they look or what they describe but by their shared awareness of the fraught yet critical task of representation By tracing the engagement of literature and painting with aesthetic debates on the sister arts Brunson argues for a conceptualization of realism that transcends artistic media Russian Realisms integrates the lesser known tradition of Russian painting with the familiar masterpieces of Russia's great novelists highlighting both the common ground in their struggles for artistic realism and their cultural autonomy and legitimacy This erudite study will appeal to scholars interested in Russian literature and art comparative literature art history and nineteenth century realist movements Novel Institutions Mary L. Realism After Modernism Devin Fore, 2012 The human figure made a spectacular return in visual art and literature in the 1920s Following modernism's withdrawal nonobjective painting gave way to realistic depictions of the body and experimental literary techniques were abandoned for novels with powerfully individuated characters But the celebrated return of the human in the interwar years was not as straightforward as it may seem In Realism after Modernism Devin Fore challenges the widely accepted view that this period represented a return to traditional realist representation and its humanist postulates Interwar realism he argues did not reinstate its nineteenth century predecessor but invoked realism as a strategy of mimicry that anticipates postmodernist pastiche Through close readings of a series of works by German artists and writers of the period Fore investigates five artistic devices that were central to interwar realism He analyzes Bauhaus polymath L szl Moholy Nagy s use of linear perspective three industrial novels riven by the conflict between the temporality of capital and that of labor Brecht s socialist realist plays which explore new dramaturgical principles for depicting a collective subject a memoir by Carl Einstein that oscillates between recollection and self erasure and the idiom of physiognomy in the photomontages of John Heartfield Fore s readings reveal that each of these rehumanized works in fact calls into question the very categories of the human upon which realist figuration is based Paradoxically even as the human seemed to make a triumphal return in the culture of the interwar period the definition of the human and the integrity of the body were becoming more tenuous than ever before Interwar realism did not hearken back to earlier artistic modes but posited new and unfamiliar syntaxes of aesthetic encounter revealing the emergence of a human subject quite unlike anything that had come before
